SEE ROOSEVELT MAKING BID AS A CONSERVATIVE

Youth Talk, Red Note Held Gestures.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—After getting nearly all the radical New Deal legislation he asked congress for, President Roosevelt now is affecting a conservative pose that is the talk of the town. According to Roosevelt partisans it's all just another demonstration of the President's political shrewdness.

The first move that attracted the attention of the politicians was the Roosevelt radio address to the young Democrats gathering in Milwaukee. In this speech the President defended the New Deal against the charge that it is socialism thinly veiled. He was at great pains to demonstrate that individualism still survives under the New Deal—not, of course, Mr. Hoover's "rugged individualism," but a sort of regulated individualism.

Protest Seen as Gesture.

Hard upon this Rooseveltian reassurance of the conservatively minded that the New Deal is not really so horrendous as they think came the presidential spanking of bolshevik Russia for tolerating on Russian soil the communist plottings to overthrow the American form of government by force.

Inasmuch as there was nothing new in these communist schemings to establish a proletarian dictatorship in the United States, the Republicans were quick to conclude that the President's note of protest was written for home consumption as further reassurance to those who are becoming more and more alarmed by the radical tendencies of the administration. The Republicans asked why the protest was so belated.

As a matter of fact, the President could not have failed to take the action he did without inviting taunts of camaraderie with the Moscow comrades. With Dictator Stalin sitting on the platform and leading the applause, the recent world congress of the Communist Internationale in Moscow heard American communists describe the activities organized to overthrow our form of goverment, though apparently this coup d'état is not to be sprung during the Roosevelt régime.

Reds Admire New Deal.

Communist delegates spoke admiringly of the New Deal, though Georgi Dimitroff, the Bulgarian communist, warned the comrades not to suppose from the resemblance of the New Deal to a dictatorship that the Roosevelt régime represents a bulwark against Fascism.

The President acted in accord with a reaction in this country to the Moscow performance no different from the reaction in Russia if President Roosevelt were to attend a world congress of a capitalist internationale and lead the applause of White Russian delegates detailing plans for the overthrow of the soviet government by force.

In the session of congress just ended most of the turmoil was occasioned by the radical innovations which Mr. Roosevelt asked it to write into law.

Won Most of Program.

In some shape the President got very nearly everything in the way of legislation that he sought, though he was compelled to compromise repeatedly and to accept half a loaf in preference to none at all. The concessions he was compelled to make are the measure of the faint-heartedness of his own party in support of the more radical aspects of the New Deal. Though he nominally commanded a 2 to 1 Democratic majority in both the house and senate, Mr. Roosevelt frequently found it like pulling back teeth to get what he wanted.

He essayed to break up the great fortunes by heavy inheritance taxes piled on estate taxes which would take 87 per cent of a fortune exceeding 10 million dollars. Upon the admission by his own internal revenue bureau that such a tax would disperse the Henry Ford and other large fortunes invested in American industry a majority of his own party deserted the President, rejected the inheritance tax, and gave him, instead, a moderate increase of estate taxes.

On the other hand, he achieved almost all that he asked for in the way of penalizing taxes on big corpora

MOSCOW DENIES BREAKING ANY PLOT PLEDGES

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Soviet Russia firmly "rejected" today the sharp American protest against violation of the pledge not to interfere in the internal affairs of the United States. Moscow denied it had violated the promise, which was given when recognition was extended in 1933.

Standing firm on the argument it has put forth on previous occasions the soviet government said it "cannot assume and has never assumed any obligation as regards the communist internationale."

The American protest note had referred specifically to recent activities of the "comintern" congress in charging violations of the noninterference promise. Speakers at the congress here, including several Americans, repeatedly referred to the United States and proposed action by which the communists could assume control.

Note Handed to Bullitt.

The answer to the American protest was contained in a note N. N. Krestinsky, undercommissar for foreign affairs, handed William C. Bullitt, the United States ambassador. He acted for Maxim Litvinov, commissar for foreign affairs, who is on vacation in Czechoslovakia. The note was written after two days of deliberation, during which newspapers here completely ignored the protest.

The embassy cabled the note to Washington and declined comment.

The statement in Bullitt's note charging "flagrant violation" of the soviet union's obligations "does not follow from the obligations assumed mutually by both parties," Krestinsky said, "in view of which I cannot accept your protest and am compelled to reject it."

Litvinov's Promise.

In his protest Sunday Bullitt specifically called attention to paragraph four of Litvinov's letter to President Roosevelt of Nov. 16, 1933, in which he said it would be the fixed policy of the soviet government not to permit activities in its territory aimed at the change by force of the political or social order of the United States.

The soviet stand in regard to the communist internationale is that it is an international organization having nothing to do with the soviet government. Paragraph four of Litvinov's letter was not meant, soviet sources said, to include the banishment of the internationale from Russian territory.

Krestinsky concluded by declaring the soviet government is striving for "further development of friendly cooperation" between the soviet union and the United States, which, he said, is of "great significance to the cause of general peace."

The Soviet Note.

The soviet note said:

"Your note of Aug. 25 contains no facts which could be regarded as a violation on the part of the soviet government of its obligations.

"On the other hand it is undoubtedly not unknown to the government of the United States that the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics cannot assume and has never assumed any obligations as regards the communist internationale.

"Thus the statement about a violation by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of its obligations contained in the note of Nov. 16, 1933, does not follow from the obligations assumed mutually by both parties, in view of which I cannot accept your protest and am compelled to reject it.

Asks More Coöperation.

"The government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, sincerely sharing the opinion of the United States government that strict mutual noninterference in internal affairs is the central prerequisite to the maintenance of friendly relations between our countries and consistently carrying out this policy in practice, declares that it strives toward the further development of friendly coöperation between the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States of America, which corresponds to the interests of the peoples of the

THE STUNT FLYER

WHISKY TRAPS SET FOR LOST MONKEYS; IT'S CANADIAN PLAN

Massapequa, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Straight bourbon whisky, in doses large enough to snap the kinks out of any monkey's tail, was substituted for bananas and peanuts tonight in Long Island's great monkey roundup.

To recover 16 of the more than 150 monkeys that escaped from a wild animal compound last week still missing, searchers poured bourbon into soup plates set out in the woods.

They hoped the fugitive monkeys would have a hilarious night and be sleepy all day—dead to the world—and easily caught.

L. C. Nicol, animal hunter attached to the compound, said the idea came from an unidentified man in Montreal, who told of the ease with which 18 escaped monkeys were captured in that city last month.

DOCTOR HANDS $1 TO ROBBERS AND SAVES BANK ROLL

Dr. Gerard Krost, 6900 Paxton avenue, lost his automobile and $1 to two armed bandits last night as he was getting out of his car in front of his home. First they demanded the keys to the car, which he handed to them. "Now we want your money," one said, and the doctor reached in a pocket and produced the $1 bill. The robbers drove away hastily. Dr. Krost told Woodlawn police he had a considerable sum of money in his wallet, but the pair made no attempt to search him.

Big Powers May Let Duce Take Ethiopia

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Premier Pierre Laval, coming out of his discreet seclusion today, had long talks with the Italian ambassador, Vittorio Cerruti, and the British ambassador, George Clerk. They discussed the Italian-Ethiopian situation.

Great secrecy was maintained as to what they said, but it was learned tonight that the Italians are extremely satisfied at the prospects of the league of nations council meeting on Sept. 4. They are now convinced that they can sweep things their own way and read Ethiopia out of the league with a detailed five point accusation of Ethiopia's unfitness to sit in an assembly of "civilized nations."

Lessens European Tension.

This new turn of events lessened the European tension, since the Italians apparently are getting Great Britain and France to take the attitude that an African war will be simply a "colonial expedition" and not a "war."

The real explanation of this shift in the diplomatic game is said to be the weakening of Great Britain. Downing street is said to feel it has not its own public behind it in going to the extreme length of applying sanctions [penalties for treaty violations] against Italy.

A powerful section of the British press has been for giving Italy a free hand, and reports of Britain's naval weakness in the Mediterranean as compared with Italy also have had an effect.

Leaves Emperor on Own.

The main hope of the British adversaries of Italy was that France would shoulder the burden and incur the odium of opposing Italy, but that hope has now been definitly abandoned.

The formula for the Geneva action, according to Paris informants tonight, will not be "isolate the aggressor," but the ancient European one, "localize the conflict." Under this formula Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia would be left to fight his battle alone.

[Other news of the Italian-Ethiopian situation, including a notable article on Ethiopia by Will Barber, will be found on page 4.]

LENIN'S 'EMBALMER' SAYS MUMMY MAY LAST FOR 100 YEARS

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The body of Nicolai Lenin, preserved by a method Russians have kept secret, may last 100 years, Prof. Boris Ilyich Zbarsky, one of the inventors of the process, said today. Prof. Zbarsky said the method had been successful beyond all early expectations.

The body was turned over to him and the co-inventor, Prof. Vladimir Petrovich Vorobeoff, immediately after the soviet leader's death in 1924. It was secretly treated and then placed in a red and black marble tomb in Red square.

The tomb has been closed most of this summer to be air conditioned. Prof. Zbarsky said the work probably would be finished Sept. 1 and it would be possible thereafter to keep the tomb open all day instead of one hour daily.

Prof. Zbarsky emphatically denied that the body is "stuffed." He said it was complete except for the heart and brain, which were removed. The brain is preserved at the Moscow Brain institute.

Hot Election; Bilbo vs. Long in Mississippi

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Hugh White, wealthy Columbia lumberman, and Paul Johnson, Hattiesburg attorney, were in a hot race tonight for the Democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi as returns from today's runoff primary came in. It is really a fight of Senator Theodore G. Bilbo against his neighbor, Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, who aspires to take this state into his fold. White is the Bilbo candidate and is the probable winner.

With 1,196 of 1,638 precincts reporting the vote was: Johnson, 100,562; White, 103,846. The count see-sawed throughout the evening, first one candidate then the other taking the lead.

The runoff primary, necessitated because none of the five candidates in the first one received a majority of all ballots cast, had been bitterly fought throughout and several instances of violence were reported today.

One Killed, Four Wounded.

At the Lorena voting booth north of Raleigh, B. E. Bruce, a county supervisor, was shot to death and four other men, including Bruce's father, were seriously wounded. Sherif Lester Keys of Smith county reported that the struggle grew out of an old family feud and was renewed when the combatants happened to meet at the polls.

Louisiana's vociferous senator was one of the principal issues in the campaign. White in his campaign declared that Long was seeking to dominate Mississippi as he was dominating Louisiana and urged that Mississippians keep Long out. He said Long's object was to control the Mississippi delegation to the next national Democratic convention.

Senator Bilbo talked himself into hoarseness denouncing the alleged attempt of the Louisianian to take over more of the southland.

Johnson Denies Long's Aid.

Johnson in his speeches denied that he had asked or received any help from Long. Nor, he added, did he need any assistance from outside his state.

"But if it's a choice of who'll be dictator, Long or Bilbo," he announced, "I'd rather have Long. We all know that Bilbo wants to dictate."

It was recalled during the campaign that Long had gone into Arkansas to assist Mrs. Hattie Caraway to election as United States senator and that his speeches were a heavy factor in her success.

$120,000 VICTIM SETS TRAP; GETS $10,000 IN BONDS

About $10,000 worth of non-negotiable bonds taken on July 22 in the $120,000 bond burglary of the offices of Andrew McAnsh, real estate broker at 130 North Wells street, were recovered last night with the arrest of George Kane, 35 years old, 113 West Ontario street, who said he was head of the Asociated Business Brokers, 828 North State street. Kane was arrested as he waited in a cab in front of the office of McAnsh, to whom he had offered to restore the bonds for $1,000, later cutting his price to $750 and then to $500.

McAnsh notified the police after he had agreed to meet Kane and Policemen Jerry Sullivan and Nicholas Disteldorf were on hand. At the detective bureau, Kane said he purchased the bonds for $400 a few days after the burglary from a man whose name and address he did not know.

Chief of Detectives Sullivan ordered Kane locked up for the night when he persisted in his statement that he did not know the seller.

NEWFOUNDLAND HURRICANE KILLS 40; MANY MISSING

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A hurricane which swept across Newfoundland over the weekend killed forty persons, available estimates tonight indicated. Reports reached land of more seamen drowned or missing after the terrific gale had visited this section.

Ships were sunk at sea or left drifting helplessly with their crews apparently swept to death. Seventeen men were listed as almost certainly dead, lost from schooners, or down with their craft. About twenty were believed to have been on four ships drifting off the coast with no sign of life aboard, and six more were on one schooner, still unreported.

The heaviest loss in men and ships was counted among Newfoundland's fleet. Five of a single family—all brothers—were reported to have perished with another Newfoundlander when the schooner Walter plunged to the bottom off Trepassey.

EASY MONEY FOR STREET PAVING; 38,000 NEW JOBS

Workers to Come Off Relief Rolls.

An allotment of $32,544,000 of Federal Works Progress administration funds for the resurfacing and improving of nearly 1,000 miles of streets in Chicago has been approved by President Roosevelt, it was disclosed yesterday. It is Chicago's first large slice of the 4 billion dollars appropriated by congress for the purpose of shifting persons from relief to made work. The money will be an outright grant to the city and need not be repaid.

Word that the President has approved the allotment was received by Ralph H. Burke, deputy administrator of WPA in Illinois, from Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator of WPA, Washington.

The street program will give employment to about 38,000 men for ten months.

Mayor Going to Washington.

Shortly before word of the allotment was made public, Mayor Kelly said that he is planning a trip to Washington in an effort to speed up Chicago projects calling for the expenditure of approximately $118,000,000 of federal money, in addition to the street improvement fund.

Among these projects, as outlined by the mayor, are a $40,000,000 sewer repair and improvement program, the island airport off Burnham park, filtration plants, a permanent lake front exposition, new bridges, police and fire stations, street lights, playgrounds and harbor improvements.

Mayor Kelly was hopeful that he would receive the entire 40 millions for sewer rehabilitation in the form of an outright gift. For the street improvement program, now sanctioned officially by the President, the city will contribute $5,090,000 to augment the federal grant.

Program in 130 Projects.

Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt said that it would probably take 30 days before men could be put to work on the streets. The program has been split into 130 work projects at the request of Washington officials.

Seventy projects will be carried out on asphalt streets, which will be improved with $15,600,000 of the federal fund and $2,575,000 of city money. Thirty projects will be started for the repair and rebuilding of brick pavements, using $11,026,000 of federal cash and city funds of $2,020,000. The thirty other projects will be the grading and surfacing of unimproved streets. This will cost the federal government $5,918,000 and the city $495,000.

WPA officials here said that 61 per cent of the federal money would be spent for labor and 39 per cent for materials. The city's $5,090,000 will pay overhead expenses, including the salaries of foremen and supervisors employed by the department of public works. Federal inspectors and engineers will join in directing the work to hold waste to a minimum, Deputy Administrator Burke said.

Mayor Sees More Speed.

Mayor Kelly, asked for comment on Washington dispatches to the effect that the President has deprived Secretary of the Interior Ickes of his powers over the spending of Public Works administration [PWA] money and has diverted Ickes powers to WPA under Hopkins, said that this development would probably hasten projects along, since the program would be under one man and red tape would be eliminated.

In appropriating the 4 billion dollars for the New Dealers to spend congress earmarked 900 millions for Ickes' PWA. The appropriation bill was so written, however, that President Roosevelt may divert 20 per cent of the 4 billions, or 800 millions, from any or all earmarked funds. Thus he has the power to cut Ickes' 900 millions to 100 millions.

PWA Deadline Changed.

Carl Bauer, PWA director in Illinois, said he had not received notification of any change in Washington except that the deadline for project applications has been moved from Sept. 16 to Sept. 12. Bauer said he has sent to Washington 231 applications, requiring PWA funds of $60,000,000. He declared that all further applications would have to be in his office by Sept. 7 so that he could act on them and send them to Washington.

Under the new PWA setup the government will grant 45 per cent of the cost of a project if the applicant provides 55 per cent in money or securities.

County Starts Paving Program.

The Cook county board will advertise for bids today on approximately one million dollars' worth of paving under a PWA allotment of $6,500,000 to the county approved in Washington last Saturday. These will be the first PWA contracts awarded in the county since congress passed the appropriation bill, according to C. M. Osborn, state PWA engineer.

The paving jobs, on which the bids will be opened by the county board on Sept. 5, are:

COLFAX AVENUE—95th street to Anthony avenue.

Contracts on the remainder of the county's paving program will be awarded at later intervals, depending on the progress of plans.

U. S. to Take Health Census.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Uncle Sam will start ringing 750,000 doorbells Oct. 15 to ask the family "How's your health?"

Some 6,000 white collar workers from relief rolls, directed by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings of the public health service, will put the question to obtain data on illness as a cause of lost work time and unemployment.

The survey will cost 3 million 450 thousand dollars allocated from the 5 billion dollar works fund. Cities in which it will be inaugurated include New York, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Birmingham, Ala.; Trenton, N. J.; St. Louis, Mo.; Richmond, Va., and Dallas, Tex.

LINER REX SAVES ALL ON SINKING AMERICAN YACHT

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Italian liner Rex today rescued the full complement of the 16 ton yacht La Dahama, owned by Albert R. G. Welsh of Philadelphia, Pa. The rescue was made 500 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland.

Italian Line officials here said Welsh was one of those rescued. Officials of the Rex notified their offices that the others rescued were a Capt. Larsen, Lais Martin, Sverre Larsen, and Harold Peterson. The home addresses of the other men were not made known. The rescued men were reported unharmed.

The La Dahama left Bermuda for Madeira on Aug. 18. A storm came up on Aug. 24 and for two days the vessel rode it out. Then its masts went down, the seas washed in and its auxiliary motor was put out of commission. It went adrift. Today the Rex crew sighted it. The yacht was sinking when the Rex sailed away. The survivors will reach New York Thursday.

'ALBERTA 'DOLE' PARTY TO REFORM ELECTION LAWS

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Something new in election laws has been promised the people of Alberta by William Aberhart, leader of the Social Credit party, which swept into power in the provincial election last week.

For the first time in Canada, electors will have the right to recall legislators who fail to live up to their preëlection promises. It is expected the act will provide that a recall plebiscite may be held if a certain percentage of the voters in a constituency favor it through a petition. If the plebiscite showed the majority of voters desired a new election it would be held.

Mayor Andrew Davison advised Aberhart today that unless the Alberta or federal government comes to the aid of the city of Calgary it will be forced to default.

Woman Flees Hospital, Abandoning Baby Son

The police last night were seeking a woman who slipped out of the Mother Cabrini hospital early in the evening, abandoning her 9 day old boy. When she entered the hospital a few hours before the child was born she gave her name as Mrs. Jennie Peters, 21 years old, and said she lived at 5410 West 23d place, Cicero. Her husband's name was William, she said. Police went to the Cicero avenue address, but learned that "Mr. and Mrs. Peters" were not known there.

O. F. Beyer Named to Relief Post Vacated by A. R. Lord

The appointment of O. F. Beyer as director of work and rehabilitation for the Illinois emergency relief commission was announced yesterday by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the IERC. Beyer, who has been director of commodity distribution for the commission for the last two years, will succeed A. R. Lord, who resigned recently to become assistant administrator of the Illinois federal works progress administration.

Vaudeville Aerialist Falls to Stage as 1,500 Watch

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—As 1,500 horrified members of the audience looked on, Louis Bossalina, 31, of Reading, Pa., a vaudeville aerialist, missed a flying trapeze late today and plunged 18 feet to the stage of the Palace theater. At Flower hospital he was said to have suffered a fractured pelvis and internal injuries. His condition was described as serious.

KICK BY HORSE KILLS BOY.

Injuries incurred Friday when he was kicked in the head by a horse caused the death at home yesterday of George Meier, 16 years old, who lived on a farm on Busse road south of Central road in Elk Grove township.

COSTS FORECAST U. S. DEBT OF 40 BILLIONS IN 1936

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—A 40 billion dollar national debt for the United States by July 1, 1936, was predicted today by Representative John Taber of New York, ranking Republican on the house appropriations committee, after a detailed analysis of the appropriations of the New Deal congresses thus far.

Taber's figures on the sums set aside for expenditures were corroborated by Chairman James P. Buchanan [Dem., Tex.] of the committee, although Buchanan refused to join publicly in Taber's conclusions.

"There seems to be nothing in sight but complete bankruptcy for the government," Taber said. "The record of this congress [first session] makes it the largest from the standpoint of peacetime appropriations for expenditure purposes. The expenditures are being made in the most wasteful, ignorant, and ridiculous manner. If the deficit for 1936 runs to 6 billions—and, frankly, today it looks as if it would—the national debt at the end of the next fiscal year will be 40 billion dollars."

Up 20 Billion in 4 Years.

Taber compiled tables of the receipts, expenditures, and other liabilities of the government extending back to the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1931. At that time the total national debt was 18 billions 600 million dollars. This rose to 23½ billions by June 30, 1933, when the Roosevelt administration had been in office four months. A still more startling upturn in expenses then began.

At the end of June, 93[illegible], the total debt had leaped to 27 billions, 639 millions, it was shown. In the next year the figure was 32½ billions and as of Aug. 15 of this year the total was 33 billions 255 millions.

"The increase in the public debt has not proceeded as rapidly as would be expected from an addition of the different deficits because the net debt cash balances in the treasury are taken into account as a result of the alleged profit on gold, estimated to be 3 billion 660 millions," Taber pointed out.

[illegible]ble of Appropriations.

Taber submitted a table showing the appropriations made by the different congresses, beginning with the third session of the 71st, which ran from Dec. 1, 1930, to March, 1931. It follows:

Seventy-first congress [third session]	$ 4,083,250,949
Seventy-second congress [first session]	4,627,440,936
Seventy-second congress [second session], Seventy-third congress [first session]	8,791,396,777
Seventy-third congress [second session]	11,534,376,618
Seventy-fourth congress [first session]	10,256,000,000

The second session of the 72d and first session of the 73d were combined, Taber explained, because the period in which the money appropriated is used is a comparable period with the periods covered by the other single session.

The last session of the 73d congress showed a larger figure because it included the stabilization fund appropriation and appropriations for the RFC, but for expenditure purposes the session just ended was the largest in history, Taber pointed out.

"It will be seen from the above table that there was considerable economy in expenditures, down to the time President Roosevelt came in with the first session of the 73d congress," Taber remarked.

"With his advent into power a program of riotous extravagance followed—a menace to the solvency of the government."

1932	570,000	1935	729,769

To this must be added, Taber said, about 21,500 for the first, second, and third class postmasters, making a total now in the government service of 751,269.

CLAIMS 'CELESTIAL INFERNO' PREVENTS TRIP BY MAN TO MOON

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Prof. E. V. Appleton, chairman of the British National Committee for Radio Telegraphy, advanced the theory today that in the upper atmosphere encompassing the earth there is a vast layer of intense heat hitherto unknown to science.

Appleton was quoted by the Daily Mail as asserting that this "celestial inferno" of a temperature of 1,000 degrees centigrade constitutes an impassable obstacle to the age old ambition of shooting a rocket with a human cargo to the moon.

The British scientist, who discussed his discoveries with members of the Royal society, said the disclosure of a fiery globe encasing band would upset the whole system of researches being carried out by radio short waves, as well as the possibility of harnessing micro waves for radio transmission.

He based his conclusions on calculations he made by sending wireless waves into the atmosphere 150 miles from the earth. There, he said, the waves struck what he called the ionosphere and were reflected back toward the earth.

BRITAIN CRUSHES REVOLT IN INDIA; 65 DIE, 67 HURT

SIMLA, India, Aug. 27.—With the help of airplanes, British troops have crushed a rebellion of the Mohmand tribes along the turbulent northwest frontier.

It was announced today that more than sixty tribesmen had been killed and forty-six wounded in action with British Indian forces in the wild, mountainous area of the Gandab valley. The Indian army casualties were recorded as five killed and twenty-one wounded.

The tribal force retreated into the hills, but its leaders are attempting to raise reinforcements. One of the tribes, however, is suing for peace. The tribal forces were incited by the fakir of Alzagar, Badshah Gul, and his father, the haji of Turangzai, both frontier firebrands, who have been giving the British trouble for years.

tions and more than he asked for in increased income taxes on millionaires.

"Rebels" Give In.

For months the Democrats were in a state of rebellion against the presidential decree of death for utility holding companies, which involved potential losses for millions of investors. Twice the President was defeated on this issue in the house, but eventually he obtained very nearly what he aimed at in a somewhat modified death sentence. To accomplish this he exerted every ounce of his vast political power and Vice President Garner read the riot act to the recalcitrant Democrats, warning them that repudiation of the President or this issue would spell party defeat next year, which would carry down scores of Democratic congressmen. They surrendered in sufficient number to pass the compromise.

Likewise, in the matter of extending and reinforcing the regimentation of agriculture, a two year battle over the AAA amendments ended in a compromise in which Mr. Roosevelt gained much and was compelled to yield much that he sought. At first there was great Democratic resistance to the extension of the powers of the Tennessee Valley Authority, one of the major New Deal experiments in collectivism, but in the end the administration won a substantial victory.

Wins on Guffey Bill.

For weeks the President was under fire for undertaking to put through the Guffey bill to regiment the soft coal industry. Even otherwise loyal Democrats found it hard to swallow a measure that the President had urged notwithstanding doubts of its constitutionality "however reasonable." Despite its inclusion in the President's list of bills that "must pass," Democratic leaders little expected its enactment. But eventually a fagged out congress in Washington's dog days wearily accepted the bill after striking out the exemption of the operators from the penalties of the anti-trust laws.

The President got his banking legislation, though in a considerably modified form compared with the virtual political dictatorship of the banking system at which he aimed. Congress rebelled against voting the President 4 billion 800 millions to expend on work relief in any manner he might choose, but it voted the fund eventually after earmarking its distribution. And on the great question whether the government should pay subsistence wages, as advocated by Mr. Roosevelt, or prevailing union wages, as demanded by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Roosevelt scored a virtual victory.

Security Bill Changed Little.

Of all the New Deal innovations the greatest is the social security act, providing for old age pensions and unemployment insurance, and this measure went through practically as it had been drafted by the President's social security commission.

On the veto of the immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus Mr. Roosevelt was upheld by a narrow margin in the senate, but all signs now point to the enactment of bonus legislation at the next session on the eve of the presidential election, either with or without the consent of the President. Majority Leader Robinson of the senate pledged consideration of the bill next January.

By making concessions the President got through the bill to bar recovery of losses on government bonds sustained as a result of the repeal of the gold payment clause and of the devaluation of the dollar. The compromise permits holders of such bonds to bring suit in the court of claims within the next 4 months for reimbursement for such losses. After expiration of that period the courts will be closed to such suits.

COMMUNISM VIEWED AS WORLD 'RELIGION' BY BRYN MAWR MAN

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Herbert A. Miller, sociologist of Bryn Mawr college, asserted tonight that Russia has resolved the conflicts of human relationships by substituting communism for religion and equality for nationality.

He predicted the world-wide spread of communism was "inevitable" unless the same problems were solved under other existing systems of government, and declared the soviets envisioned "an ultimate merging of all people into a common culture" with a wholly new and common language.

"In 1935 no aspect of the Russian revolution shows a more complete reversal than in the theory and practice of human relations, or one more significant for the rest of the world," Miller told members of the Institute of Human Relations, meeting here at Williams college under the auspices of the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

Referring to the old Greek Orthodox church, subsidized by the government, Miller said, "What has happened is that communism has been substituted and for the present gives the satisfaction of religion.

"The fact that formal religions have played no genuinely vital part in life explains the ease with which they were displaced."

LELAND HAYWARD LEADS IN RACE AT TULSA, OKLA.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Leland Hayward of Los Angeles, led the contestants in the Ruth Chatterton air Derby into Tulsa from Oklahoma City today to hold his lead in the flight to the national air races at Cleveland. The actress and the fliers landed at the city airport for an overnight stop.

Hayward scored 99.64 points on the 109 mile hop from Oklahoma City making his total points since the flight left Los Angeles, 664.03.

Mrs. Grace Prescott, San Francisco, held second place by following Hayward onto the field here. She scored 94.27 for the trip, making her total 619.42.

ARNOLD QUITS CONGRESS SEAT FOR NEW JOB

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Horner today received from W. W. Arnold of Robinson his resignation as a member of congress from the Twenty-third Illinois district, effective Sept. 16. Arnold will become a member of the board of tax appeals, a position to which he has been appointed by President Roosevelt.

Arnold's resignation increases to two the number of vacancies in the Illinois congressional delegation. Michael L. Igoe of Chicago resigned as congressman at large to become United States district attorney for northern Illinois.

The governor did not state whether he would call a special election to fill either vacancy. An election to fill the Igoe vacancy, it has been estimated, would cost $500,000.

BOYS' ESCAPES AT ST. CHARLES STIR PUBLIC CRITICISM

Sterner Supervision of Inmates Urged.

The system under which young lawbreakers are sentenced to the St. Charles School for Boys and then given ample opportunities to escape if they see fit [and so many of them do] was criticized yesterday by public officials and experts on crime.

Their comments followed disclosures made the previous day that the school administration is having a great deal of trouble, now that the corn in the surrounding fields is high. keeping its charges at home by a rule of sweetness and light. Perhaps, the officials suggested, it wouldn't be a bad idea to put bars on the windows.

McKinlay Comments on Situation.

"Something ought to be done to keep the boys from wandering away at will," said Acting Chief Justice Donald S. McKinlay of the Criminal court. "I am sure that the law under which they are sentenced to St. Charles was passed in the belief they would remain there. They were deprived of their freedom for a purpose and I assume they should be detained until formally released.

"The Criminal court has had trouble with the Juvenile court at times over the type of boys sent to the school. I do not believe the mingling of serious offenders and light offenders is wise."

R. W. Dvorak, assistant managing director of the Chicago Crime commission, asserted that bars ought to be put on the windows if that was the only way to lessen the number of escapes.

"Our records show," he added, "that the Juvenile court should be more careful in sentencing boys to this institution. There should be more attention to the age limit, and undoubtedly some of the inmates should have been sent, instead, to the Pontiac reformatory."

Allman Makes Sage Criticism.

Police Commissioner Allman made the terse summary that "boys bad enough to be sent to St. Charles are bad enough to be kept there."

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, took the position that severer restraints would change the entire nature of the school and that this was not advisable.

"St. Charles is not a prison," he said, "but a place for education and correction. With few exceptions, the boys sent there can be kept in with a minimum of restraint if their waking hours are occupied with properly guided activity. If St. Charles is made into a prison the purpose of the institution will be thwarted."

Boys as young as 10 and as old as 17 may be sent to the school, and under certain circumstances the older ones may be held there until they are 21. Unlike the other commentators, Mr. Moss did not believe, he said, that the wide range of inmates' ages was harmful to the younger boys.

Long Chain of Escapes.

Escapes have been recorded almost every week during the past ten years. On several occasions armed gangs have gone to the school and forcibly carried out incarcerated companions. At one time residents of Aurora and St. Charles appealed to state authorities in Springfield to halt the evasions and attacks that the fugitives have made on women.

William T. Harmon, managing officer, on Monday minimized the importance of the escapes. Most of the boys who flee, he said, are caught in a few days or return voluntarily. He upholds the theory that military and athletic activities are aiding in the reclamation of potential criminals.

Heiress Intercedes in Vain for Writer of Love Notes

PURCHASE VIRGINIA CLUB WITH 700 ACRES AS COLORED CENTER

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Purchase of the Croatian club which occupies 700 acres on the Atlantic ocean five miles south of Virginia Beach, as a recreational and educational center for colored people, was announced today by E. L. Cook, prominent in colored circles. It will be known as "The Atlantic Foundation, Inc.," and a charter was obtained today from the state corporation commission. Cook is named as president.

The club was purchased years ago by a number of leading Americans and diplomats of foreign countries. Among its members were Franklin D. Roosevelt, when he was assistant secretary of the navy; Gen. John J. Pershing, Senator Carter Glass; Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, and Rear Admiral W. S. Sims.

Cook says an effort will be made to have a college for colored people erected on the property and Gov. Peery will be asked to recommend to the legislature an appropriation for that purpose.

U.of C.GirlAsks Annulment of Sudden ImpulseWedding

Anna L. Burlingame, 21 years old, of Beloit, Wis., now a student at the University of Chicago, filed a bill in Circuit court yesterday asking annulment of her marriage to Curtis Shepard, 23 years old, a Beloit college student. In the bill filed by Attorney Raymond Kelner the girl said that she and Shepard were married in Rockford on Oct. 20, 1931, by a justice of the peace under assumed names. The bill asked annulment on the grounds that the marriage was on a sudden impulse, that they had no real intention of marrying and never lived together.

EARTHQUAKE AWAKENS ALASKANS.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A short, sharp earthquake awakened Anchorage residents at 3:20 a. m. today, but no damage was reported over this area this forenoon. A similar quake was felt last Friday morning at 12:07 a. m.

OAK PARK READY TO BROADCAST IN FACE OF PROTEST

Oak Park's police department announced yesterday that it would begin broadcasting immediately with its new two-way broadcasting station, despite protests made to the department and to the federal communications commission earlier in the day by Frank Rafferty, engineer in charge of the Chicago police department's $125,000 broadcasting system.

Vernon Watson, radio engineer for the Oak Park police, said the station would not broadcast while the Chicago station is on the air. The two stations have the same wave length. Rafferty, in his protest, pointed out that Chicago police have had the wave length, 1712 kilocycles, since Aug. 1, 1930.

"Our frequency was assigned by federal authorities," said James A. Howe, village president of Oak Park. "If there is any conflict, it must be settled by the communications commission."

DRIVER HELD FOR WOMAN'S DEATH IN LOOP ACCIDENT

Victim Hit Preparing to Board Street Car.

Arthur H. Stegman, 28 years old, 3145 Broadway, driver of an automobile which struck and fatally injured Mrs. Anna Stravinski, 49 years old, 3209 Lime street, was in custody at the detective bureau last night and the police announced that he would be charged with manslaughter.

Mrs. Stravinski was struck by the automobile as she was preparing to board a surface car at Madison and State streets early yesterday morning. Following the accident the injured woman was placed in a taxicab by Herman Bernsdorf, 38 years old, 1217 Wrightwood avenue, who was a passenger in the Stegman car, and was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where she died.

Two Freed on $25 Bonds.

Stegman, accompanied by a second companion, Morris Rice, 711 Waveland avenue, was seized by the police a block from the scene of the accident. Rice, according to Policeman James J. Stanton, boasted that he had political influence and that nothing would be done to him. He and Bernsdorf were charged with disorderly conduct and freed on $25 bonds.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Stravinski was opened yesterday afternoon, but was continued until tomorrow.

An unidentified man about 65 years old was struck by a car at Madison street and Kilpatrick avenue last night and was taken to the Garfield Park hospital with a fractured skull. It was feared he would die. The man, who was attempting to cross Madison street, was hit by a car driven by Henry Karasinski, 24 years old, 4856 Walton street, who was driving west. Witnesses said the man staggered into the path of the car. The victim is 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds. He has reddish hair and wore a gray felt hat, gray trousers, a white shirt and a white belt, and black shoes.

County Toll Passes 600.

Mrs. Stravinski's death and three others yesterday brought the death toll from automobiles in Cook county this year to 603. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 475 persons had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits this year, and 10,789 had been injured. The other deaths:

Miss Clara Kerr, 35 years old, 202 Clinton street, Elmhurst. Died in the Oak Park hospital of injuries incurred on Aug. 11 when the automobile in which she was riding, driven by Mrs. Esther Carlson, 420 Argyle avenue, Elmhurst, collided at 1840 North Harlem avenue, Elmwood Park, with the car of Miss Ruth King, 2606 Glenlake avenue.

Joseph De Santo, 53 years old, 1369 West Grand avenue. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Monday when he was struck at 1373 Grand avenue by an automobile driven by Nick Argenzar, 40, of 1471 Grand avenue.

John Conway, about 35 years old. Died in Alexian Brothers hospital after being struck by a truck in front of 2412 Lincoln avenue. Identification was based on a card found in one of his pockets indicating he was a member of the Street Repair Workers' union. The truck, property of the Koller Brewing company, was driven by John Stungis, 5626 South Turner avenue.

Boy Runaway Is Killed.

Byron Bisbee, 15 years old, who ran away from his home in Pekin, Ill., several days ago to see Chicago, was killed yesterday on Ogden avenue near Naperville when he fell from the back of a truck on which he was stealing a ride. State police found him lying unconscious in the road and took him to St. Charles hospital, Aurora, where he died. The truck driver, unaware of the accident, did not stop and his name was not learned.

Miles Shaw, 4543 North Kilpatrick avenue, was killed yesterday and three Chicago companions were injured when Shaw's automobile collided with a truck on U. S. highway 12 near Kalamazoo, Mich. The injured are Warren Miller, 4203 Monroe street; John McCray, 1521 North Park avenue, and Joseph Foster, 4800 Clarendon avenue. All of the men were employed in a Lansing automobile factory and were en route to Chicago.

Slower Lights Are Urged at Niles Center Death Corner

Trafic lights at the intersection of Crawford avenue and Dempster street in Niles Center change too rapidly, Deputy Coroner Edward Edelstein declared yesterday while presiding over an inquest into the death of Harry Schwall, 26 years old, 3854 Jerome avenue, who was killed at the intersection Aug. 2. Edelstein recommended to Charles Burkett, Niles Center street superintendent, that the green "Go" light be held longer and a yellow "Caution" light be substituted for the present one which is red and is often confused with the red "Stop" signal. Schwall's death was held accidental.

INJURIES IN FALL PROVE FATAL.

Mrs. Barbara Frohlich, 75 years old, 1947 West 59th street, died yesterday in the Evangelical hospital from injuries incurred in a fall at her home Aug. 10.

Hutchins and Professors Not in Court.

Two University of Chicago co-eds who were arrested last Friday with four colored men for picketing a transient relief shelter at 4949 Indiana avenue were freed of charges of disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly by Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green in Women's court yesterday. The girls—Margaret Hayward, 20 years old, 6032 Ingleside avenue, and Virginia Miller, 18 years old, 3802 North Kenneth avenue—gave aliases and false addresses when arrested and when arraigned in court on Monday.

Judge Green dismissed them without questioning Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, and three professors about the things that the young women had been taught. On Monday the judge ordered subpenas for Mr. Hutchins and the professors—Robert Morss Lovett, Frederick L. Schumann and Paul H. Douglas—but he dropped this phase of the investigation yesterday when the four did not appear in court. Bailiffs reported that they had been unable to serve the subpenas.

Attorney Represents University.

It was said later at the offices of the university that the subpenas were delivered in an envelope by an "unidentified man." The president's office communicated with Attorney James H. Douglas Jr., counsel for the university, and Mr. Douglas went to court.

The four colored men in the case—Tony Morton, Luther Watson, William Dixon and George Jones—were represented by two lawyers for the International Labor Defense. Attorney James E. Curry, executive secretary of the Chicago civil liberties committee, appeared as a spectator.

"Now, little girls, I'm going to discharge you," said Judge Green to the two co-eds. "You agreed that you wouldn't have anything more to do with these communists and labor defense people, didn't you?"

The red head of the Miller girl nodded with apparent reluctance, and the Hayward girl, her eyes downcast, also nodded.

Spanked? They Were Not.

"And were you spanked last night by your parents after I sent you home?" Judge Green continued with a playful smile.

"No," the young women answered.

"Well, you should have been," Judge Green concluded jovially, and the girls departed.

Judge Green then refused Attorney Max Naiman's plea for a reduction of bonds for the colored men, and set Sept. 4 as the date for their jury trial.

The picketing demonstration of last Friday was in protest against the shutting down of the transient station. It has since been closed.

ETHIOPIA'S NEW MONEY POLICY HITS FOREIGNERS

Government Abandons Peg of Silver Thaler.

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 27.—The difficulties of foreigners who are anxious to flee from Ethiopia before war starts were greatly increased today as the government acted anew to preserve its slender hoard of foreign currency.

The government knocked the silver thaler off its peg so the Bank of Ethiopia can compete with the Hindu and Arab money changers on the black bourse. Many people had been buying foreign currency from the bank at the rate of 13.50 thalers to the pound sterling, then walking up a muddy street a few yards and selling the foreign currency at the rate of 15 and even 16 thalers to the pound.

The banks were unable to continue to sell foreign money under such conditions and yesterday suspended all sales. This morning the government withdrew its support of the thaler.

Exchange Purchases Limited.

Hereafter, foreigners seeking foreign money must pay 16.50 thalers to the pound and, worse still, they will only be able to get enough for immediate traveling expenses, food and lodging. If they want to liquidate their businesses or sell out personal belongings, they will have to do so at the best rate they can get.

An official said the government's first care will continue to be to provide "refugees" with funds with which to depart. It will do that to the limit of its ability and hopes that today's move will help preserve the holdings of foreign money, the official said.

The next in line for consideration will be the Franco-Ethiopian railroad, which needs foreign money for the purchase of coal and other necessities to keep the line open. Since it is the only way out of Ethiopia, the railroad is in a position to demand the payment of fares in foreign cash.

What can be done for the needs of the other section of the population will be studied tomorrow.

40 Hindus Quit Ethiopia.

Forty Hindus left Addis Ababa today for Aden and India. The head of the Hindu colony, however, said most of the 3,000 Hindus in this country intend to stay, war or no war. This is their home and here their money is tied up in small or large businesses, so they are going to brave the situation.

They are not afraid of trouble with the Ethiopians, pointing out that the government has increased the number of policemen under the command of the strong man, Redjazmatch, or Maj. Gen. Baltche.

The government warned departing foreigners to make an inventory under the supervision of an Ethiopian official, or otherwise the government could not consider war loss claims valid. The foreign legations approved this action.

Colonial Troops Desert.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Reports of the desertion of several thousand Somali troops to the Ethiopian banner reached Addis Ababa today as Emperor Haile Selassie began quietly to pass out reserves of arms to his black warriors. The reports said the Somali troops had fled to Ethiopia and Italian authorities had demanded return of their rifles.

[Officials in Rome professed to have no knowledge of reports that 12,000 Italian Somalis had deserted to the standard of Emperor Haile Selassie or that an Italian military plane bearing and Ethiopian insignia was shot down over Ethiopian territory and that two Italian airmen were injured and imprisoned.]

Some of Haile Selassie's munitions were drawn from secret underground chambers built by Emperor Menelik II., uncle of Haile Selassie and victor over the Italians half a century ago.

The Ethiopian government, pressed by correspondents, at first refused but later granted permission to reporters, photographers, and motion picture men to accompany the emperor and general headquarters in the event of hostilities. The government ruled, however, that correspondents should not proceed to the actual firing lines.

A high authority said if Italy attempted to invade Ethiopia without declaring war, as Japan did in the case of Manchuria, Ethiopia would declare a war of defense.

MAY VICTORY BE OURS! MUSSOLINI TELLS HIS ARMY

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, Bolzano, Italy, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini said in a speech to a division of his soldiers today: "I wish your arms may always be blessed by victory."

The commander-in-chief also inspected new and hitherto secret Italian developments in arms, including a powerful machine gun, a mortar revolver, and also new developments in wireless communication.

Recalls Victorious Wars.

"I express to you my lively pleasure over your comportment," he said. "You carry a glorious name. It is written in indelible characters in the history of our victorious war. Be worthy in every particular when the country calls you to its banners. I wish your arms may always be blessed by victory."

Later he drove to another sector and told soldiers there: "You conducted yourselves admirably, as you should in the Fascist era."

Mussolini and King Victor Emmanuel met for the first time during the maneuvers this afternoon. Il Duce and the king, an old soldier, discussed the program at some length, standing apart from a small semi-circle of generals.

Inspects New Developments.

Congratulations were given by the dictator to military experts after he inspected the latest developments in arms. He saw a new Fiat machine gun with a reported greater power of fire and with new, easy changing parts. He saw a mortar revolver capable of throwing several scores of heavy bombs a minute. He was particularly struck by the development of telephone and radio communication.

Il Duce spent some time visiting the portable telephone exchange, which is drawn from place to place by a tractor. The exchange, an Italian invention, is used for the first time in these maneuvers.

Radio sets installed in tanks were demonstrated for the premier. He was particularly interested in the fact that the Italian cavalry now carries wireless equipment.

Another instrument exhibited to Mussolini is a radio instrument which makes possible communications through a light beam when wire communications are interrupted.

Cabinet Meets Today.

The maneuvers will be completed tomorrow in time to permit Il Duce to preside at an extraordinary cabinet session, the first to be held outside of Rome in 13 years.

Rumors were rife in government and semi-official circles tonight that history making decisions would be reached.

These sources said, for instance, that as a counter gesture to England's sending of her Mediterranean fleet to Suez canal waters, Mussolini would order the main Italian fleet to the same waters.

Thus, both fleets would be lined up, within touch of each other and with their eyes fixed on that channel which is vital to Italian interests in east Africa.

Another report was that the Red sea fleet, which Mussolini created and heads, would be augmented to patrol the other side of the Suez canal.

Officials believed Mussolini acquainted the king with his intentions in regard to the cabinet meeting tomorrow. The king and Il Duce seemed to be on excellent terms.

Ethiopia Ruled Under Feudal System as Was Europe 700 Years Ago; People Satisfied

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 1.—[By Mail.]—Any one who is tired of communism, socialism, the New Deal, Fascism, and all other isms of the 20th century and believes in letting a despot run the country might take a look at Ethiopia.

The only ism here is feudalism. Ethiopia politically is still at the point where the western world as we know it started 700 years or so ago. Old Europe's knights in noisy armor have their counterpart in Ethiopia's swarms of chieftains who pad along on ambling mules, preceded and followed by forty or more rifle bearers and as many servants carrying anything from an English umbrella to a bottle of French eau de cologne.

How the System Works.

The dukes who used to cause trouble for the kings of England, Germany, and France survive in the numerous rases, or kings, who owe direct allegiance and military service to the emperor, whose proper title is Negousa Negast, or king of kings. Under the rases are chieftains of varying importance, and lowest of all, barring the slaves, are the Ethiopian counterpart of old Europe's serfs and modern Mexico's peons.

Their state is lowly. Their life is not so hard as it is dull and bovine—working, eating, drinking, propagating, working again with an occasional fling at a big ecclesiastical festival. The serfs are free men, for they come and go as they like, but when they are working their fields they must pay a tithe to their immediate superior and to him they owe military service in time of war. In return they get protection from the chief and he gets protection from the ras, just as in medieval Europe the serf was protected by his master and the master was protected by an overlord, who owed allegiance to and got protection from the king.

"Why Change It?"

To a modern mind it sounds like a horrible state of affairs. Its best defense is, doubtless, the defense that those practical, pragmatic people the English put up whenever some one attacks one of their odd ways—"It works, and so long as it works why change it?"

Feudalism works in Ethiopia, for Ethiopia is still wholly an agricultural country. There is no such thing as industry here, once one excepts the making of baskets, cotton garments, spears of beaten iron, silver crosses for the priests and silver earpicks for the nobility. All those manufactures can be excepted, for they are not carried on in any organized way; the workman works at home for himself and takes his own wares to market, he fixes his own hours of labor and discusses prices directly with the purchaser.

Agriculture is almost as completely free from organization, for the vast majority of Ethiopians [barring those who pay tithes] work their farms for themselves and their families and keep herds of cattle primarily for their personal use and for sale without an intermediary.

Coffee Chief Export.

Coffee is the chief agricultural export, but its cultivation, except in the rich province of Harrar, is hardly to be called cultivation, as in most parts where coffee is grown it is let run wild. Hides and skins are next in importance, but there exist few, if any, large ranches for raising cattle and tanning hides. Huge herds there are, but their ownership is split among hundreds of small landholders.

Even transport, which has progressed not at all since man first slipped a noose over a horse's neck and then threw a burden on its back, is not organized as an industry. There are no companies of traders to bring raw goods to the cities and manufactured articles to the country. Transport is left to individuals and thus, like everything else in Ethiopia, is haphazard.

Since the people do wear clothes of a sort, it could be supposed that some kind of clothing industry existed. Not at all. If a woman wants a new skirt or her husband clamors for a new pair of breeches or a fancy chamma, she frequently does all the work herself. It is a common sight in Addis Ababa to see men and women twisting cotton into yarn and then stretching the yarn over primitive looms in their own front yard.

Import Japanese Cloth.

Much of the cotton cloth which is used almost exclusively for clothing of the wealthy and entirely for the middle class and poor, is now purchased abroad, chiefly in Japan, but there are no factories for turning the cloth into clothes. If a man's wife can't make him a pair of breeches—those tight-legged, baggy-seated things that look like a Frenchman's underwear—he goes to the market place, where a tailor, working in his own shop and exclusively for his own profit, knocks the cloth together.

American sewing machines are greatly in favor; they stand on the ground or on little platforms in the main market, while cows, mules, donkeys, horses, and people wander about, sometimes bumping into the marvelous machine or treading on the trailing end of the cloth.

So complete is the lack of industry that Ethiopia, now sadly in need of arms, cannot make its own except for sharp, wicked knives and soft iron spears.

Feudalism therefore is still a workable system in this agricultural country.

Disadvantages of System.

Chief disadvantage of the feudal system in Ethiopia, aside from the moral issue of setting up serfs and masters, is that very few of the taxes ever reach the imperial government. Most of the taxes fall into the hands of the various rases, as they used to in old Europe, and often go rather to pay for one man's luxurious living than for the general improvement of the masses.

In principle, a fixed share of the taxes is supposed to be sent to the imperial government, but men who have peeped into the treasury say that almost always the share is below what it should be. Another share of the taxes that reach the rases is supposed to be used for education and for the improvement and upkeep of roads; but little is, with the result that Ethiopia has practically no roads at all.

Still another disadvantage is that the poor man often is subjected to extortion by his immediate superior, the local chief. Instead of collecting a tenth of the man's crop the chief often takes much more, and it is difficult for the poor man to obtain redress.

But, taken all in all, the feudalism in Ethiopia works, and it will take many a year of contact with the western world to persuade the Ethiopians to give it up.

GARMENT TRADE CLERKS' STRIKE HITS NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Business in the garment district was seriously crippled today when 14,000 men and boys answered the strike call of the Ladies' Apparel Shipping Clerks' union and interrupted the movement of merchandise to and from hundreds of manufacturing and distributing establishments.

Refusal of truckmen to unload goods and of elevator operators to carry nonstriking employés added to the apparent effectiveness of the strike and the ensuing confusion. Coöperating in the walkout were the Teamsters' union and the Building Service Employés' union.

Shop Deliveries Stopped.

Deliveries to and from dress shops were stopped. Mountains of merchandise accumulated in front of buildings and flying squadrons of pickets were on the move in the streets, stopping the familiar delivery boys pushing their rolling hangers, on which play a prominent part in the distribution machinery of the district.

The demands of the strikers include a 35 hour five day week with time and a half for overtime, six legal holidays, equal distribution of work in the dull season, a closed shop and a minimum wage ranging from $23 to $40 a week as against the present alleged average wage of $15 a week.

Reject Union Officer.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor's new International Automobile Workers' union struck rough going today when a majority of the 276 delegates rejected the A. F. L.'s candidate for the presidency of the organization.

Ignoring an appeal by William Green, A. F. L. president, who took over the convention gavel in an effort to avert the break, the self-styled progressive faction mustered surprising strength in defeating a resolution to permit Green to appoint Francis J. Dillon provisional president. Dillon refused to comment, but Green said Dillon would serve in an "executive capacity."

Shipyards Strike Ends.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The fifteen week strike at the New York Shipbuilding corporation, which tied up $50,000,000 worth of navy work, was ended today. The company accepted President Roosevelt's arbitration plan and called 3,700 workers back to their jobs. The yards are doing some work for the U. S. navy. The strike began May 11.

Present Strike Demands.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Spurred by the city council's threat to establish a city owned transportation system, striking street car and bus operators today placed before Northern Indiana Railways, Inc., officials the conditions under which they would agree to return to work. They reiterated demands for appointment of a permanent arbitration board, recognition of their union, and reinstatement of an employé.

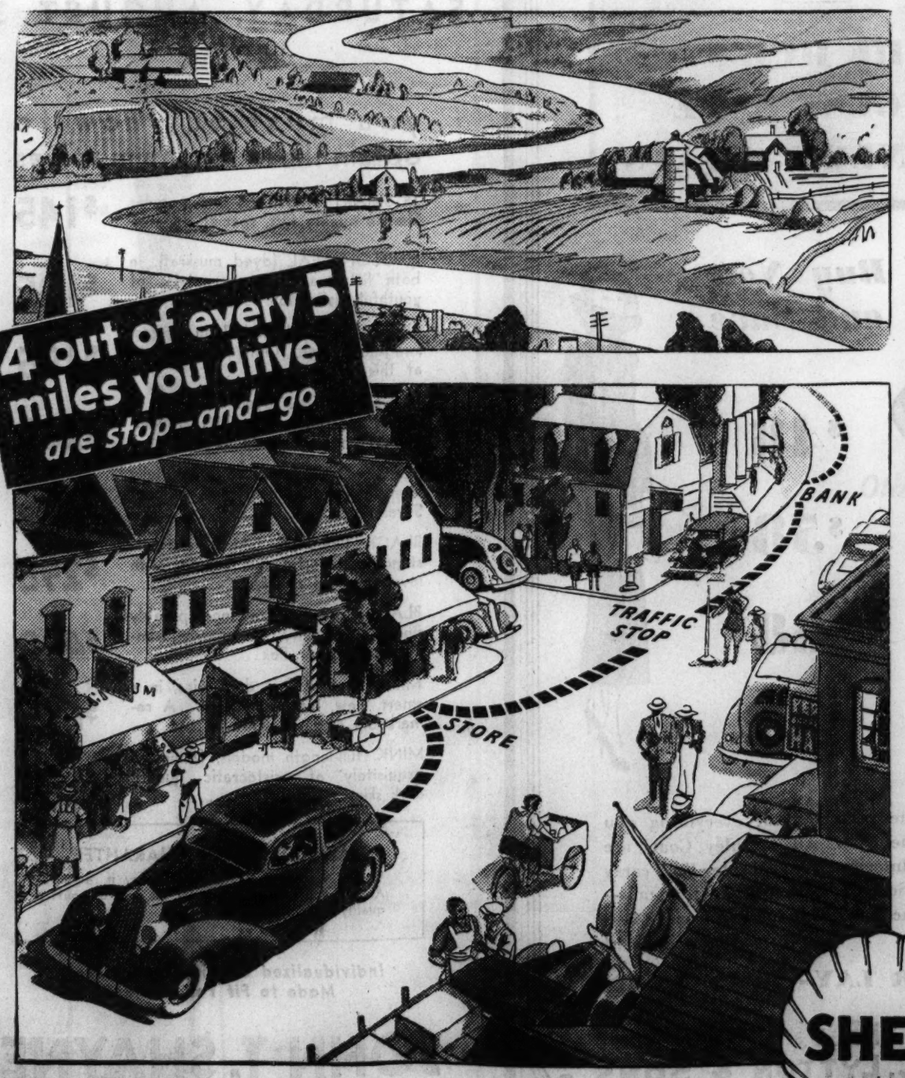
Stop-and-go driving eats up $4 out of every $5 that you spend for gasoline—



Today's starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money if your gasoline hasn't these Three Kinds of Power . . .

THE average motorist piles up 10,000 MILES a year . . . in short trips mostly. In one day alone, you often start your engine 10 times . . . shift gears 60 times. This constant "stop-and-go" burns up your gasoline.

To save money, you need a gasoline that's specially made for today's driving. It must have 3 Kinds of Power . . . power for QUICK STARTING . . . power for STEADY RUNNING and power for HARD PULLING. You want these 3 kinds of power in perfect balance.

SAVES GASOLINE IN 3 WAYS

STARTING—With its even volatility, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on a "cold" start—even in summer, your engine is "cold" when idle.

PULLING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or rapid accelerating, or hill climbing.

EXPORTERS HERE STUDY EFFECT OF NEUTRALITY LAW

Loss Depends on Definition of 'War Implements.'

Chicago exporters are waiting to learn the possible effect upon their business of the recent neutrality resolution adopted by congress under which an embargo is laid upon shipments of munitions and implements of war to nations engaged in war during the next six months.

The extent of the effect of the embargo upon American business will be determined by the interpretation placed by the state department on "implements of war." If this classification declared to include foodstuff and cotton for the feeding and clothing of soldiers, the American export business wil lbe effected directly, as the needs of the belligerents are diverted to other trade channels.

Exports from the United States to Italy in 1934 amounted to $64,906,799. The exports to Ethiopia were $522,154. The chief exports to Italy were machinery, cotton, wheat, hides, lard, bacon and meat. During the first five months of 1935 American exports to Italy were $27,758,281. On Feb. 19 Italy put a quota on imports, arbitrarily cutting down imports of machinery and many other products, exclusive of wheat and cotton.

"We are watching the situation closely and are very much concerned," said C. C. Coldren of the Quaker Oats company, director of the Export Managers' club of Chicago. "We have not thought that foodstuffs would be included in the embargo.

"Our trade with Italy is considerable and there is also some indirect trade with Ethiopia. An embargo might apply to such things as tractors, which could be converted into war machines."

Quota Cuts Tractor Trade.

Since Jan. 1, it was learned, there has been no tractor business with Italy, due to the new quota restrictions. The number of machines admitted into that country is limited by government permit. There have been recent large shipments, it is said, of automobile trucks and tires. A Cincinnati machine company has received an order for twenty-eight expensive lathes to be used in boring in the manufacture of shells and munitions. These are to go to the Fiat automobile company of Italy.

The meat and lard trade with Italy has been insignificant for several years. Current trade requirements, however, are no criterion of the exigencies of war, which might bring Ethiopia as well as Italy into the heavy buying class. The effect of the congressional decree cannot be estimated at this time but business men feel that it will become important within the next few months.

PRESIDENT PUTS SIGNATURE ON NEUTRALITY BILL

Congressmen Absent; Halt Ceremony.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A mandatory law embodying a policy intended to safeguard the United States against war received today the approval of President Roosevelt. The ceremony planned for that event was postponed to suit the convenience of members of congress.

Under a last minute compromise, the arms ban and a provision making it unlawful for American ships to carry arms or other war material to any port of belligerent countries or to a neutral port for trans-shipment to a belligerent would expire Feb. 29, 1936.

Provides for Licensing.

After that date, these provisions would remain in force:

A licensing system for the manufacture and export of arms and munitions under the supervision of a board of cabinet officers.

Discretionary authority for the President to restrict or close the territorial waters or ports of the United States to belligerent submarines, to prohibit American citizens from traveling on ships of warring nations, except at their own risk, unless in flight from a country at war, and to require bond of any vessel suspected to be about to carry men or supplies to a belligerent ship at sea.

During and since the world war, America's neutrality policy has been founded on an exclusively discretionary power in the executive, and the protective arm of the government extended to its citizens on the seas.

Recalls Submarine Days.

It was the constant sinking by German submarines of British and other ships carrying American passengers which finally led President Wilson to declare war and take sides with the allies.

En Route to Homes

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 27.—(AP)—More than 700 midshipmen were en route to their homes tonight for a month's leave with memories of a 12,000 mile cruise to European ports.

From the battleships Arkansas and Wyoming, anchored off Annapolis, 735 midshipmen of the first and third classes at the naval academy landed here today, checked in their cruise gear, and started for home.

SWEDES PROPOSE BIG EXPANSION OF AIR FORCE, ARMY

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Revamping of the Swedish defense system, including unification of command, expansion of the air force and army, and reduction of the navy with greater attention to light ships, was recommended today in the report of the commission of thirteen, completing a five year study.

A seven year program entailing the expenditure of 70,000,000 kroner (about $18,000,000) was recommended for building up the air force from 100 first line aircraft to 257, with a corresponding increase in personnel. A ten year program of navy modernization was suggested at a cost of 50,000,000 kroner.

The commission decided that battleships for defense purposes did not justify their cost, but recommended that the most recently built should be modernized against air attack.

The commission also urged that the conscription age limit be raised from 42 to 45 years.

The commission, whose report now must be considered by the government, said:

"The conclusions were reached after a careful study of the international situation and the economic and strategic position of Sweden."

BRITONS CENSOR U. S. WEEKLY FOR ROYALTY 'INSULT'

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Copies of the American magazine Time appeared on the news stands today with one page neatly torn out of every issue because of "offensive and insulting" references to the duke and duchess of Kent, son and daughter-in-law of the British king and queen, and other members of the royal family.

Subscribers received their copies from the United States intact, but news stand distributors decided—apparently without prompting from above—that the article should be censored. It referred to alleged intrigues by the former Ex-Princess Marina of Greece, to place her husband, the duke of Kent, on the throne of Greece, and spoke of her ability to "get around" her mother-in-law, Queen Mary.

"As usual, when such a thing happens and when such bad taste is displayed," the distributors explained today, "those responsible for circulating foreign magazines that come to this country tore out the offending article."

Mikado Cartoon Stirs New Row.

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Two Chinese daily newspapers here today reproduced the recent Vanity Fair cartoon lampooning Emperor Hirohito of Japan. The Japanese consul general protested to the Chinese consul general.

American authorities, it was learned, previously had informed Japanese Consul General Kenkichi Uchiyama that they were unable to prevent such publication under existing laws providing for freedom of the press.

Uchiyama wrote Chinese Consul General Ti Dunn that reproduction of the cartoon showed "lack of respect toward the emperor." The cartoon, which shows Emperor Hirohito pulling a cart containing the Nobel peace prize award, drew a protest from Japanese officials when it was published in the United States.

WIFE OF ETHIOPIA AIR LEADER RUNS CHICAGO GARAGE

While John C. Robinson, the colored Chicago transport pilot, is helping to build up the Ethiopian air forces, his wife manages their garage at 47 East 47th street. As she checked cars in and out of the garage yesterday she said she got most of her information about her husbands activities from the newspapers. "I had a letter from him last week," she said, "but it was mailed in June and contained no news except descriptions of the natives." Robinson is said to have met representatives of the Ethiopian government in Washington last May, at which time they sent him to Africa at their expense. Recent dispatches from Addis Ababa have described him as chief of the Ethiopian air forces.

Deny 2d Plea for Parade in Interests of Ethiopia

For a second time yesterday Police Commissioner James P. Allman declined to grant the joint conference for the defense of Ethiopia a permit to stage a "Hands Off Ethiopia" parade on Saturday. Commissioner Allman rejected the permit request last week on the grounds that the march might incite disorder and riots. After a delegation visited the commissioner yesterday and renewed its plea in vain, Dr. Arthur G. Falls, secretary of the conference, issued a statement condemning Allman for "exercising unwaranted censorship."

U. S. TRADE BODY LAWYER'S DEATH IS HELD SUICIDE

A verdict of suicide while temporarily despondent was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the death of John A. Thames, 39 years old, an attorney for the federal trade commission, who plunged to his death from a sixth floor room in the Commodore hotel, 5547 Kenmore avenue, early yesterday.

John J. Mulvey and Milford H. Clark, also attorneys for the commission, who were sent here with Thames from Washington, D. C., last May, testified Thames was talking with them in Clark's room. Without saying a word he suddenly walked into the bathroom, they said, and five minutes later they heard a clattering noise. Investigating, they found the window screen up and Thames lying in the areaway below.

Informed of her husband's death in Washington yesterday, Mrs. Thames said: "I am sure John did not commit suicide; we were looking forward to a happy reunion in a few weeks." She said she had been told in a telephone conversation with a mutual friend of the couple that Thames lost his balance and fell to his death accidentally.

2,000 ITALIANS FLEE WAR DUTY INTO JUGO-SLAVIA

MARIBOR, Jugo-Slavia, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Reports from Italian border points indicate that upwards of 2,000 Italian deserters have fled to Jugo-Slavia since Premier Mussolini's troop shipments to East Africa began.

The authorities at Ljubljana are planning to set up a concentration camp to handle the influx of men. Reports from there said 700 soldiers have reached the vicinity. Still others reached Maribor, Zagreb, and various towns of Crotia and Slovenia.

While a number of the fugitives reached Jugo-Slavia through Austria the majority apparently were coming across the Italo-Jugo-Slav border north of Fiume.

Invite Individual Labor Units to Join in Rally

Arthur F. Albert, chairman of the committee in charge of the Republican Labor day rally at Riverview park, announced yesterday that he had supplemented his invitation to the Chicago Federation of Labor with invitations to several affiliated organizations, urging them to join in the celebration. The additional organizations are the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employés; the Chicago Building Trades council, the Metal Trades council, the Painters' District council, the Printing Trades council, and the Teamsters' Joint council.

FIND FILIBUSTER STOPPED DIRECT PENSION GRANTS

But Cash for Security Setup Is Available.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was advised by congressional leaders and Comptroler General John R. McCarl this evening that the 4 billion dollar work relief fund could not be used for grants to states for old age assistance and other subventions contemplated by the social security bill. The conference was called in an effort to meet the problems created by the failure of the 103 million dollar third deficiency bill, killed by Huey Long's filibuster at the windup of congress last night.

The President and his advisers came to the conclusion that the administrative agencies provided for in the social security act, as well as the other agencies scheduled to receive appropriations in the deficiency bill, could be set up with money either from the work relief or other unexpended funds.

But No Direct Grants.

Grants in aid to states for old age assistance, the blind and dependent children, however, cannot be paid out of the work relief fund, because such activities would not create employment, the controler general and leaders of congress advised.

This restriction, it was concluded, would not apply to grants to states for the setting up of administrations for unemployment insurance and other activities contemplated by the social security bill, for this would provide jobs. These agencies will make a study of their needs in the four months before the next session of congress.

"Aside from grants to states under the social security program, everything will be pretty well taken care of," said Representative James P. Buchanan [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house appropriations committee.

Some Financing Sought.

Among the activities sought to be financed in the third deficiency bill were the national bituminous coal commission, proposed by the Guffey coal bill, $200,000; the national labor relations board, created by the Wagner labor disputes bill, $200,000; administration of the potato act under the AAA amendments, 5 millions; railroad retirement board, created under the new railway pensions act, $600,000; administration by the state department of the new neutrality act, $25,000; federal alcohol administration created by new legislation, $300,000; administration of Wheeler-Rayburn public utility act, $750,000 to the securities and exchange commission, and 1¼ millions to the federal power commission; bus and truck regulation by I. C. C., 1¼ millions; civil service commission, putting into effect 40 hour postal employés week, $548,000; federal trade commission food price investigation, $150,000.

Most Can Be Cared For.

Most of these activities, the conferees believed, could be carried out through the transfer of funds from unexpended balances in regular appropriations. For example, the regular appropriation for the labor department will take care of the Guffey coal bill administration and the regular appropriation for the I. C. C. will be adequate for bus and truck regulation.

The old national labor relations board left an unexpended balance of $200,000, and it was believed that this could be used by the new one. If not, the President could take the money from the 4 billion dollar works fund.

Security Appropriations.

The appropriations for the launching of the social security program, as carried in the ill-fated third deficiency bill, included:

Grants to states for old age assistance, $37,312,500; grants to states for unemployment insurance administration, 3 millions; grants to states for dependent children, $18,562,500; grants to states for aid of the blind, 2¼ millions; salaries and expenses of the social security board, 1 million; grants to states for maternal and child health service, 2 million 850 thousand; grants to states for crippled children, $2,137,500; grants to states for child welfare services, 1¼ millions.

These intended appropriations were for the fiscal year 1936.

"It is apparent that the filibuster will work a great hardship, but a study is being made with a view to proceeding wherever it is possible with a preparation for the administration of the social security, the railroad retirement law and other measures provided for in the deficiency bill," said Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader.

$20,000 BONDS FOR SHOOTING.

Bonds of $20,000 were fixed by Judge Justin F. McCarthy yesterday for Sam Jacobson, who admitted that he shot and seriously wounded Max Blitstein, 1230 South Homan avenue, in the tavern of Blitstein's brother, Morris, at 3148 Roosevelt road on Aug. 21.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Former Mayor James J. Walker of New York, who is undergoing a self-imposed exile in Europe, will not be prosecuted on income tax charges if he returns to the United States, the department of justice announced today. The department said his slate is clean so far as the government is concerned.

Unless New York state wishes to bring charges against the former mayor he is free to return from England should he wish to do so. Walker left America under fire of legal attack on his administration in connection with revelations growing out of the inquiry conducted by Samuel Seabury. Walker never was indicted.

The department of justice revealed that in a study by tax experts here and the United States attorney at New York sufficient evidence to justify prosecution for a criminal offense was not found.

YEAR FOR GIGOLO; WOMAN FREED ON HUSBAND'S PLEA

Judge Thomas A. Green in Women's court yesterday sentenced Mark Miller, 28 years old, 4530 North Malden avenue, to a year in the Bridewell on a statutory charge. He and Mrs. Corrine Slider, 30 years old, wife of Richard H. Slider, 41 years old, an army captain stationed at Detroit, were arrested in a police raid on Miller's apartment led by Capt. Slider. Because of the husband's intercession, Judge Green suspended a maximum fine of $200 and costs against Mrs. Slider and placed her on six months probation.

Capt. Slider told Judge Green his wife left him six months ago, but that he had been supporting her since.

"So you're supporting a gigolo?" the judge asked Mrs. Slider.

"Yes," she admitted.

CONGRESS GOES HOME TO REPAIR POLITICAL FENCE

Worried Members Blame Spoils "Failure."

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Weary Democratic congressmen headed toward home and political fence building today, with some of them frankly doubtful over prospects for success.

The dubious blamed their troubles on what they said was the Roosevelt administration's refusal to recognize the old political maxim: "To the victors belong the spoils."

Primarily concerned were house members, who contended that most of the political recognition granted to Capitol Hill had gone to senators.

Even Speaker Joseph W. Byrns conceded the situation was "not helpful." Representative Edward T. Taylor of Colorado, acting Democratic floor leader, charged many federal field employés now were out in congressional districts "trying to submarine members."

Frequent Source of Trouble.

The patronage problem—basically, the idea of awarding federal jobs to Democrats—had caused trouble frequently since congress convened last Jan. 3.

Twice the resentment of members reached a peak when major bills—the bonus and the utility bill—were to be voted upon.

In each case, however, the opportunity for members to put their objections on record in an indirect fashion eased the situation at least temporarily. But when congress adjourned it was about to reach the boiling point again.

The criticism of job seekers was not directed primarily at President Roosevelt but at Secretary of Interior Ickes and Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator. Members contended, and informed the President, that submission of a Democratic congressman's indorsement of an applicant to Ickes meant the job went to someone else.

Hopkins Stands Firm.

They applied the same description to their relations with Hopkins and several weeks ago went so far as to summon Hopkins to a secret meeting at a downtown hotel at which they were bluntly informed Hopkins was taking care of the jobs under his command.

The protesting congressmen felt that to be reëlected they needed support of federal workers in their districts. There are, they contended, some Republicans at work who spend part of their time belittling the Democratic congressmen.

The objectors agree they made little impression in their conferences with the President. One reason: They submitted to Mr. Roosevelt a list of Republican job holders. No. 1 on the list was R. Walton Moore, assistant secretary of state. Moore was born and reared an old line Virginia Democrat.

PUSH CONSTITUTION DAY PAGEANT PLANS DESPITE PARK DELAY

Julius H. Miner, director of the Chicago Constitution day committee, said yesterday that despite refusal of the Chicago park district to consider the application for Soldiers' field before next Tuesday he is going ahead rapidly with plans to make the occasion a spectacular, memorable event.

He announced that Isaac Van Grove, producer of a number of big outdoor spectacles such as "The Romance of a People," will direct the pageantry on Constitution day. Associated with him will be Leo Kopp, director of the Chicago City Opera orchestra.

"Mr. Kopp," said Director Miner, "is studying the field of early American music, seeking authentic material for the themes that will form the background of the historical pageants. He already has found a number of interesting pioneer melodies suitable for both accompaniment of the dramatic presentations and for separate rendition."

REPORT COLBY READY TO FORM A NEW PARTY

Ely, Friend of Al Smith, Might Head It.

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The New York Times in a special dispatch from Charles R. Michael, its correspondent, from Chicago says an independent Democratic party is to be formed by Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the Wilson administration, and supported by William R. Hearst.

The dispatch quotes an "authoritative" assertion by a "prominent citizen returning from the California home" of Hearst as carrying the threat of another party which would give protesting Democrats a haven without turning to the Republican party.

Invited Democrats to Meet.

Last May Colby said he had invited Democrats to meet, preferably in some southern city, to consider a new movement "above party."

The paper says the projected movement "has gained much headway and has gone beyond the discussion stages."

The informant was quoted as saying a conference of key men was about to be called and that definite plans would be announced probably in October.

Ely Might Head Ticket.

Former Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Lewis W. Douglas, former budget director of the Roosevelt administration, were reported under consideration to head the new party ticket.

Ely headed the fight for Alfred E. Smith in the convention that nominated Mr. Roosevelt. Douglas quit the budget post in disagreement over policies.

The party, the story says, may take the name "Constitutionalists" and would attempt to break the solid south.

ROOSEVELT BREAKS RECORDS SENDING IN NAMES FOR U. S. JOBS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt broke all nomination records during the session of congress just closed. Lewis W. Bailey, senate executive clerk, showed 14,998 names submitted and 14,926 confirmed. That was 5,000 more than the total for the two sessions of the first Roosevelt congress.

Of the 14,998 appointments, only 12 were rejected—all but one being postoffice nominees—25 were withdrawn by the White House before senate action and 35 were not acted on. Those 35 will remain in their present status until next session. Those named will draw pay until disposed of next winter.

The 35 included 32 postmasters and three other civilian nominations. The three civilians are Edwin R. Holmes of Mississippi to be federal judge of the fifth circuit, and Works Progress Administrators C. B. Treadway of Florida and E. W. S. Key for Oklahoma.

Army nominations led the list of confirmations with 6,709. The new law accelerating promotions brought in 4,000 in a block.

Postmasters were next with 5,054 confirmations. Other classes included: naval, 1,958; civilian other than postmasters, 641, and marine corps, 564.

Among nominees rejected were Rex E. Willard of Washington state, as regional director of the resettlement administration, and Peyton T. Anderson, as postmaster at Macon, Ga. Other postmaster appointments turned down included: George W. Carrier, Newcastle, Ind.

HOUSE INQUIRY OF HUEY LONG'S RULE EXPECTED

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—An investigation of Senator Huey P. Long's Louisiana "dictatorship" was reported tonight to be a major purpose of an inquiry voted by the house just before adjournment.

Authority for the investigation was said to have been granted by house administration leaders on promptings of Louisiana members opposed to Long.

The resolution slipped through without protest. Members considered it the routine resolution—adopted automatically every two years—providing for investigation of campaign expenditures by house candidates.

Power Is Extended.

But new language, reportedly inserted at the insistence of anti-Long members, was disclosed today to have extended the committee's power beyond customary limits.

Not only was it made certain the committee's authority would embrace the January election in Louisiana but the committee also was authorized to act "upon its own initiative and upon such information which in its judgment may be reasonable and reliable."

Some representatives said this would authorize the committee to determine whether Louisiana has a "republican form of government as guaranteed by the constitution."

May Visit State.

Should views expressed by some anti-Long members be adopted, a subcommittee may visit Louisiana soon to study the manner in which laws rushed through five day sessions of state legislatures have affected the election of representatives to the national house.

Another objective of the investigation discussed at the capitol would be an endeavor to prevent the Long organization from controling the naming of delegates to the 1936 Democratic convention.

CHIEF OF YOUNG G. O. P. INVITES ROOSEVELT TEST

At national Young Republican headquarters here he challenged the appeal made by the President for youth to revise the "old order."

"The issue of government domination of individuals is more important to young voters today than a possible destruction of the old order of things," Olmsted said in referring to President Roosevelt's radio address Saturday to the Young Democratic national meeting at Milwaukee.

"President Roosevelt spoke of the growing importance of government in the lives of our generation," Olmsted said.

"He advocated further government coöperation' with the individual. I believe the young people in this country are more interested in freedom, opportunity, honest government, and peace than they are in the New Deal type of coöperation.

"New Deal 'coöperation' rapidly is becoming government control and domination."

Action of Engineer Saves Lives of Boys in River

Sterling, Ill., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—A North Western railroad engineer today was credited with saving the lives of four boys whose sailboat had overturned in the Rock river. An engineer at the throttle of a passenger train saw the boys' plight and dropped off a message at Nelson, three miles distant. A telephone call brought motorboats to the rescue of Paul Sharp, William and Joseph Heaton, Joseph Kannally, and Junior Klocke.

Wadsworth Warehouse Man Killed by Train at Crossing

George Foster, 73 years old, of Wadsworth, in Lake county, was killed yesterday when struck by a Milwaukee road train at a grade crossing near his home. Foster, operator of a warehouse, had impaired hearing and apparently failed to see the crossing watchman who signaled him a warning. His widow, Mrs. Jessie Foster, survives.

KILLED BY LOGS.

Bend, Ore., Aug. 27.—(AP)—J. C. Turpin, 31, of Mount Vernon, Ill., was crushed to death yesterday between logs at the pine logging operations near Fox Butte.

RED ARMY LOSES WAR MANEUVERS TO BLUE TROOPS

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The "blue" New England army smashed victoriously almost to the permanent camp site of the "Red" New York-New Jersey troops today as the army concluded the military maneuvers of its greatest war games in a driving downpour of rain.

Secretary of War Dern, Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, the army commander, and Maj. Gen. George H. Simonds, deputy chief of staf, flying above the lines of combat saw the pursuit turn to a rout before the umpires signaled the end of five days' actual maneuvers in the field.

Although they lost in the final day's fighting, the New York and New Jersey troops had all the best of it. Driven back to their camp site, they had only a few thousand yards to march after the battle was over, while the "victorious" New Englanders had to plod the weary seven miles back to their camp site near Philadelphia in the hard rain.

Blow after blow by shock troops, tanks, mechanized cavalry and field artillery drove the outnumbered "Reds" back along their extended lines.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Sheriff Harry George said today that one of two prisoners who escaped last Jan. 5 and were later recaptured at Madison, Ill., confessed that they staged two robberies during their liberty.

RFC STANDS PAT ON PAPER MILL FINANCE PLANS

Press Freedom Protests Bring Defiance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—A veiled threat that the Reconstruction Finance corporation may finance extensive construction of paper mills despite protests that government control of paper supply threatens freedom of the press was voiced today by Jesse Jones, RFC chairman.

Jones, in defending the RFC's first loan for building of a paper mill, cited figures showing that 500,000 tons of pulp for kraft paper is imported annually. He also sought to pass the buck to congress on the controversial paper loans.

Up to Congress to Decide.

"Every governmental loan to industry competes with private capital, and it is for congress to determine how long it wishes such loans made, Jones said, in a formal statement on RFC cash supplied to the Crossett Lumber company of Alabama to make paper.

Jones recalled that the house of representatives on Jan. 29 rejected an amendment to the RFC extension bill which would have eliminated loans to paper mills. He inferred that this action gave the RFC a free hand to engage in financing of paper mills. He did not mention that he personally shepherded the RFC extension through congress in a form acceptable to himself.

Southerners Beat Attacks.

Southern congressmen, anxious to expand the infant paper industry in their region, defeated the amendment cited by Jones despite the efforts of representatives from Wisconsin, New York, and other paper states.

The application of the Crossett company is the only one received by the RFC thus far, Jones said, and added that the security behind the loan was worth 12 millions, whereas the loan itself was for only 3 million 850 thousand dollars. The company's previous earning record, including the last few years, assures its payment, he argued.

SWINDLE SUSPECTS PLEAD INNOCENT.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Edward Guest and Sam Menash, both of Chicago, offered not guilty pleas today to a charge of attempting to swindle C. B. Anholt, Forest Lake, of $2,000 in a diamond sale.

AGED HOUSE PORTER ILL: CONGRESSMEN ASK FOR BULLETINS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The illness of an aged colored man caused many members of congress to visit the house ways and means committee room before their departure from Washington.

Chairman Doughton [Dem., N. C.] of the committee came by as he was on his way to the train to ask Clarence Parker how Harry Parker, his father, was getting along. Vice President Garner and Speaker Byrns called on the telephone.

Harry Parker, born at Mount Vernon, the son of the man who for forty years guarded the tomb of Washington, has served as doorman and porter of the powerful house ways and means committee for 42 years. For five years before that he worked in the barber shop of the house.

"All great men in the congresses of the last half century have known and respected Harry Parker," Speaker Byrns said today. "Harry is a master of serving. He gets more pleasure out of pleasing than any man I have ever known."

Parker collapsed about two months ago while working in the committee room and is confined at his home.

LEGION SCORES 'RADICALISM' OF DEPAUW U. HEAD

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Indiana American Legionnaires scored Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, president of DePauw university, today for committing the school to what they termed "a program of radicalism and communistic activity."

Applause greeted the adoption by the state convention here of a resolution expressing "disapproval and condemnation" of Dr. Oxnam's activities. The Legionnaires directed that copies of the resolution be sent to trustees of the university.

Stockbridge, Mass., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Miss Laura Elizabeth Willcox, 24, daughter of Mrs. Harry Stanton of Stockbridge and Julian P. Willcox of California, was found dead in her home today. Gas was flowing from open jets of the kitchen range. She left a note: "Dear Bob: I hope this will not be too much of a shock." She formerly was associated with the Berkshire Playhouse Drama school and was divorced from James Sanberry, New York newspaper man.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The Illinois convention elected James B. Murphy of Bloomington as state commander of the American Legion tonight. Matthew Murphy of the Chicago Police post was elected senior vice commander. In each case the rival candidates withdrew when it appeared they were beaten and election was made unanimous.

Other Convention Action.

The delegates roared their approval to the report of the Americanism committee. That report advocated no leniency be shown to Grover Bergdoll, wartime slacker who fled to Germany to escape military duty. He has asked the government to let him reënter America.

Other resolutions adopted included:

Demand for the full payment of the veterans' bonus, leaving to congress the method of financing it.

Demand for deportation of unnaturalized aliens now on relief rolls.

Forbidding any one holding membership in an organization, advocating overthrow of state or national government, to belong to the Legion or the auxiliary. Any Legionnaire joining such an organization to be expelled.

Instructing the continuation of Americanization work and opposing any spreading of foreign doctrins among young Americans.

Belgrano Demands U. S. Safety.

Among the speakers of the day was Frank N. Belgrano of California, national commander, who said that there should be adequate national defense and a full bonus payment.

Mrs. W. G. Suthers, Chicago, was elected Illinois president of the American Legion auxiliary. Other officers are: First vice president, Mrs. Fenton Soliday, Wood River; second vice president, Mrs. A. A. Pantelis, Chicago; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Schlupp, Forest Park; historian, Mrs. George Heckenkamp, Quincy; chaplain, Mrs. Thomas Fogarty, Champaign.

KENTUCKY GUARD CHIEF OFFERS LIFE SACRIFICE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Adj. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt issued a statement here tonight offering to "sacrifice" his life for the sake of "decent government" in Harlan county and declaring he had not been a "fugitive from justice" since his indictment in Harlan Aug. 20.

The storm center of a fight over the Democratic gubernantorial nomination, the state national guard chief declared he had been publicly in Frankfort, Lexington and here since Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton of Harlan offered a $10 reward for him on the two indictments.

One charged criminal contempt of court in leading troops into the county to supervise the August primary. The other charged unlawful possession of ballot boxes. Gen. Denhardt posted a $10,000 bond for his appearance to answer the charges.

Deep Tones—The very latest development in necktie colorings. You'll see them at their best in the diagonal stripe rep silks among the smartest of our back-to-school ties. We've made the most of these new colorings using every conceivable combination, including a few that haven't been tried before. For something new and different, it's deep tone reps. $1.50.

Dark Colors—Such as seal brown, lovat (grey-green), and fog grey. These are the hat colors for fall—easy to wear. They'll pair off with practically any color. 2⅛ and 2-inch brims. Bound and welt edges. Ask for the Sefton Field and Ashley Field. $5.

Blue Oxford Shirts with 3-inch pointed collars or buttoned-down collar designed to give an easy rolling bulge between button and top. You'll fall short of being completely equipped if you're without blue oxfords and a few whites of the same design and collar styles. $2.

Signature* Handkerchiefs—Another way to recognize, if not hold on to your handkerchiefs, is to give us your signature, which we'll embroider in a color of your own choosing on one corner of the all-linen turn-back border handkerchiefs you select. The handkerchiefs, including the embroidered signature, are specially priced at 12 for $3.65.

Hand rolled hem handkerchiefs, $3.25 dozen. 29c each.

TRAVEL SEASON REACHES CLIMAX THIS WEEK-END

Throngs to Desert City on 3 Day Holiday.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Downtown Chicago will become virtually a deserted city over the coming week-end. By rail, by bus, by auto, by lake steamer, and by airplane hundreds of thousands of Chicagoans will pour out into the nearby vacationlands for a three day holiday. It promises to become a record breaking exodus, climaxing a record breaking summer travel season.

This year, for the first time in many years, the Chicago Federation of Labor will not officially celebrate Labor day. The Republicans are to hold a rally at Riverview park, but there will be few other major celebrations. Aside from the theaters and night clubs there will be little to draw the people to the downtown district. Last year and the year before it was different. Then A Century of Progress attracted two of its biggest crowds.

Effect of Five Day Week.

Another factor contributing to the back to the land movement is the five day week. Under the new arrangement Chicago, like New York and other metropolitan areas, is fast becoming a city of countryside weekenders.

Wisconsin always gets a heavy patronage on Labor day, and this year its share of the business will be unusually large. Railroad excursions leaving Friday night and Saturday will carry vacationists to such spots as the Dells, Lake Geneva, Door county, Minocqua, Eagle River, and Land o' Lakes.

There was a time when a trip to the north woods meant a real experience of roughing it—uncertain transportation, jolting buckboard rides over logging roads, and pitching camp in the wilderness. The lakes, the pines, and the woodland trails are still there, but fast rail service, air conditioned cars, and low fares have brought them within easier reach of the city dweller.

Hay Fever Victims Flee.

The lakes and woods of western Michigan, the sand dunes of northern Indiana, and the lakes and forest preserves of northern Illinois likewise will be thronged. With the hay fever season just commencing, the victims are starting for the dust-free areas of northern Minnesota and Michigan's upper peninsula. The new Dunes park between Waukegan and the Wisconsin state line is beginning to pack them in.

Railroads running eastward out of Chicago are offering reduced fares for five day trips over the holiday. The rate for the round trip is five-sixths of a regular one-way fare in the coaches, and one and one-third of the one-way fare in the Pullmans. Excursions to such points as Niagara Falls are included.

On the Great Lakes there will be Labor day cruises to Mackinac Island, Muskegon, Georgian Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Joseph, and Sturgeon Bay. Advance reservations indicate that these will do a near capacity business.

Meanwhile, though the tide has turned and the main flow of trafic is westward bound, Chicago is still sending a steady flow of travelers to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Hedley, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ham, and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bowles will sail today on the Majestic.

Artists Going to Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Berkson of the Shoreland hotel expect to leave the city Labor day for six weeks on the British Isles. They will take passage on the Normandie a week from today. Mr. and Mrs. David C. Holland will sail Saturday for a month's stay in Paris. Mrs. William Gilland and her daughter, Mrs. L. Lavachek, will leave the same day on the Rex and will remain throughout the winter at the Italian resorts. Miss Heather Engebert, also on the Rex, will attend the University of Rome.

In search of new themes and settings for their paintings, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bloomster will embark on the City of Baltimore today for Germany. On the same liner will be Mr. and Mrs. George P. Braum and Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller Keplinger.

Tadeusz and Casimir Lenard, setting sail today on the Washington, are going to Poland, where they will enter the University of Lwow.

MODES AMONG THE JAVANESE

WORLD CRUISE IN 85 DAYS

Jules Verne once intrigued the reading public with a fantastic story about a journey around the world in eighty days. Nowadays the traveling public is making the trip in approximately that length of time as a matter of course, and in some instances doing it for less than $1,000.

One of the major steamship lines this year is operating world cruises at a minimum price of $821, traveling first class throughout. The rail fare from the tourist's home town to California prior to the cruise, and then from New York back to the home town at the end of the trip, is included, but the Pullman berth and meals on the train are extra. The cost of the shore excursions is not included, but if the globe trotter wishes to get around in the shortest possible time—85 days—he will do each of the ports of call in one day, and thus be spared additional expense. The one exception is Singapore, where the liner lies over for three days.

If the tourist has more time at his disposal, he can take as long as two years for the trip, staying over at any ports that appeal to him and taking advantage of the numerous side excursions into the interior of Japan, China, India, Egypt, and Europe.

The cruises are designed especially for persons with fixed incomes. It is figured that such persons can close their homes for three months and, by eliminating their entertaining and other expenses, can actually save money by touring the world.

The liners leave weekly from Los Angeles and San Francisco. Hawaii, with its white beaches and green plantations, its warm welcome and fragrant flowers, is the first stop. The next is Japan, with its great bronze buddhas, its toy houses and toy farms, its cherry blossoms, and its snow covered Fujiyama. After that come stops at Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, Suez, Port Said, Naples, Genoa, and Marseilles.

Most of the cruise passengers go on the short land excursions such as those to Cairo and the Pyramids. Others go on the longer ones such as those to Delhi and the Taj Mahal at Agra.

Along the route of the cruise, and available to those wishing to take the time to visit them, are such fascinating places as Bali, Java, Siam, Borneo, Sumatra, and French Indo-China.

For the name of the steamship line operating these cruises, or any further information concerning them, call THE TRIBUNE Travel bureau, Superior 0100, local 707 or 734, or write the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

PILGRIMS FLOCK TO BERRY PATCH BY NUDIST CAMP

Rain Dampens Ardor Somewhat.

Long Valley, N. J., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—William Searles, the mountaineer farmer who has invited all to visit his place and gaze their fill at Dr. Stephen Rock's nudist colony on the other side of the berry patch, will appear in another court Thursday to defend himself against more charges.

The nudists don't want to press the charge of trespass (with his eyes), but Mr. Searles, who is a Republican, town constable, and member of the township board of education, insists there must be a trial of the charge before Recorder George McPeak at Hackettstown. Mr. McPeak dropped a trial scheduled for today.

Cuts Road to Fence.

At the same hour Searles plans to be in Netcong, where Dr. Rock proposed to demand of Magistrate Lewis Hyler that he be put under bond to keep the peace.

Searles has made it clear that what he wants to do is discourage the nudists. That is why he cut a road through his berry patch right up to the fence and welcomed 150 people for a free look. If the nudists put up a high board fence Searles proposes to erect an observation tower.

A little flock of pilgrims braved the rain to toil up the mountainside of the Searles' perpendicular farm today to see the nudists while farmer Bill was away on his court problems.

Laughter Disturbing.

The tinkling laughter of gay, carefree nudists disporting in the chill, late summer rain disturbed the pilgrims, muttering to themselves over ruined summer hats, muddied shoes, and snagged umbrellas.

Before pointing his car down the wriggling, rocky trail he had cautioned Mother Searles to be nice to all the visitors and, if they looked honest, to trust them with a pair of the family opera glasses, lined up on the parlor table.

MOSCOW SPURNS U. S. PROTEST ON PLOTS BY REDS

Claims Internationale No Kin to Government.

soviet union and the United States of America and which is of great significance to the general peace."

Previously the soviet had rejected verbal protests by the governments of Great Britain, Italy, and Latvia against speeches at the internationale congress.

Initiative for the next move apparently was up to Washington. It was pointed out that in Sunday's note of protest the statement was made that "the United States anticipates serious consequences" if the Soviet government is "unwilling or unable to take appropriate measures to prevent further acts" in disregard of its pledge to the United States.

John C. Wiley, counselor of the American embassy, has been transferred to Antwerp, it was disclosed today, and Charles E. Bohlen, third secretary of the embassy, will leave soon for Washington.

Soviet-U. S. Gap Seen Widening.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—The icy note of rejection, which was delivered today by the soviet government to the sharp American protest against the activities of communists in this country, was cabled by William C. Bullitt, American ambassador at Moscow, to the state department for study.

Secretary of State Hull is expected to comment upon the soviet action after a conference with President Roosevelt. While it is believed that a break in diplomatic relations is not a matter of immediate consideration, officials said the coolness of the soviet note by no means constituted a pouring of oil on troubled waters.

Break in Relations Seen.

It is expected that the rejection note will lead to a reduction of relations between the two countries to bare and necessary formalities, if not a complete severance of relations.

Protest was based upon official reports of the proceedings of the 7th congress of the third internationale. The administration was deeply concerned when one speaker urged the reelection of President Roosevelt on the grounds that his defeat might enable forces now opposing communism to deal it a body blow. Similar sentiments have been expressed by Reds in this country.

By flinging a protest at Russia almost as soon as the words were out of the speaker's mouth, the administration was seen as making a sharp political move.

HELD AS FORGER

LORD EDWARD MONTAGU.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Lord Edward Montagu, son of the duke of Manchester, was held for trial in Old Bailey today on a charge of forging the name of the wealthy Mrs. Violet van der Elst to a check for $35.

Montagu acted as Mrs. van der Elst's secretary and had access to her check books. Gerald Gurrin, famous handwriting expert, testified today that the signature was a clumsy forgery, being first traced with carbon paper and then inked over.

MUSEUM GETS BIRDS COLLECTED BY HENRY COALE

Part of the Henry Kelso Coale collection of birds, containing about 2,500 specimens of more than 1,000 different species, has just been received by the Field museum, it was announced yesterday. The collection consists largely of old world specimens.

Mr. Coale, whose home was in Highland Park and who died in 1926, had made ornithology a hobby for more than fifty years. One of his bird collections was acquired by the British museum in 1880. A second was acquired by the Field museum in 1900. The most recent collection numbered 11,000 specimens, half of which were birds from foreign lands. Half of the old world specimens went to the University of Michigan, and the other half was bought for the Field museum through the Emily Crane Chadbourne fund.

HITLER PAVES WAY FOR PACT WITH AUSTRIA

2 Nations Agree to Stop Attacks on Each Other.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Austria and Germany today came to their first understanding since Austrian born Adolf Hitler assumed power in Germany.

The Austrian minister of foreign affairs, Egon Berger-Waldenegg, and Reichsfuehrer Hitler's special delegate in Austria, Franz von Papen, agreed, according to an official communique, that the campaign waged in the press of each country against the other must stop. It was further agreed to take measures to reestablish normal relations between the two countries.

Von Papen was in Berlin over the week-end and it is assumed that he called on the Austrian foreign minister upon his return to Vienna with the knowledge and approval of Hitler.

Outlawry Revived.

Meanwhile the proposed new Nazi penal code, it was revealed today, provides for outlawry sentences as terrible as those meted out in the middle ages. Then outlawry constituted a declaration of war on an individual by the community for his defiance of the community's authority. His goods were forfeit, and every one was at liberty and even bound to kill him on sight.

Now under the Nazi law outlawry, which will be the heaviest sentence given for crimes against the nation, will mean both physical and moral death. The outlaw will be declared honorless, and he will lose his citizenship. His last will and testament will not be considered legal, and the state may confiscate his belongings. Such sentences may also be imposed on Germans living abroad.

Newspaper Men Expelled.

Another foreign newspaper man was expelled from the country today. After the official newspaper, Der Angriff, threatened reprisals for the expulsion from Rumania of the German newspaper man, Friedrich Weber, whom the Rumanians charged with interfering with local politics, Germans ordered Jancu Chitzes, a former Rumanian correspondent, to leave. Chitzes, who is Jewish, resigned as a reporter only last month.

The burgomaster of Wertheim-on-the-Main has ordered all the shopkeepers of the town to place posters in their shops reading, "Jews not wanted."

More Nazi Enemies Seized.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The activity with which the Nazi party is fighting adverse criticism was disclosed today in a report of the swiftly mounting toll of arrests of "state enemies."

Berlin newspapers generally avoid these accounts, but in provincial communities, without benefit of propaganda ministry watchmen and Nazi chieftains, journals daily issue "warnings to state enemies" and record the detention of persons accused of acts and words unfriendly to the party.

Assistant Pastor Marienfeld of Wielitzken was ordered to leave his parish because he allegedly declared: "One doesn't obey a bishop who offends against the Bible and the faith."

Gets 6 Months for Snub to Flag.

Wilhelm Nagel of Reinbek was sentenced to six months for failing to salute the Nazi flag.

In Stettin, a special court sentenced Franz Frobel of Bransorge to six months in prison because he spoke against the labor front "although he had the impudence to wear the Nazi insignia."

Friederich Stehl made "insulting" remarks about der Fuehrer and the cabinet and was sentenced to 15 months in jail.

CYCLE PATH PLAN PUSHED AHEAD AT LEADERS' PARLEY

Plans for cycle paths in Chicago parks and Cook county forest preserves, already well advanced, were discussed yesterday at a luncheon of interested authorities in the Chicago Bar association quarters at 160 North La Salle street.

The discussion largely concerned the problem of enabling cyclists safely to reach the trails that are to be reserved for them if present plans materialize. This must be accomplished without inconvenience to trafic on boulevards and other busy streets already overtaxed, it was pointed out by Warner Harwood, engineer for the county highway department, who called the meeting.

Harwood suggested designation of certain little used streets and roads leading to or through parks and forest preserves as ones on which cyclists might be given preference over motorists. Ald. William T. Murphy [17th] said he is working on a similar plan for city streets to be submitted to the city council.

Otto K. Jelinek, chief engineer for the Chicago park district, described plans to build 65 miles of bicycle paths, overpasses and underpasses for pedestrians.

H. P. John Hansen, secretary of the League of American Wheelmen, announced a campaign to educate cyclists in obedience to trafic rules.

NAZIS TO FORCE HEALTH SERVICE ON NEWLYWEDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Women must be led back to the home to become mothers, and compulsory health service must and will be introduced to guide young married couples in Germany's effort to further the healthiest elements in the country and rejuvenate the German population.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, made these declarations at the opening here today of the world population conference.

"Foreign countries have paid the most attention to our sterilization law," Frick said. "We Nazis consider this only as an emergency measure taken to avoid an acute, immediate danger. The basis for racial improvement must be found in thorough advice to those who are marrying."

Frick asserted that the increase in the German birth rate, which was 23.4 per cent in 1934, compared with 1933, is insufficient and he outlined remedial measures. Among these are marriage loans and for preferential treatment of taxpayers with big families.

Approved by Officials

The Chicago park district now has a one man bicycle squad. He is Policeman Tom Dunleavy, who pedals his Lincoln park beat nightly.

Capt. James U. Sammis, who originated the idea, said yesterday that it is successful and he expects to put more of the policemen on bicycles in the north division, which he commands. "Dunleavy is able to cover his beat thoroughly on his bicycle," said Sammis. "When he warns loiterers about moving on he can come back handily to see if they've obeyed orders."

Chief Michael C. Hayes of the park district police added his indorsement of the idea and said he was considering a request to the park board for bicycles for police in all the park areas.

ACTION TODAY ON WRIT SETTING BARBER PRICES

Superior Judge Peter H. Schwaba will hear arguments today on a motion to dissolve the injunction obtained from Superior Judge John P. McGoorty last April by the Master Barbers' association to fix prices for haircuts at 50 cents and shaves at 25 cents in Chicago's 4,000 shops.

The attack on the injunction follows contempt charges which were brought by the association against three barbers accused of violating the injunction by charging only 25 cents for haircuts and 15 cents for shaves. The barbers are Tony Borino, 3 South Jefferson street; Tony Cerami, 525 Madison street, and Angelo Nasello, 935 Madison street. Harvey Young, their attorney, in answer to the contempt proceedings, questioned the jurisdiction of the court and the right to fix prices. The association obtained the injunction on the premise that the courts had a right to fix prices to prevent "ruinous competition." Three barbers already have been fined for violating the injunction and notice of an appeal was filed attacking constitutionality of the injunction.

MAJ. EMIL FEY OF AUSTRIA INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Maj. Emil Fey, minister of the interior, received what were described as minor injuries tonight in an automobile accident near Vienna.

He was taken to the Vienna general hospital, however, leading to a belief his injuries may have been serious.

An official announcement said the chauffeur of Fey's car was blinded by the headlights of an approaching automobile and did not see a bicyclist ahead of him until he had nearly run the latter down. The chauffeur swerved to one side and the car ran into a tree, the announcement said.

The wife of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was recently killed in an automobile accident. He narrowly escaped death.

RABBI WISE CALLS UPON WORLD TO BANISH GERMANY

Charges Nazi Race Theory Fosters Wars.

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—(AP)—In a vigorous attack upon Nazi Germany before the World Zionist congress, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York said tonight:

"Germany, which banishes the Jew, must be banished by civilization."

The speech blasted persistent rumors that Dr. Wise would be barred from making any attacks upon the Nazis. After denouncing Germany as a breeder of "warfare against civilization," the New Yorker criticized German Jews who "were willing to abandon their national identity for the sake of emancipation."

Calls It World Question.

"The Zionist congress is a world tribune for all of Jewry from whence issues comfort for all afflicted Jews," Dr. Wise said. "We are not met to lament but to proclaim to the world decisions regarding ourselves in our status as a people.

"The Jewish people of Germany constitute a world Jewish question. If their tragedy were not discussed at this congress, it would have the effect of minimizing its gravity. The German Jews are in the front line trenches in Germany's warfare against civilization. We cannot forsake the Jews of Germany.

"Nazidom is fostering international wars as a result of its race theory.

"The Jews of Germany were mistaken in the past when they were willing to abandon their national identity for the sake of emancipation. If that identity had been preserved German Jewry would not have been threatened today with the loss of civic rights."

Assume Sanctity of Sabbath.

Harmony returned to the congress when a resolution assuring the sanctity of the Palestine's Sabbath was unanimously adopted. The resolution, proposed by Dr. Chayim Weizmann, president of the congress, satisfied the Mizrachi group, which had refused to participate in work of the congress without such an assurance.

Establishment of Jewish agency embassies throughout the world was urged by Rabbi Samuel Wohl of Cincinnati. He suggested that the embassies, which would be headed by members of the Jewish agency executive, would act in diplomatic, economic, and labor spheres of Palestine foreign relations. The Jewish agency is the governing council for Jewish Palestine.

St. Charles Teacher Hurt in Montana Ranch Mishap

George E. Thompson, superintendent of schools at St. Charles, received word yesterday that Miss Helen Grassley, for eight years instructor in French and English in the St. Charles High school, was critically injured Friday in a fall from a horse on a dude ranch at Choteau, Mont., where she was on a vacation. Miss Grassley's home is in Galesburg.

GREEN URGES U. S. TO BREAK OFF SOVIET RELATIONS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today the United States should follow up its protest to the soviet government over propaganda activities by withdrawing recognition of the soviet state.

"Labor is more convinced than ever," said Green, "that a serious mistake was made when recognition was extended to the soviet government. The action of the communist party, which is in control of the soviet government, justifies the belief that it will never cease engaging in propaganda designed to undermine democratic governments through the Third Internationale."

Another reason that men like B/Gs is that they are clean. At their clubs there isn't a doubt about cleanliness; it is accepted, without question. At B/Gs the same cleanliness exists and it also is accepted by them, without question.

ADJOURNED AT LAST.

The best news that could come out of Washington has come. The first session of the 74th congress has adjourned. The country, which has been marking time to learn what the worst would be, now knows it. For the present the Washington pandemonium has closed its doors and American business, consulting its lawyer, can begin to take stock.

In the manner of its closing congress was true to its deepest nature. While the members of the house of representatives sang songs which half justified the description of sacred and profane, many of the members being soused to the gills, the senate saw Huey Long throw monkey wrenches into a baker's dozen of the very bills which have been keeping congress sweltering through August. He talked the third deficiency bill to death. The senate had him down once, and although the senators had been appealing to his better nature, if any, they had to let him get up again.

Mr. Long had to talk only a little over five hours to kill these appropriations affecting the administration of the social security, potato control, Guffey coal, alcohol control, utility, and other acts which had been "must" in the Roosevelt program. Mr. Roosevelt has his acts, but where he's going to get the money to work them between now and January is something for Washington to think about.

It was quite fitting that in this tomfool fashion the first session of the crazy 74th congress should come to an end. It was so crazy that even the men introducing bills didn't know what they contained when they became laws, and frequently the most astonished person in the halls was the fellow who was of record as the legislative daddy of the act. The statesmen who wound up the session popeyed in their cups really didn't add anything to the insobriety of the session.

Now come the janitors, and following them the lawyers. The next steps, of necessity slow ones, will be in the courts, where what the New Deal has put into law will be taken apart and examined for its constitutionality. Upon these results the political issues will be shaped.

In the crazy session congress followed the instructions given it by Mr. Roosevelt not to allow doubts of constitutionality, however reasonable, to interfere with the enactment of laws he wanted. This was the chief characteristic of a legislative body which made itself as nearly a Hitler parliamentary assemblage as it possibly could. Its predecessor, the 73d congress, at least had the excuse when it began work in March, 1933, of a national emergency which had men puzzled and alarmed. Its machine gun fire of laws was directed at a panic. Many of them were foolish laws, but they were emergency laws. They had definite dates of expiration. They covered specified periods and if dangerous in themselves were advocated as the lesser of two evils. When they had corrected, as they were supposed to correct, the greater one they would then automatically disappear from the life of the nation. Government would not be based on them and they were not to confer authority for normal times.

The present congress shifted from the emergency justification to the revolutionary base. Its acts were to be a permanent part of the American governmental structure. They were permanently to change the relations of the people to the government and to establish different kinds of power. The distinction touches the essence of the recent work in Washington. Congress became in effect a board of registry. It received laws written by the executive and entered them on its records. In a process of this sort the next step is an abolition of the legislative branch. That step has been taken in Germany and in other European countries in which dictatorship has supplanted both constitutional monarchy and representative democracy. Congress prepared for it here and if the revolution is to go ahead the occasions for congressional sessions will be infrequent and the need negligible. Of course, we don't think the American people are going to permit any such development, but congress has been of no aid to them in maintaining their institutions.

There were independent men in the halls who did their best to stave off the worst features of the worst bills, and in some measure they succeeded. The Republicans were in no position to do more than protest. Fortunately there was a Democratic opposition which could not be ignored, coming from such men as Glass, Byrd, and Tydings. They left their mark on some of the New Deal legislation, particularly in taxes and finance.

In general the social planners were able to push further into the field of socialism and collectivism. Their spearhead is the TVA, which they were able to endow with new powers fatal to the private enterprises with which this governmental corporation is in conflict. They did not get all they wanted for the agricultural administration, but they did what they could to tighten up the controls of Mr. Wallace and Mr. Tugwell.

The drive was toward the socialized state, what the planners call the collectivized democracy. The advance was ragged. It went deeper in some spots than others. The collectivists pushed their advantages as far as they could, gathered up their gains, and are prepared for a further push.

They hope to destroy the republic during the next six years.

CASE HISTORIES.

Edward Ryder appeared several years ago in the Municipal court on a charge of grand larceny and was released on probation. The name of the judge who released him does not appear on the record, but before granting probation he must have reduced the charge to a misdemeanor, since the Municipal court cannot dispose of cases of grand larceny, a felony.

While he was on probation Ryder was convicted of assault and battery and fined, but no steps were taken to revoke his probation. In 1933 he committed a burglary and was convicted of grand larceny in the Criminal court. That time Judge Harry A. Lewis released him on probation.

Daniel Slattery was convicted of stealing an automobile in 1927 and was granted probation. Again the name of the judge who freed him is missing from the records. While he was still on probation Slattery was convicted of driving while intoxicated, but again nothing was done to revoke his probation.

Last Friday morning Ryder and Slattery, with three companions, at least two of them ex-convicts, went out to rob a golf club. A 69 year old watchman, William Barry, attempted to defend the place. The leader of the gang said, "Don't shoot the old man, but beat him up good." Barry died of the beating a few hours later.

Once more the probation system, as it is administered in Illinois, appears as the handmaiden of crime. It is the most effective liaison agent in the alliance between politicians and the underworld.

GO IT, COLLEGE; GO IT, BEAR.

College and professional football will give their games another test tomorrow night, the Chicago Bears meeting the All-Star collegians in the second game arranged by the sports department of THE TRIBUNE. The collegians are players selected from all regions of the country by balloting conducted by many newspapers. They are graduates who played last fall. Their coaches, also selected by popular vote, have the task of bringing team work to players of individual brilliance. This was so well done last year that the game ended in a scoreless tie, somewhat of a shock to the professional game fans.

There may be another shock in the game tomorrow night. Whether there is or not, there will be great football. The Bears can't be stopped. Neither can the collegians. When two unstoppable teams stop each other the stopping is epochal. THE TRIBUNE sports department again offers the achievement of the impossible, which always, when offered, is something to put on the list for the day. See you at Soldiers' field. We'll be the three fellows in the straw hats.

JAPANESE SUN SPOTS.

An American ship was held in Japanese waters recently while the police searched for two American boys suspected of taking snapshots in a prohibited area near a fortress. Some time ago American aviators were in trouble for flying where they shouldn't. Although the Japanese fleet maneuvers naturally take the Philippines into consideration, Japanese public opinion was aroused by the American fleet and air maneuvers in the Pacific. Offense was taken at a magazine cartoon and a skit on the west coast having to do with the emperor.

There is a good deal back of the conjecture that the militarists of Japan cultivate a notion of American unfriendliness for their own purposes, giving importance to incidents of which people striving for peaceable relations would make as little as possible. The intentions of the generals may lie in a different direction. They may use the United States only to strengthen their hand by keeping the Japanese distrustful, but a general background of suspicion and exasperation will be hurtful if the two countries ever have to reconcile some more serious conflict of interests.

Editorial of the Day

[Battle Creek, Mich., Enquirer and News.]

The story of the man who wouldn't raise five hundred pigs and who sought financial counsel about borrowing money to engage more largely on a program of not raising pigs is by now something of a classic.

The profit of the man who didn't raise cotton has been in evidence sufficiently that more men have not raised more cotton.

And so on.

But the man who has gone into not raising things in the biggest and most profitable way seems to have been Gov. Davey of Ohio.

He went down to Washington the other day with plans for not raising a special congressional election this summer, and he came away with twenty million dollars of award for his state from the President's four billion eight hundred million fund.

This seems to set a record.

Of course, it could be explained as a coincidence, but it is an interesting coincidence at that.

Rhode Island has just had a special congressional election and its results were rather sensational. Also disquieting to Washington. Ohio has a congressional vacancy just as Rhode Island had, with the difference, however, that Ohio's vacancy applies to congressmen at large and the election would take in the whole state of Ohio. An election at this time would, therefore, be a referendum on what's been happening at Washington. The governor has to call the election if it is called.

That's one side of the matter. The other side is that the distribution of the new public works fund by the President, through the department of Secretary Ickes, has been rather slow. But when Gov. Davey got down there the other day they met him at the door—or at any rate so the Enquirer and News Washington reviewer says—and notified him of an allotment of 20 millions. This classified Gov. Davey as one of the best bacon bringers home in the history of Ohio.

And now it is decided—in fact it was decided almost at that moment—that Ohio shall not have an election to fill her congressional vacancy until the time of the regular national election in 1936.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may.

CHARITY ATHLETICS.

NET profits from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S sports promotions are donated to charity. Yet they are not "charity shows," nor are they offered as such, in the sense in which that term so often is used. All-American football games and Golden Gloves boxing bouts, principal revenue producers, are offered strictly on their merits at popular admission prices, prices actually lower than could be secured if the purpose were to charge all the traffic would bear.

Some persons may wonder, some occasionally ask, why THE TRIBUNE sports department conducts such shows, whether such promoting is strictly within its province. The answer, to our notion, is that THE TRIBUNE originates events interesting to the public which otherwise would not be held. Only once did our sports department step into an established field, when it sponsored the Londos-Lewis wrestling match at Wrigley field. There were especial reasons at that time, too involved to explain here.

All-American collegians vs. Bears football game, Golden Gloves boxing bouts, both intercity and national, and the first All-Stars baseball game, now officially taken over by the major leagues, were from ideas originating within Tribune Tower. They were successful because they were answers to popular demand, successful beyond even original dreams of their sponsors.

Why are not higher prices charged and more net profits thus realized for charity? Seats for tomorrow night's game at Soldiers' field probably would have sold just as quickly at $4.40 as at the $2.20 top charged—the 26,000 top price locations were exhausted several weeks ago. Top of $5.50 probably could be secured just as easily as $3.30 for Golden Gloves' ringside locations.

Strange as it may seem in an athletic promotion, the sports department's desire is to give John Public a break for once, not to determine attendance by size of pocketbooks. Because of exceptional management there are profits. Naturally THE TRIBUNE does not wish to keep those profits. So they are donated to charity. Charity assumes no risk. If there should be a loss, which was possible before these events established their merit and attractiveness, it would have been borne by THE TRIBUNE. Therefore charity is on "velvet" from the start, as they say in sports parlance.

Golden Gloves bouts have been adopted by other cities after their success was proved by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York News. The All-American football game, in some guise, probably will be attempted elsewhere. To that there can be no objection.

Spectators at Soldiers' field tomorrow night see the greatest football players in the country, both collegiate and professional, at admission charges of $1.10, $1.65, and $2.20, less than private promoters could afford to charge, and know in addition that all profits after expenses will be divided between the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish charities of Chicago.

PARESIS OR DEMENTIA.

DEMENTIA PARALYTICA or paresis is one of the most distressing disease manifestations known to science, and it is with reluctance that we yield to a large number of requests and append a brief description of the condition.

The disease must not be confused with the type of dementia that sometimes occurs in old people who may have burned life's candle at both ends and who sometimes fail in mind before they fail in body. With these persons we would wish that, like the "one hoss shay," mind and body might crash together.

But paresis is different. It is not an old age disease but one that begins usually between 40 and 50, and strangely enough more frequently attacks those who have received a high degree of mental training. One distinguished European authority says, "It is a disease of civilization and syphilization."

In the early stages the onset is insidious; in fact, it may be so gradual as scarcely to be recognized. Occasionally the patient is cataloged as a nervous individual, suffering from some functional disorder, and it is only when unmistakable symptoms appear that the diagnosis of paresis dawns upon the examining physician.

In order to understand the symptoms, we must recall that the word dementia as herein used is not synonymous with insanity. It signifies the slow destruction of a mind that was once alert and keen. There is a gradual failing of mental faculties; an enfeeblement of the powers of thought. Judgment is lost, although there may be sporadic intervals in which a considerable amount of shrewdness is exhibited. The critical faculties are dulled, and there may be small lapses of social proprieties. At about this stage in the progress of the disease the patient may begin to show extravagances in the use of money. He behaves as though he were possessed of inexhaustible funds.

No one can tell the patient at this time that he is ill. He insists that he feels fine and is fine. He manifests a peculiar sense of dominance, and will brook no opposition to his plans. In spite of himself, the paretic on examination will show some rather striking mental symptoms. Judgment is weakened, and there may be grand ideas entirely out of line with the patient's ability to plan or to achieve their fulfilment. Among male patients these ideas take the form of wealth, power, glory, and position. The projects announced by these victims are far more stupendous than could possibly be carried out. As one writer put it: "Wealth is counted in worldsful of gold. The patient will bring the Pacific ocean to the Rockies to make nature's largest waterfall."

Remissions occur occasionally and may last several months, although there are a few authenticated cases in which remissions have lasted for a few years. During these periods the delusions disappear, the moods change, symptoms of confusion pass away; but sooner or later the malady reasserts itself, with entrance upon the terminal period. There will be remnants of the grand days, but usually the mind becomes hollow and vacant. As a rule the condition runs its course within a few years.

Recently marked amelioration has followed the injection of the malaria parasite for the purpose of bringing on a high temperature. This procedure, or the use of electric heat to maintain a temperature of 105 degrees F. or even higher, has been followed by considerable improvement in certain cases. Under this treatment some authors have reported remission of symptoms in from 40 to 60 per cent of their patients. Time will tell whether this decided change for the better is transitory or permanent.

PROBABLY NOT.

E. Z. W. writes: I am writing about a young woman of 29 who needs help. Late in July of this year she was operated on for toxic goiter. She entered the hospital five days before the operation and left five days afterward. Since coming home she has rested most of the time, but has tried to do light household tasks, such as washing dishes and making beds. At the time of her operation clamps were used and no stitches were taken. There is a heavy crease or overlapping in her throat which seems to remain unchanged. At times this overlapping is quite painful, with a feeling as if sharp knives were stuck into the throat. She cannot sleep at night. The young woman received no instructions from her physician, who is now on a vacation, and I am entirely unfamiliar with thyroid cases.

Does this mean that another operation will be necessary? If so, how long would she be likely to have to stay in the hospital?

Will a second cutting be very dangerous?

REPLY.

Probably not. Small metal clamps are used instead of sutures [stitches] to close the skin wound. As healing proceeds the scar will contract, and the skin of the neck will probably be smooth in time. The nervous symptoms you mention are quite common and usually disappear as the body readjusts itself to the absence of the excess thyroid secretion. Recovery from the removal of a toxic thyroid is not rapid.

YELLOW PATCHES.

J. M. T. writes: I have yellowish-white or light yellow patches above the eyelids and one or two just below the eyes. What are these and what can be done?

REPLY.

The patches are called xanthoma. They are usually light lemon yellow in color and are slightly raised above the surrounding skin. They generally appear on the upper lid near the inner angle of the eye, but are sometimes found on the palms of the hands and on the fingers. Although there is a tendency for the area to spread, it is well to let them alone unless they are unsightly or interfere with movements of the lids. They can be removed, however, with the electric needle or by skilful plastic surgery.

GUARDIANSHIP.

Blue Island, Ill., Aug. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does a guardian's guardianship cease after the child is married? My granddaughter is married but not of age. 2. Bonding company wants me to give bond of $5,000 as guardian. I have paid $10 for a bond. Will I be compelled to pay the foregoing bond? J. C. K.

1. It is not clear whether you are guardian of the person or of the estate. It seems probable that her marriage would be a basis for terminating a guardianship of the person or substituting the husband as guardian of the estate if he is of proper age and business ability, but in either case a court order would be appropriate.

2. This implies that you have not already given bond, which seems inconsistent with what you have stated under No. 1. If an attorney was employed in settling up the guardianship estate he will be in a better position to advise you than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID NOTE.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A note for $1,000 dated August, 1920, has paid no principal or interest. In September, 1926, the court [1] acknowledged judgment against [2] the drawer, but as there was nothing that could be attached nothing further has been done. 3. Is the note now outlawed? If not, how long after judgment was executed until the matter does become outlawed? P. M.

1. We assume that you mean that a judgment order was entered on the court records.

2. The word "drawer" is applied only to a check or a bill of exchange. We assume that you mean the maker of the note.

3. The note has been superseded by the judgment. The limitation period on the judgment is twenty years. It would, however, be necessary for you to serve new process in order to proceed by execution or garnishment.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTATE PROBATE.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died recently leaving an estate, part of which is in Michigan and part in Chicago. 1. How could we go about putting it in probate, as [2] my brother claims it is all his now as he handled estate for father while he was living. 3. Do we have to hire a lawyer or does Probate court have one? Brother won't show six sisters bills or papers to see what has happened, and does not even show mother what transpired. Claims it is all his. F. R.

1. The principal probate should be where the deceased resided at the time of his death. An attorney should be employed there.

2. Presumably he bases such a claim on a gift during your father's lifetime. We cannot advise without having the facts on this point.

3. No, but it is ordinarily advisable.

LAKE FRONT PROPERTY.

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When purchasing lake front property [1] does the purchaser have a right to the property down to the water or [2] does the beach remain state property? There is a certain property owner who has been forcing all bathers off the beach directly in front of his property. 3. Has any property owner a right to do this? L. B.

1. Depends on the previous history of the title and on whether a right of way along the beach has been adversely asserted long enough to give rights under the statute of limitations.

2. Not necessarily.

3. See 1 and 2.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Most of the world's wealth has been passed down to the "first born," but many psychologists believe that the last children to be born in a family are usually the most capable. They say that the older the parents when the child is born, the more intelligent is the child. Examples are numerous, including Mohammed [twentieth child], Benjamin Franklin [fifteenth child], John Jacob Astor, Moses, Daniel Webster, John Barrymore, Lord Nelson, William Pitt, John Wesley, Julius Caesar, Francis Bacon, W. E. Gladstone, Marshal Foch, George Bernard Shaw, Charles Darwin, and George Washington. All these were "younger sons."

LOW COST HOUSING.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—On Aug. 14 I noticed an announcement of the newest government low cost housing project, which is to cost $2,750,000 and which is to contain 1,960 rooms. I am strongly in favor of such projects, because I consider the government the only agency which can wipe out the existing slums and replace the failing shacks with modern structures.

I, however, cannot understand why it is called low cost while it is in reality high cost housing. I might be poor in arithmetic, but if my figures were correct then the cost will average more than $1,400 per room. I am still supposed to be an owner of a six flat building which was constructed in 1925 when building cost was sky high. Still it cost me less than $1,400 per room.

What is more important is the fact that the government is to rent at $5 to $6 per room. Will some expert explain this complicated problem to me?

Of course, the government probably will not have to pay interest, which, if figured at 6 per cent, would alone be higher than all of the rent even if every penny were collected, which, of course, is impossible. And how about taxes, which even at the present reduced rate should on a new building amount to no less than $3 per room a month? Coal bill and janitor service should also be no less than $3 a month, averaging for a whole year. And how about other expenses which will amount to at least $2 additional?

PROPERTY OWNER.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—With all the handout jobs on Works Progress administration and others, very few Illinois National Guardsmen who are out of jobs are able to get work of any kind. These young men are able bodied and willing, and spend at least two nights a week at their armories training and schooling for all emergencies, but get very little in return.

With some 2,000 odd crossing jobs soon to be accorded, why not get the first pick from these young men of ours, who can readily take and handle almost any kind of work?

THE LAW THAT LAUNCHED A THOUSAND HELENS.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—My commiseration to the middle aged ladies whose husbands are stepping out with wild ones. But what else could you expect? This is the age of wild women. The world of Athenes that was to have flowed from woman suffrage has turned out to be a swarm of Aphrodites. Where you have Aphrodites you have Helens, and hence Parises. In Greece the Menalai complained. In America it is the Mrs. Parises. It's all Susan B. Anthony's fault.

MACCARTIE.

SMOKING HABITS.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 23.—I think the habit of smoking has become general with both sexes and suggest for the consideration of the suburban lines that they provide one car for nonsmokers and permit smoking throughout the rest of the train. In other words, just recognize the fact that smokers and those not offended by cigar or cigaret smoke are now in the vast majority. Our railroads seem the last to get in step with modern ideas. JOHN MCGRATH.

THE EDITOR HAS LEFT FOR THE DAY.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Dogs in this town are getting as thick as the grasshoppers were in South Dakota a few years ago, and they are almost as much of a pest. Everybody must have a hound of some kind. Thousands of women every day are making themselves a menace to navigation and getting themselves and the innocent bystander all tangled up in leashes as their pets dart hither and yon on the sidewalks and in the parks.

I've read all the stuff by Terhune and the rest of them about the loyalty, the smartness, and the soulful, limpid eyes of man's best friend. I've owned three different breeds of dogs. I've formed some opinions. I've never owned one, nor seen one, that would lie on its master's grave until it died of lonesomeness or starvation. I don't believe they are rousing the beloved master when acting as fire alarms. They are yowling to get out themselves. When they are playful they will ruin your best clothes before you can even start to cuss. And the "one man" mutts will stick to you like a brother only until they see another mutt in the next block or an uncovered garbage can.

They are full of fleas, distemper, mud, dumbness, and uncertain disposition. They poke their snouts into filth of all kinds and lick the baby's face. My opinion is that they are a nuisance in a large city. Mr. Roosevelt, I believe, would make a big hit if he would direct his Mr. Wallace to plow under every other dog, taking them just as he finds them whether Boston bull, police, wire-haired, fox terrier, Mexican hairless, or what have you. S. E. H.

A WORRIED PENSIONER.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The press reported the spectacular signing of the social security bill by the President and his comments on its points, among others his pleasure that worries about dependency in old age would be done away with in the future, and yet, it was said in Washington that it was at his insistence that the Clark amendment, saving private pension systems, was killed.

It is slowly being borne in on several million old pensioners who were no charge to taxpayers that unless congress takes action on the question they face in the near future the very heartache, worry, and anxiety of being deprived of their living which this bill is supposed to avert.

It seems incredible that in our country such heartless treatment can be accorded to old age—and that in the name of social security. Is this the promised "life more abundant"? Our senators and representatives should right this great wrong at the next session of congress. E.

OLD GIZZARD WITH YOUNG IDEAS.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I just read the story signed by Ann, and would like to tell my own.

I have had practically the same experience as Ann only the ending was quite different. I, too, have a son 25 years old, and a husband, 55. My husband also had a cutie, but when my son heard of this he gave a good thrashing to the old gizzard and the cutie, and the whole problem stopped right there.

HALT LOOP TRAFIC FOR MIDDAY TRIP OF A PILE DRIVER

Bridges Raised at Noon for "Emergency" Tow.

Hundreds of motorists, pedestrians, street car, bus, and elevated riders hurrying from and to the loop lost time and tempers at about 12:30 p. m. yesterday when raised bridges held them up at the Chicago river. They were forced to wait while a pile driver on a scow was towed slowly through the river.

At the Michigan avenue bridge, trafic was halted four minutes. Cars, buses and pedestrians were jammed at the approaches. The pile driver is the property of Mackie-Thompson-Tamm, Inc., 228 North La Salle street, and was on its way, it was learned later, to drive some piles for a dock on the north branch of the river.

Reason for Inconvenience Sought.

In view of the inconvenience the movement caused, efforts were made to ascertain why the pile driver could not have been moved during the night or at least at an hour when trafic was not heavy.

The first effort to obtain this information met with little success. The caller was referred to H. A. Thompson, vice president of the concern, who declared that an "emergency" had made the noon time movement necessary, but he declined to tell what the emergency was.

Later, however, Mr. Thompson explained that the pile driver had been towed from Indiana Harbor. "It's very difficult to gauge the time of a lake tow," he said. "We had intended to pull it through the bridges when trafic was light, but the pile driver did not arrive at the mouth of the river until noon. It was thought best to take it through then."

River Trafic Increases.

Statistics show that the downtown bridges were raised a total of 20,136 times during 1934, an increase of 1,396 above the 1933 figure. Average minutes consumed in the openings ranged from 3.1 to 4.4 minutes for the bridges from Michigan to Van Buren. The cost of operating the 54 bridges in the city was $815,278 in 1934, an increase of $23,041 over 1933.

Boats which require bridge openings are prohibited from using the river between 6:30 and 9:30 a. m., and from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m., on regular business days.

36 CITY JUDGES' ASSIGNMENTS FOR FALL ANNOUNCED

Reassignments of the 36 Municipal court judges for the fall term, effective next Tuesday, were announced yesterday from the office of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, who is out of the city. Judge Thomas A. Green, who had been on vacation assignment to the Boys' and Women's court, will go to the Motions court. Judge Justin F. McCarthy will preside over the Felony court, and Judge Joseph A. Graber will return to the Automobile Theft court, over which he presided for many months after it was inaugurated in 1933. Other assignments are: Judge John Gutknecht, Trafic court; Judge J. M. Braude, Boys' court; Judge Leon Edelman, Domestic Relations court; Judge Eugene J. Holland, Safety court.

PLANS TO FOLLOW HISTORIC WAGON ROUTE BY MOTOR

Corliss F. Randolph of Maplewood, N. J., plans to travel over the covered wagon trail through Chicago which his grandfather followed as a pioneer en route from Virginia to Wisconsin in 1845, so he wrote to Frederick Rex, librarian of the municipal reference library in the city hall, for help.

Mr. Randolph gave the names of two places visited by his grandfather on the trip—Smith's tavern, then outside the city, and the Southerland tavern, where his ancestor spent one night.

Mr. Rex found the locations of both. The site of Smith's tavern, he wrote, was at the corner of 93d and State streets, now within the city limits. The Southerland tavern, later known as the Dickinson tavern, was on what is now Milwaukee avenue, a short distance north of Irving Park boulevard.

Mr. Randolph does not intend to use a covered wagon, however. "I will motor through," he said.

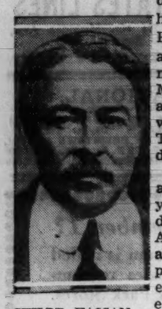
Opposed Vogue of Foreign Painters.

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Childe Hassam, 75, American artist, died today at his home in East Hampton, N. Y., after an illness of nearly a year. Mrs. Hassam was at his bedside when death came. They had no children.



CHILDE HASSAM. [As he appeared years ago.]

Mr. Hassam, an artist for 50 years, was an ardent defender of American art, and his own paintings and etchings are on exhibition in many museums and galleries throughout the country. He was outspoken in his criticism of trade methods in this country.

Hits Foreign Art Dealers.

"Art in America," he once said, "is managed, directed, and run by old women. It's a racket for foreign art dealers, and our native painters, every whit as good, and usually better, haven't a chance."

Born in Dorchester, Mass., Mr. Hassam studied in Boston and Paris. His paintings and etchings largely portrayed New England and Long Island landscapes and Manhattan's towers and streets.

"The depression has taught us one thing," he had said. "Thou shalt not make an idol of a self-made man."

In Paris as a young man he studied with Boulanger and Lefebvre. Returning to this country at 25, his work began to attract immediate attention and his paintings sold. He was awarded prizes at many exhibitions.

Accepts Medal as Honor.

"This is an honor," he replied, "which I consider one of the most distinguished I have received in a long time. It was awarded by a lot of hard headed picture dealers, people who know what good paintings and etchings really are."

Mr. Hassam would have been 76 years old on Oct. 17. He was the son of Frederick F. and Rose [Hathorne] Hassam and was descended on both sides from English families which settled in Massachusetts in 1631.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Silent as the Tomb

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Jack Hylton's orchestra, often called the favorite of the prince of Wales, is to be brought to Chicago for a series of 26 weekly broadcasts over the Columbia network beginning late in October. The swanky British band has been engaged for broadcasting by the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Hylton's bandsmen and a musical revue, numbering about 30 performers, will arrive on the Normandie on Monday, Oct. 21. The first broadcast on American soil may be made the following Sunday. They will be heard regularly Sundays from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. Plans are under way to relay one program from England before sailing. William Stein of Music Corporation of America and Alfred N. Steele, advertising representative, are in Europe completing arrangements for the new show.

The broadcasts will be made before an audience from a theater yet to be selected. Hylton's troupe also is likely to appear at some local night spot for several months and then will be taken on a tour of midwestern cities.

Jack Hylton plays the piano, is his own master of ceremonies, and has a reputation as a comedian. He is said to look a bit like a miniature Paul Whiteman.

A few years ago Hylton played a special performance for Prince Leopold of Belgium, now king. He also is musical adviser to the emperor of Annam.

Though he has long been called Wales' favorite, one of our staf associates who returned from England recently recalled that the prince called on Carroll Gibbons, a native Bostonian, to provide the music at a private party he gave for Grace Moore during the royal jubilee. Hylton long appeared at the swank Mayfair club but is said to be touring Scotland this summer.

Paul Whiteman is reported about ready to make it a three cornered fight with Rudy Vallee, the variety maestro, and Al Jolson, who puts on a somewhat similar show from the west coast, as competitors in the variety program field. Paul has a pretty versatile crew of entertainers himself, and each week he plans to introduce guest talent. Unlike Jolson and Vallee Paul plans sometimes to present artists who are practically unknown to radio. For example, he has engaged a London violinist who has had little publicity in America, for one appearance. Sometimes well known personages will be used. But always the guests will have something unusual to offer radio listeners.

If there is anything that has not yet been told about the Dionne quintuplets Dr. Dafoe will probably cut loose with it tomorrow night when he is a guest on Rudy Vallee's program.

The famous Library of Congress chamber music series is to be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network on Tuesday afternoons beginning late in October. Groups to be heard include the Gordon String quintet and the Musical Art quartet. These concerts are made possible through the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation.

Bobby Brown, CBS production chief, on returning to Chicago yesterday from a vacation trip to Hawaii, found his home burglarized. The vacation jaunt was so pleasant, however, that he didn't mind it much, he said.

OPEN CORONER'S QUIZ ON 3 PARK COASTER DEATHS

Jurors Sent to Scene of Ride Plunge.

The coroner's jury investigating the third coaster death this summer at Riverview park was sent yesterday by Coroner Frank G. Walsh to view the Big Dipper and the Sky Rocket, the rides on which the deaths occurred in the amusement park.

This action was taken at the inquest into the death of Le Roy Cubychek, 20 years old, 4914 North Kilpatrick avenue, who was killed when he fell from a car of the Big Dipper Monday night. Deputy Coroner E. F. Ingles continued the inquest to Sept. 4 and explained that Coroner Walsh had ordered the jury to inspect the rides so they can better understand the testimony. The jury was escorted about the grounds by A. A. Cleary, superintendent of the amusement park.

Return Two Accident Verdicts.

Verdicts of accidental death were returned in the cases of the other two victims. Miss Jane Ruby, 23 years old, 838 Wellington avenue, was killed July 2 in a fall from the Big Dipper. Henry H. Bailey, 4216 Ogden avenue, a plumber, plunged to death from the Sky Rocket Aug. 12.

"Testimony in the case of Miss Ruby indicated that she and two other girls occupied the same seat, although the attendant on the ride attempted to have her take another seat," said Victor L. Schlaeger, first deputy coroner.

"In Mr. Bailey's case, his wife and a woman companion riding a car behind him testified he was thrown out at the first peak of the ride and that they were lifted from their seats."

Frank O'Grady, 19 years old, 4859 North Kilpatrick avenue, Cubycheck's companion on the fatal ride, will be the principal witness when the inquest is reconvened. He told police that neither he nor Cubycheck was standing up in the car at the time of the accident.

Companion Tells of Death.

"The car jerked forward and as we came to the top of the third peak he just flew out, that's all," O'Grady said. "He was holding to the bar with both hands and he was still holding to it after his body turned a complete somersault and was dangling in front of the car. That accounted for his broken arms. I grabbed his trousers and nearly wrenched my arm off, but couldn't hold him."

"Inspectors from the city elevator inspection department spend four to six weeks every spring going over our rides," said Superintendent Cleary. "We have had more deaths this summer than we have had in any four or five years previously. The Big Dipper [a roller coaster] has been running since 1919, the Greyhound since 1912 and the Sky Rocket since 1923. Patrons between the ages of 16 and 22 give the most trouble. Children are all right. They follow instructions."

Plan Survey of All Devices.

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes and Robert Knight, deputy building commissioner, announced a special survey will be made of all riding devices in amusement parks within the city. Hodes said Riverview park had been found to be complying with the city ordinances governing roller coasters but that following the second death there this summer officials of the park had been ordered to raise the handrails on the ride cars from 3 feet to 4 feet. This was done, the city officials said.

CROSLEY STATION DENIES IT BARRED NEWS OF STRIKES

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The American Civil Liberties union's charge today that Powel Crosley Jr. had prohibited broadcasting of strike news over station WLW which he owns and operates was denied "emphatically" by the Crosley Radio corporation.

John L. Clarke, general manager of the Cincinnati station and its subsidiary, WSAI, in a letter to Roger Baldwin of the Civil Liberties union said that the company had retained "competent newspaper men" to prepare its news broadcasts and that they had "received no instructions whatsoever" against strike news broadcast.

He said the union had been "terribly misinformed," asserting that in a recent six day period five items of strike news were broadcast.

The union had announced it had written Crosley protesting against "unjustifiable censorship" and had forwarded data to the federal communications commission, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and members of congressional committees.

AUSTIN Y. TUEL, MACKAY RADIO EXECUTIVE, DIES

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Austin Y. Tuel, vice president and general manager of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, died suddenly this morning at the Murray Hill hospital. Mr. Tuel was 53 years of age. He was born at Mount Carmel, Ill.

After being graduated from high school in 1900, Mr. Tuel started as a telegraph operator on the C., C., C. & St. L. railroad. In 1909 he entered the service of the United Wireless company at Seattle, Wash. The following year he was appointed superintendent of the Federal Telegraph company's first station at San Francisco. He remained there until 1917 when he joined the navy and was made communications officer at San Francisco.

Returning to Federal Telegraph, he was sent to Washington, D. C., as resident engineer, continuing at this post until early in 1921 when he was appointed general manager. He held this position until 1929 when the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company was formed and he became vice president and general manager of that company.

Events Will Be Given for Madelon Search.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THREE new parties for debutantes have been added to the list of those to be given during the Christmas holidays, filling another noon, afternoon, and evening, for the new ones are a luncheon, a cocktail party, and a dance. All of these parties will be given for Miss Madelon Search, whose mother, Mrs. J. Gist Search of the Churchill, will introduce her at a luncheon on Monday, Dec. 23, in the Polo room of the Ambassador East.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr., who entertain every winter for several of the debutantes, will give a cocktail party for Miss Search in their Astor street home on the evening preceding the luncheon, and the following Wednesday, Christmas day, Mrs. Victor Beaufort will give a dance at the Casino. Mrs. Beaufort lives with her husband, Maj. Beaufort, most of the year on their Georgia plantation, but she comes to Chicago during the Christmas holidays with her son, Alexis Thompson, who is a Yale student, that he may enjoy the gayety here.

Mrs. Search's pretty blonde debutante daughter was graduated in June from the Girls' Latin school. She will remain at home this winter. Miss Search is going north Friday night to spend the long Labor day week-end with the Regis Lynches at Pine Lake, Wis.

Joan McArthur Will Bow Christmas Day.

Another debutante who will be fêted on Christmas day is Miss Joan McArthur, whose parents, Dr. and Mrs. Selim McArthur, will introduce her to their friends at a tea at the fortnightly that afternoon. Miss McArthur, who was graduated from the Francis Parker school in June, will enter Bennington college this fall. She and Dr. and Mrs. McArthur are leaving Sunday for Vermont to see that the debutante is settled comfortably in the college, and she will not be here for any of the early fall teas, which start next week in Winnetka. Miss McArthur will be at home only the week between Christmas and the New Year.

As any seasoned hostess knows, the interlude between a tea and a supper-dance may become quite a letdown. Consequently, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchen have decided to give a dinner-party for their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Esther Buchen, at the Knollwood club on Sept. 7 following the debut tea they are giving that afternoon at their Winnetka residence.

The dinner is, of course, planned for the assistants of the two debutantes also, and will precede the dance that the Julian Armstrongs are giving that night for their daughter Katherine.

Miss Patty Calkins to Be Bride Today.

Today's bride is Miss Patty Calkins, the tall, blonde, and pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham Calkins, whose marriage to J. Fred Schoellkopf IV. of Buffalo, N. Y., will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Calkins' Hubbard Woods home.

Several members of the Schoellkopf family, including the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Schoellkopf Jr., and his sister and brother-in-law, the Patrick Harold Hodgsons, and the bride's aunt and cousin from New York, Mrs. Edward W. Isom and William Gifford Isom, will be among the relatives and intimate friends to hear the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard of Christ church, Winnetka, read the service. A few close friends of the young people will come in after the ceremony to drink a toast to the bride and Mr. Schoellkopf.

Miss Calkins, who has two sisters, Miss Marion Calkins and Evelyn, and a brother, George Jr., will have no attendants. Mr. Hodgson will serve the bridegroom as best man. Following a wedding trip to Europe Mr. Schoellkopf and his bride will make their home in Buffalo.

To provide a bit of gayety for the out-of-town polo players who are in Hinsdale for the twelve goal championships and the intercircuit championships, which are being played at the Oak Brook Polo club, the club has arranged a dinner-dance for Friday evening.

Friday afternoon two test matches will be played to determine which teams will play in the first finals. Other finals will be played on Sunday, Sept. 8, and on Sunday, Sept. 15, and the proceeds from the games will benefit the Infant Welfare and the Boy Scouts. The team that will represent Minneapolis and St. Paul and Fort Snelling, Minn., will be guests of Capt. Paul Butler of the Oak Brook team during the tournament.

Postpone Party for Debutante.

The Joseph B. Flemings have postponed the party they were to give for Miss Dorelle Moulton tomorrow night at the Onwentsia club to the evening of Sept. 6. On the afternoon of the 6th Miss Moulton will make her bow to society at a tea dance her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moulton, will give at the Skokie Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Moulton will give a dinner that evening for the debutante, her assistants, and their escorts, and after the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Fleming will take charge of the rest of the evening. The Flemings' sub-debutante daughter, Miss Lily Fleming, is to be one of Miss Moulton's assistants.

Miss Moulton and her mother are

INNSBRUCK, Austria. — We make our way down what surely must be the most dramatic street in the world, Maria-Theresien Strasse, the main street of this Tyrolean capital. Down the street—beyond the statue of the Madonna of the Golden Circlet—the mountains rise abruptly, their peaks jagged, their high gulches filled with snow, their slopes green-covered. At the south end of the street is the triumphal arch erected for the state entry of Maria Theresa into Innsbruck, and where the street becomes Herzog-Friedrich Strasse, picturesque and lined with arcades, we see the Goldenes Dachl—the Gothic, gilded balcony from which an emperor used to watch what went on in the street below.

TODAY the Austrian flag, tied with mourning streamers, flies from the medieval balconies and doorways. It was a year ago that Dollfuss was shot in Vienna. The newspapers carry his picture. Postcards bearing his photograph are on sale in the shops. The portals of the Stadt-Theater are hung with black relieved by a long white cross forming a back drop for a high black catafalque banked with flowers. Soldiers in the gray-green Austrian uniform stand guard, and at the four corners of the platz, incense burns in urns set on tall black columns, the smoke curling up above the heads of the long line of persons who file slowly past the catafalque. Townsfolk reading with curiosity the names of donors in gilt letters on the wreaths, mountain lads in lether jackets and feathered hats, young women with straw colored hair and plump figures are in the slow moving line. I saw a peasant girl in a sprigged dress and lace edged apron lay a bunch of field flowers among the wreaths and bouquets heaped beneath the coffin.

ALL this was incidental sightseeing on our way to the hostelry we had chosen for the night. It was on a wooded terrace a thousand feet above the town, overlooking the swift flowing Inn river and the entire city. As I write this the companion of my life and travels sits on the balcony inspecting the city and its environs through binoculars. He announces, after some minutes of inspection, that he has seen everything to see in Innsbruck sitting there on the balcony. He has found the Hofkirche and the Hofburg, the former imperial palace; the university, the fine residential section of the town, bordered by lovely old trees. He even has located the sports field where many years ago he—then a student at the University of Munich—had played in a hocky match.

DOWN in the hotel garden people sit at little tables covered with red checked cloths drinking beer and schnapps; four dachshunds, a police dog, and a wire haired fox terrier ambulate among the guests, and there is some French and some Italian to be heard among the German speech—races both detested by the Austrian, however glad the hotelkeeper may be of patronage in these times, when trade from Germany has been cut off.

B. M. Z. Club Sets Date for Annual Benefit Party

The annual benefit function of the B. M. Z. Woman's club will be held on Monday, Nov. 18, in the Narcissus room at Field's. The program will include luncheon, a fashion show, and musical. The proceeds will be used for the care of the 167 inmates of the Old People's Home at 1648 South Albany avenue, an institution under the direction of the Jewish charities. Mrs. Rudolph Perlman is chairman for the party and Mrs. Samuel Levin of the Park Lane hotel is in charge of reservations.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Miss Dorothy Page returns to her Chicago fans in quite a neat little program picture which the audience at the State-Lake theater seemed to enjoy thoroughly. It's a musical romance, featuring the pretty singer in a dual rôle which she handles competently. Photographically speaking, she's an excellent subject and has poise and a lovely voice.

There are a number of seasoned players in the film, led by Ricardo Cortez, who always turns in a finished performance. Henry Armetta and Regis Toomey are good for several chuckles apiece.

Yvonne, a stage celebrity, protects herself from the lack of privacy and similar thorns that come with fame by hiring a double. When Dan Moore, a philanthropist who owns a night club and a hotel, desires to meet the beautiful star, trouble starts. The lady looks particularly ominous when she realizes that he had her thrown out of his hotel because her matutinal chords and scales disturbed his sleep. There is much confusion and misunderstanding, and the love affair blows hot and cold—all depending on which of the Yvonnes Dan meets.

The film is light and musical, the leading man and woman are sufficiently attractive, and if you're not too particular I think you might enjoy it.

The slightly moth-eaten story of the prince who loves the beautiful variety actress forms the basis of this German talkie. Marta Eggerth as the heroine, is smaller and more delicate than most of the feminine foreign stars and looks a bit like Laura La Plante. The film offers quite a lot of heavy-handed comedy which you'll hardly appreciate unless you understand the language.

A series of free dramatic performances will be given in Hamilton Park auditorium, 72d street and Eggleston avenue, beginning next Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Chicago park district. The plays will be acted by the American Art theater, a little theater group which formerly operated in Minneapolis. It is said to have been given a grant of money by the Federal Works Progress administration. Robert Breen is its director.

The first production will be "The Ivory Door," by A. A. Milne. The company's repertory also includes "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet," a version of Goethe's "Faust," and "Amaco," by Martin Flavin. The performances will continue for five weeks.

Jane Addams to Be Honored by Peace Plea

The launching of an international peace appeal, for which the signatures of 50 million people are to be sought, will mark the memorial meeting in honor of Jane Addams which is to be held in Chicago on Sept. 6.

This was announced yesterday by Miss Louise Wier of Washington, D. C., national organizer for the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, founded by Miss Addams. Miss Wier made the announcement at a luncheon meeting of civic, public welfare, and religious leaders at the Eleanor club, 16 North Wabash avenue.

Memorial services will be held on Sept. 6, the anniversary of Miss Addams' birth, in the United States and 27 foreign countries, Miss Wier said, but out of respect to the fact that Chicago was Miss Addams' home, national attention will be centered on the Chicago memorial.

"We feel that the most fitting tribute we can pay Jane Addams," Miss Wier said, "is to carry on her campaign for peace. For that reason we have selected her birthday as the day to start the circularization of this anti-war mandate. By May 2 we hope to have 50 million signatures, at which time we will dispatch an international commission of women from London to go to the different governments of the world. If we have signatures in such a number as this, the governments will have to listen."

The mandate opens with the prologue—"We, the people, are determined to end war. War settles no problems. War brings economic misery, needless suffering and death to us and to our children."

It demands cessation of armament increases, the use of existing machinery for peaceful settlement of present conflicts, the securing of a world treaty for immediate arms reduction as a step toward complete disarmament and the securing of international agreements to end economic anarchy.

The place for the Chicago memorial service has not been selected, but Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke college, will be the principal speaker, discussing "Disarmament" over an international hookup. Others will be Judge Florence Allen, Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch, Heywood Broun, and Mayor Kelly.

The New Suits a Good Omen of Fall Styles

BY RHEA SEEGER.

So far the first of the suits and suit ensembles are the most significant clothes in the shops. If the rest of the fall and winter clothes to follow will have the same exciting effect on the cruising shopper we're in for a grand time. Furless models are going out into circulation with a speed that fairly makes the package wrappers dizzy. Most of the suits are simple, casual affairs at first sight, but suspend your judgment until you try them on!

Smooth, supple, and thin-ish woolens are used to make these suits and ensembles. The coats have all kinds of dash, with good flat silhouettes in front and swanky flared backs that are vastly becoming to nearly every one.

And again the shoppers choose the combines; that is, the tricky new contrasts of plain material with big checks and plaids and startling color contrast. All shades of gray use all shades of red; gray with a gold orange is another effective contrast.

The coats are longer this fall, but depending, of course, upon the height of the buyer.

We saw one collection that featured combines of materials as well as color. One tucked velveteen coat was matched to a slim skirt of the velveteen, then topped with a novelty wine and white patterned knit material in the long sleeved blouse. The velveteen coat had the inevitable ascot of the red and white knit material.

Another velveteen jacket was teamed with a dress of huge colorful plaids, with the skirt and most of the dress made with the plaid cut in diagonal formation. Any of these models are splendid buys, because the coats can be worn with other skirts, other dresses, and other blouses or sweater outfits and all of the knit dresses.

Fashion photograph. . . . Big checks in yellow and dark gray contrast and trim this two piece furless street suit for fall. The dress has sleeves of the plaid and the plaid wool faces back the tiny chest revers. The wider coat revers and the wide cuffs match the plaid trim of the dress. The back of the swagger length coat has two deep vertical plaits that achieve the fashionable back fullness. From a newly unpacked fall suit collection available in a Chicago shop.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage, Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by her mother-in-law, Edith Heritage, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Nancy learns that her sole remaining relative, an aunt, has been killed in China. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them, and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Next day Sylvia calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed, asks him to plan a house for her, and boldly invites herself to his home for dinner. Sylvia assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy tells her she had torn it up. Sylvia's new home is started and Dick spends most of his time with her. Nancy learns that she has inherited another small legacy from her aunt. Mr. Digger suggests that she pass the two legacies off as one. He also offers his help if she is ever in trouble. Nancy returns home unobserved and overhears Sylvia begging Dick to get a divorce. Mrs. Heritage has gone away for a week-end with Mrs. Lane. Nancy and Dick dine out. Nancy suspects that Dick has an engagement with Sylvia. To forestall him she decides to pay Sylvia a visit.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

OPEN HOSTILITIES.

There was Sylvia, her short, fair hair brushed back in heavy waves; clad in the most ravishing negligee that Nancy Heritage had ever seen.

Whatever she had intended to say when she opened that door, died on her lips.

Something had gone very wrong with the works, apparently, and the opening lines Sylvia was prepared to deliver could not be spoken; nor was she clever enough to improvise a new speech on the spur of the moment.

She stood there gaping at Nancy, looking altogether absurd; figuratively speaking, something like a hen that has been doused with cold water.

"Is it too late for me to come in?" Nancy said.

"Why, no—I—yes, do come in," Sylvia replied.

The obvious flutter she was in restored Nancy's self-confidence.

"I suppose I ought to apologize, but Dick and I were dining out, and he had to see a man at his club. So I thought I'd drop in and have a little chat with you—if you were available—and Dick's going to call for me."

"O, I see," said Sylvia. Her wits were coming back and she threw Nancy a sidelong glance of suspicion.

"What a lovely place you have!" Nancy exclaimed, looking around the

"You are lying," Nancy said, with deadly emphasis.

On a cabinet stood a framed photograph of Dick. Nancy smiled at it and raised her eyebrows. And in the dining alcove a little supper for two was laid out. Nancy smiled, but more grimly.

"I wonder if I'm in your way," she said to Sylvia. "You're expecting some one, aren't you?"

"O, nobody special, but often people drop in on me—just like you've done, Nancy—and I always have a little supper ready. When mother's away I don't eat properly. It's so dull dining alone. Won't you have something? A sandwich, or some caviar?"

"I simply couldn't! Thank you, but we've only just finished dinner."

"Sit down, darling. That chair's very comfortable. So you and—and Dick dined out this evening. How nice for you. You don't get about very much, do you? And I suppose before long you won't be going out at all."

"O, I don't know," Nancy replied. "We're not living in Victorian times. I don't think there's anything to be ashamed of because I'm going to have a baby. Why, there was a nice old gentleman in the restaurant tonight who tried to get up a flirtation with me. And Dick was ridiculously jealous. He said for two pins he'd punch his nose."

Sylvia gave a little gasp.

"Does that surprise you?" asked Nancy. "After all, I'm only a year or two older than you are. Why shouldn't men find me attractive—or is it difficult for you to believe that Dick was jealous?"

Sylvia made no immediate reply, further than a low, scornful laugh. Why had Nancy come here? What was she aiming at? Had Dick said anything to her about that scene they had had this afternoon, and was he now hiding behind his wife's skirts?

If only Nancy would show her hand, she felt she would be willing to lay all her own cards on the table. Perhaps she could force Nancy's hand.

"You must forgive me," she said, "if I seem a bit upset this evening. I was thinking about you, as it happened, when you arrived. You've been on my mind all day, Nancy. I've scarcely known what I was doing, and now that you are here, I don't know how I'm going to tell you."

Nancy felt herself growing pale. She did not want an open confession from Sylvia, and nothing in this world would induce her to discuss Dick with the impertinent minx. If she so far forgot herself as to do so, Nancy knew she would lose her temper and say things she might well repent.

"If it's so difficult as all that, I shouldn't tell if I were you," she said.

"It is difficult. It's more than that—it's terrible, and it might be tragic," Sylvia said, wringing her hands as a signal of distress.

Nancy hastily began to adjust her wrap. Alarm had seized her. She had come here with the purpose of putting Sylvia Lane in her place, and she did not mean to have the tables turned on her. Sylvia was quite capable of telling her outright that Dick loved her no longer and regarded her as a drag on his wheel of progress. Sylvia might even offer her a price for the body and soul of Dick Heritage. "So much, for your husband, cash down! And immediate possession. You may keep the change."

"I don't want to hear it," said Nancy. There was no lightness in her voice, now; it was grimly determined.

But Sylvia grasped her by the arm. There was a pale flame in the hypnotic eyes—a flame of pure fanaticism. Sylvia looked like the girl of seven years ago who had so dramatically declaimed: "If you don't help me out of this, Nancy, I'll kill myself!"

"You've got to hear it," she said. "It's only fair to warn you. I owe that much to you, Nancy."

"Warn me of what?" Nancy said contemptuously.

"Sit down again. Please—please do. How on earth shall I begin? . . . Nancy, did Dick's mother go to Bournemouth today?"

Nancy, who had been on the point of fleeing with her fingers in her ears, stopped dead in her tracks. She hadn't expected Sylvia's declaration to have anything to do with her mother-in-law.

"Yes, she did. I didn't see her before she went, but Dick told me she had a telegram from Mrs. Lane inviting her for a long week-end. I had to go out and she had left before I returned."

Sylvia nodded and bit her lip as though suffering mental distress.

"Nancy, you remember I told you mother wouldn't ever say anything about—well, you know what."

"About my having been sent to the reformatory?"

"Yes, about that. But I didn't tell you all the truth. I had to beg and beg her not to—even threaten her."

"O?" Nancy exclaimed softly.

"Well, I'll try to tell you now. Mother and I had an awful quarrel about a week ago. She came up here and tried to interfere with my affairs, and I expect I was a little rude to her. She was against my having that darling little cottage from the first—and I would be spending too much money on it, and that after I had it, I'd find I didn't want it. And so on. You know how peculiar mother can be if she takes it into her head. And she said I was seeing too much of you."

"Of me?" Nancy found that she still could laugh.

"Yes, and that she disapproved of our association. I tried to explain that I didn't see so very much of you, and she said . . . but why should I repeat all the unpleasant things she said about you, and about Dick, too?"

Sylvia made a theatrical gesture of despair.

"Mother's going to tell Mrs. Heritage, Nancy. Just as a piece of spite work against me. That's what she invited her down there for. Now you understand why I've been in such a state of misery."

Nancy looked at her quietly, steadily, and the hypnotic eyes wavered.

"You are lying," she said, with deadly emphasis.

"Lying! How dare you! But you'll find out soon enough whether I'm lying or not. That's all the thanks I get for trying to protect you."

"If you had wanted to protect me," said Nancy, "you could have told your mother the whole truth. That would have stopped her tongue before it had even started to wag."

Sylvia's mouth, turned down at the corners, looked like a thin red crescent. She gave a sneering laugh.

"I'm afraid mother wouldn't have believed me. Nobody would."

Test Outlines Psychology of Married Person

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Personality characteristics of happily married, unhappily married, and divorced persons were investigated recently and a report presented in an international quarterly on psychology. The tests were administered to 346 married couples and to 116 divorced couples with the following results:

Happily Married Men: Outstandingly coöperative, emotionally stable, conservative and cautious, although not lacking in initiative. Object less to being told what to do. React better to discipline, are more amiable and placid than the other male groups.

Unhappily Married Men: Are more prone than the divorced to indulge in argument, are restive, indecisive, moody, and exclusive. They look positiveness, stout-heartedness, ambition. They show restlessness of attitude in their greater liking for change from place to place, for outside versus inside work.

Divorced Man: Lacks tolerance and sympathy, is self-willed and restive under discipline, is self-sufficient, and self-confident.

Happy Woman: Is gregarious, fond of people, and not especially self-sufficient. She is emotionally stable and well balanced, more docile than aggressive.

Unhappily Married Woman: Is the most neurotic, indecisive, and unmethodical of the groups. Although not especially intellectual, she has considerable interest in literature and music. She lacks the warm sympathy and emotional balance of the happily married woman.

The Divorced Woman: Is more self-assertive, more ambitious and less docile. She is an individualist, little moved by sympathy and little interested in schemes to enhance social welfare. She tends to be intellectual and unmercenary. Her personality lacks sweet feminity, but commands respect for its rugged strength, self-sufficiency, and detached tolerance.

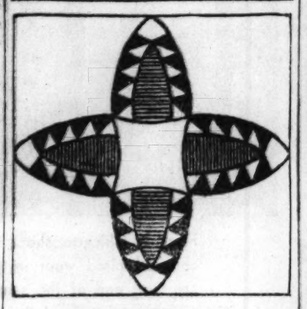
Cocklebur Quilt Employs Red and Yellow Patches



Cocklebur

BY NANCY CABOT.

The tiny red and yellow patches of this "Cocklebur" block express in an unintentionally modern way the flutelike edges of the leaves. Measuring 16 inches square when completed, the quilt blocks may be arranged according to the diagram accompanying the pattern, suggesting a clever scheme for an entire quilt.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

DOUBLE PLAY.

A friend of mine found himself cornered at a women's bridge party the other afternoon and, after gazing around wildly for a few seconds in the manner of a startled fawn, gave into kismet and allowed himself to be corralled for a tenth of a cent rubber game. It was a great object lesson. My friend is thinking seriously of starting a small factory for the concoction of bridge mottoes, to be nailed, after due ceremony, above the oil painting of Grandfather Abner. Among those for which he expects to have a tremendous sales is the following:

My son, there are two roads: The road of the cross-ruff and the road of the extraction of trumps. But he who would make his contract must choose one or the other. The wise man does not straddle both.

SOUTH	NORTH
1 Sp.	2 Di.
6 Di.	Pass

North had a hand which, as she put it humorously afterward, was not a hand, but a foot. She was definitely dazzled by the contract.

The opening lead was a spade. Three spades were cashed—North discarding two hearts—and then the heart ace was played and a small heart trumped in the declarer's hand. A club was led to the ace and another heart ruffed. North played the jack of diamonds. East naturally covered. A diamond was played back. West went up with the queen and returned a spade. All that did was to set up the nine of diamonds in the West hand.

Should North choose to draw trumps, she has only to play East for the king of clubs, and the contract is home; but such simple plays are not for experts. An expert would place the king of clubs in the West hand and, moreover, decide that fate was giving him a back-handed wallop by arranging for a three-one trump split. But he [heh! heh!] would be cleverer than fate. He plans to trump two clubs on the board, and two hearts and a spade in his own hand. That brings him down to the jack, ten of diamonds, and the queen of clubs in his own hand. Dummy holds ace seven of diamonds, and jack of hearts. The ace of diamonds is played, dropping East's king. Then the high heart is led. West is couped. He has the queen and nine of diamonds left, but he can only make one of them.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

Chicago Opera Will Reopen Next Saturday

Navy Pier Company Will Present "Lucia."

After a week's interval the performances by the Chicago Municipal Opera company will be resumed on Navy pier Saturday and Sunday evenings with "Lucia di Lammermoor." Mildred Garber, the young Chicago soprano who made something of a sensation in the part with the Chicago Grand Opera company two seasons ago, will have the title rôle. With her will be Hazel Sanborn, William Green, the artistic director of the company, Giuseppe Cavadore, and Winfred Engelman. Dino Bigalli continues as musical director.

Tonight's concert in Grant park by P. A. Cavallo and his symphonic band will be something of a carnival of soloists. The first part of the program will consist of solos and concerted numbers by members of the band, culminating in a vocal solo by Mary McCormic, brilliant operatic soprano. The program:

PART I.

March, "The Dunham Trumpeters"..Cavallo
Tuba solo, "Asleep in the Deep"....Petrie
Mr. Perrone.
Piccolo solo, "The Turtle Dove"....Demare
Mr. Woempner.

Add 3 Parties to Long List for Holidays

expected at home Friday from Reading, Pa., where they have been visiting friends. Miss Moulton will return to Pennsylvania next month, when she will assist at the debut dance on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11, in Philadelphia of Miss Marguerite Foxhall Hanley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson Hanley of Pottstown, which will be given at the Hotel Warwick.

Announce Attendants for Templeton Wedding.

Canon Killian Stimpson will officiate at the marriage of Miss Josephine Templeton, daughter of the Kenneth Templetons of Lake Forest, to Sidney D. Johnson of Rahway, N. J., the afternoon of Sept. 14. Dr. Stimpson, a cousin of the bride's father, has spent the last five years in Europe, where he first was at the American Episcopal church in Paris and later at the American church in Florence, Italy. He now is rector of St. Mark's church in Milwaukee.

Miss Templeton's marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney G. Johnson of Rahway will take place at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest and a reception will follow in the Templetons' home.

Two cousins of the bride, Miss Mary Dudley Montgomery and Miss Elizabeth Ann Montgomery, are coming from Madison, Wis., to attend the bride. Mary will be the maid of honor and her sister and another of the bride's cousins, Miss Emily Price of Evanston, will be among the bridesmaids. Mrs. Ralph F. Chatillon, the former Mary Elizabeth Reid, will be the matron of honor, and the other bridesmaids include Miss Margaret Taylor of Pittsburgh, a classmate of the bride's at Dobbs Ferry who has visited here frequently, and Miss Betty Alexander, Miss Barbara Soper, and Miss Frances McPherson.

Edward Johnson Will Be Best Man.

Edward Johnson will serve his brother as best man, and ushering will be several classmates of the bridegroom, who were graduated from Princeton in June. They include J. Alexander McWilliams of Dwight, Ill., whose brothers, Charles and John McWilliams, are popular members of the post-debutante set in Chicago; William L. Fortune of Indianapolis, Albridge C. Smith III. of Orange, N. J.; William H. Peterson Jr. of Colonia, N. J., who also will usher for Paul L. Fentress when he marries Miss Roslyn Paine on Sept. 12 in Chicago; Arthur M. Wood of Highland Park, Harry T. Gilbert Jr., John Peter Theurer, and James F. Templeton, the Templetons' oldest son, who will return to St. Paul's school for his second year soon after the wedding.

Among the many parties already planned for Miss Templeton and her fiancé, who arrived in Lake Forest Saturday, are a dinner the Bryan S. Reids, parents of the matron of honor, will give Sept. 5; a luncheon Mrs. Maurice Bent will give in Lake Forest Sept. 6, and a dinner the Kent Clows and their debutante daughter, Miss Peggy, will give on the 11th. Most of the out of town ushers and the bridegroom's parents will be here by the Thursday preceding the wedding, when the bachelor dinner will be given. The following evening, after the wedding rehersal, Mr. and Mrs. Templeton will give the bridal dinner at the Onwentsia club.

Eastern Guests to See Grid Game.

Although baseball and swimming are meant to furnish the main interest at the Chicago Dartmouth club's picnic this evening on Louis Leverone's farm on the Des Plaines river, it seems that football, in conversation at least, will supersede them. Among the 150 men who will attend the picnic will be several from the east who are noted in football circles, and the picnic was timed to take place when they would be here for the All-Star football game at Soldiers' field tomorrow night.

Bill Casey, football coach at Harvard, where he was graduated; Bill Cunningham from Boston, Jess Hawley, a former football coach at Dartmouth, and "Fat" Spears, former coach at Hanover, will be among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock, who are landing in New York tomorrow from a summer abroad, are going directly to their summer home at Ephraim, Wis., for a brief stay before returning to Chicago. Their daughter, Mrs. Alfred Wolfe, and her little son, who have been at Ephraim all summer, will return to their Astor street home next week.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, of which Dr. Stock is conductor, will open its forty-fifth season on Thursday evening, Oct. 17. This will be Dr. Stock's thirty-first year as conductor of the orchestra.

Fowler McCormicks at Canadian Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler McCormick are now at their camp in the forests north of Grand Anse, Quebec, and they plan to stay there until Oct. 1. They left their farmhouse near Barrington a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Addington announce the birth of a son, Whitney Wood Addington, at the Presbyterian hospital last Friday. Little Mr. Addington's mother is the former Sarah S. Wood, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood of Highland Park. He has an older brother, Keene Harwood Addington II. The baby's father flew here from Los Angeles on Saturday and will spend a week or so here with his wife and children before returning to California. Mrs. Addington expects to visit her parents in Highland Park after she leaves the hospital.

The summer colony at Pentwater, Mich., is interested in the reception to be given Bessie Helstrom at the Oceana Beach clubhouse this afternoon in recognition of the exhibit of her flower pictures. Mrs. Helstrom, a Chicagoan, has a summer home tucked away in the hills at Pentwater and it is there that she finds the inspiration for so much of her work.

ENGAGEMENT

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Charles Elliott of Lafayette, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter, Susanne, to Jack Arlon Larsh of Chicago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Larsh of Rensselaer, Ind. The wedding will take place in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Levenson of 7612 Essex avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Paulyne, to William Gordon of the Morrison hotel, which took place last Sunday.

New Fall Footwear Styled for Comfort on Long Walks

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If one can't get out and do a three mile hike this fall and come back glowing, it won't be the fault of shoe manufacturers. If you can't get a snappy looking pair of walking shoes you just haven't seen the new fall footwear comfortables.

The shoes, to me, are the grandest note the fall styles portray. They are right in line with an earlier prediction that soon the woman caught hobbling down the avenue on spiked heels is going to look as out of date as if she wore basque and bustle and ostrich tippet. We are heading that way [or should I say "footing" that way] just as surely as anything you can reckon on as impossible to escape.

I went window shopping with a friend, who is happily married it should be stated, just to take the curse off the cynicism that might be implied from her comment. She said, gazing at a display of men's shoes: "It's a man's world, even to the shoes that are worn. They never had to cramp their feet or hobble along on high heels."

Well, it's a woman's foot world now, too. This year you have all the practical features of the comfortable shoe, with feminine little ties and cutouts thrown in for good measure.

All of which fits in neatly with the times. We know women who, a few years ago, wouldn't walk a mile for a string of pearls, but now have turned pedestrian with a vengeance. One lost her car and chauffeur in the universal losing period in our history and won't even get on bus or car if her trip is less than forty city blocks. That's the way she figures it. She's had fun out of figuring her blocks and, incidentally, has learned that leg work, even on city pavements, can do fine things for the health.

There's going to be a lot more walking this fall than for a good many years. There's going to be talk about it. "I walked all the way downtown this a. m.," you're going to hear. Or, "I did a three mile stretch last night before turning in." Mark my words on that! In the meantime, get yourself a pair of those low heeled suedes as a beauty investment. You'll get out and walk in them once you get them. It's that other type of shoe, pinched across the front, too short in the vamp, and too high heeled, that's kept women off their feet these long years.

Unsociability in Child Seldom Is Serious Symptom

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In these days, when educators, economists, and leaders in parent education are talking so much of the need of the "social adjustment" of the young child, when they dwell so much on the child who is "social" and the one who is "anti-social," we should sit down, do a little thinking on the subject, and use our powers of discrimination.

Anxiety that their children shall measure up to one of three standards: —"perfect," "normal," and "average"—makes many mothers see bad weather ahead when there are really no storm signals at all. This sort of anxiety, of tense conscientiousness, leads far too many mothers to think that the child who isn't gregarious, sociable, or a good "mixer" is not socially adjusted, that he is "anti-social," to use a dreaded word, or to put it differently, that he is a problem as far as his relations with people are concerned.

Now as a matter of fact such is not the case. It's not at all as simple as that, nor is it as discouraging as that, either. To begin with, leaving small children out of the question for the moment, I have seen young people who, although sociably inclined and popular, were not at all well adjusted to life. Conversely, I have seen other young people who, self-sufficient and resourceful in their leisure, but indifferent to people as a whole were nevertheless well adjusted to life and not at all anti-social.

Given the same training and environment, all children will not find the same need for people or the same interest in them at the same age. There are children who are anti-social, to be sure. We do want our children to learn to be at ease with people and to enjoy them, too, both children and grownups. But we must not confuse things and think that every child who is self-sufficient, or not markedly sociable, is not "socially adjusted."

We have reading lists for children of all ages. In sending your stamped, self-addressed envelope, be sure to mention the child's age.

Golden Saffron Bread Rates as Real Delicacy

Cooking Editor Suggests a Simple Recipe.

BY MARY MEADE.

Golden saffron bread, with its welcome and unusual flavor quirk, still is probably not one of the chief boasts of most home kitchens. Part of this may be due to the fact that many cooks are likely to shy away from overcomplicated recipes, or from those old timers which are based on the "by guess and by gosh" type of measurements.

However, a fine, fruity, saffron bread needn't be any more difficult to produce than any other simple yeast bread. One recipe, which uses irradiated evaporated milk, is especially suited to the use of the saffron bread beginner, because it is so simple and foolproof. It's a conveniently sized recipe, too, turning out just four medium loaves. We make it like this:

Saffron Bread.

1 2-3 cups boiling water
2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup sugar
1 tall can irradiated evaporated milk
4 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
10 cups flour
2 cups currants
½ cup citron

Steep the saffron in the boiling water for 5 minutes, and then strain. Crumble the yeast into a large mixing bowl, add the sugar, and let stand until the yeast is liquefied. Mix the saffron tea with the milk and, when lukewarm, add to the yeast, along with the melted butter and salt.

All of the flour goes into the mixing at once, and the easiest procedure is to work it in thoroughly with the hands. Add the currants and citron. When the dough is well mixed, knead it gently in the bowl until smooth, round it up over the top, and set it to rise in a second, well greased bowl. The latter should be carefully covered and set in a warm place which is free from drafts.

After about two hours the dough should have doubled in bulk. Knead it down at the end of that period. Then re-cover and let rise again, under the same conditions, until the dough again is double in bulk. This second rising should take about one hour.

Divide the raised dough into portions for four loaves and let stand for 15 minutes on a lightly floured board, covered to prevent cooling and crusting. Shape into smooth loaves and put into greased pans for a third rising, of one to one and a half hours.

Bake the bread in a hot oven, 450 degrees F., for 15 minutes. At the end of that time reduce the heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for another 30 to 40 minutes.

Coat Dress Is Hit for Autumn

YOUTHFUL COAT DRESS.

There always seems to be something smart about dresses with buttons from neck to hem, especially when they are made of one of the woollen dress fabrics, or woolly silk weaves. The original of this frock sketched was made of a new, woolly silk mixture in cranberry color, with a shirtwaist collar, bow, and self-covered buttons of gray blue crêpe.

The pattern, No. 3438, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Camp Season at Algonquin Near the End

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

One hundred and thirty mothers and children from tenement homes departed on the North Western railway yesterday and arrived in buoyant spirits at Camp Algonquin, on the Fox river, THE TRIBUNE'S camp for the underprivileged. Another group of 130, the last of the season, will leave Chicago tomorrow on the North Western for a two weeks' vacation at the camp.

Sixteen more days of hospitality to the city mothers and children who will swarm over its grassy slopes, swim in its pool, go boating on the river, and sit about camp fires under its trees at night, are in store for Camp Algonquin this season. They will be days filled with outdoor activities, according to Mrs. Astrid Save, superintendent of the camp, in order to utilize the perfect camp weather now prevailing.

Illustrating how substantially Camp Algonquin contributes to the health of children in congested districts of Chicago, Mrs. Save said last night that many of the children had gained as much as eight pounds in the two weeks they were there. "All the milk they can drink" is a regular part of all meals at Camp Algonquin.

It is not too late for readers of THE TRIBUNE, who support the summer camp and make possible its operation by the United Charities, to do as Margaret Grey did last week. She sent $10 to the Camp Algonquin fund "for a mother or sick child." Nine dollars pays for a two weeks' vacation for either mother or child.

This contribution brought the total Camp Algonquin fund for the season to $2,644.47.

Meanwhile the Free Ice fund supported by TRIBUNE readers and distributed by the United Charities was increased by these contributions:

"Waukegan"	$ 1.00
Graydon Fouche Butler	1.00
Barbara Weiss, Lois Metzger, and Rosalind Gross	1.00
E. Richeson	2.00
Mary Peterson, Kermeen Adair, and Barbara Peterson	3.52
Norton Dunn, "proceeds of a show"	.65
Total	$ 9.17
Previously acknowledged	1,631.25
Grand total	$1,640.42

Contributions either to THE TRIBUNE'S Free Ice fund or to Camp Algonquin may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, and will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There are four charming new lipsticks that will wink at you as you pass some of the smart cosmetic counters in town. And when we say wink, we mean wink, because their ivory cases are studded with a band of discreetly glittering jewels. Take your pick of what will pass for sapphires, ruby, emerald or diamond bands.

When we first saw them we pleaded piously, "Please, Lord, let the lipsticks be as nice as their cases." And our prayer was answered. They're elegant lipsticks, well deserving of such swank coats. As a matter of fact, they're old friends just brought out in dressup clothes.

These are the products of a specialist who has sound ideas about makeup harmony. The matched makeup was her inspiration. She has identified each of her many and excellent makeup accessories in the same tone key, and has had an outstanding triumph in her face beautifiers for redheads.

The lipstick shades are beauties. There's a dramatic Castilian red for the dark eyed brunette who can carry off scarlet accents. There's one for the in-betweenish brunette, a perfect darb, that does marvelous things for the carrot-topped, and still a fourth for the Dresden dolls.

The texture of these is all you could ask, and they bow to none when it comes to fidelity of shade. The rouge stays on well enough to suit all but those strange creatures who want to wear the same lip rouge for about a week. That's something we just don't understand; it seems definitly unclean. These are eminently satisfactory when it comes to reasonable and right sticking power. They're pleasantly creamy, too, but not runny. In other words, is just what you want these warmish days.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Much has been said and written about Brian Aherne taking up flying, but not until today was his reason explained. Strangely enough, he set out to become a pilot because air travel made him violently ill.

He was discussing aeronautics with Ruth Chatterton, an enthusiast, when she asked him why he had never become interested. He told her about his trouble and she vouched a cure, informing him that if he would make a flight with her and try handling the controls he wouldn't become air sick. He did, and the experiment worked.

Samuel Goldwyn came to the realization today there is a shortage of feminine beauty in filmland. He is looking for Goldwyn chorus girls for the forthcoming Eddie Cantor picture, "Shoot the Chutes." To date he has interviewed 1,500 aspirants with little success.

HELENA ARREST ADDS IMPETUS TO HUNT FOR MAHAN

Fail to Identify Suspect as Heir Kidnaper.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The wide search of federal agents and police for William Mahan, alleged "brains" in the $200,000 kidnaping of young George Weyerhaeuser, was spurred to new heights tonight following reports that the abduction suspect had been seized at Helena, Mont., and had been seen at Baltimore, Md.

The man arrested at Helena bore a marked resemblance to the fugitive but Detective James E. Mooney of Butte, Mont., who knew Mahan, hurried to the Montana capital and asserted that the prisoner was not his long-sought quarry.

Despite this failure of identification, the man, who had given his name as Les McGowan, and a companion, Millard C. Akles, were detained until their finger prints and descriptions could be checked thoroughly by department of justice experts.

A flurry of excitement was caused in Baltimore by the report that Mahan had been seen there and by the subsequent finding of an automobile at first thought to be the fugitive's.

Officers became skeptical it was Mahan's when they learned the license had been issued to a salesman and that neither plates nor automobile had been reported stolen.

ENGINEERS SEEK CAUSE OF BLAST IN CRIB SHAFT

Hymen Gerstein, department of public works sanitary engineer, planned further tests today in efforts to learn the exact cause of a gas explosion in the shaft of the new William E. Dever water crib off Chicago avenue Monday that caused the death of two crib workmen and injured five others. A hose was lowered 65 feet in the 187 foot shaft yesterday, but the only gas found at that level was carbon monoxide, probably the result of the explosion, engineers said. Apparently sparks or a heated bolt head dislodged by workmen using acetylene torches caused the explosion of some natural gas which had collected in the shaft.

Thomas Cleary, 53 years old, 1319 West 97th street, was killed by the explosion and Inaseti R. Ferretti, 48 years old, 2142 Congress street, died early yesterday of injuries. Michael Morasch, 53 years old, 6044 Fletcher street, and Stanley Mizones, 45 years old, 2459 West 45th place, still were in critical condition from their injuries.

Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, said further dismantling of equipment used in construction of the crib would be held up a few days, but the mishap would not delay opening this fall of the Chicago avenue tunnel for which the Dever crib will supply water.

The inquest into the deaths of Cleary and Ferretti was continued yesterday to Sept. 26 pending determination of the cause of the blast.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

August 27, 1935.

THE old steam engine with its high pitched whistle and huge wheels is no longer spouting smoke here on the Yorkville farm. After being the center of activity in the big "threshing bee" for several days here, it has completed its task in harvesting the oat crop. The crew started in to thresh last Wednesday afternoon. The boys have been at it ever since, so everybody is glad to see the job done.

It looks very much as though the farm manager would have to start a school for hog calling on the Yorkville farm. Not everybody on the farm knows the fine art of yodeling to the swine, nor do the young pigs appreciate such vocal efforts.

Roy Atkinson and Charley Doetschman, the guides on the farm, are responsible for the discussion about the hog calling school. The other day when all the workers were busy with the harvest, Roy was told to feed the hogs. He didn't know how to call them to the feed lot, so he appealed to Charley, an experienced farm boy, to help him out.

Charley agreed to help, and he let go with his best tenor hog call. It rolled out across the field and down the woods with lots of power. The result, however, was disconcerting. The majority of the swine lifted their heads, heard this ear piercing yell, and promptly headed in the opposite direction at top speed. A few of the older porkers did respond to this call, but it was evident that Charley's hog calling game is not up to par here on the farm. Charley thinks it's because the sows' ears are attuned to too few wave lengths.

The last of the second cutting of alfalfa was baled in the field at the Wheaton farm early this week. The boys who weren't working in the hay field were pruning trees along the lane which runs north and south through the farm. The foliage is so thick along this lane that some of it had to be cut in order to allow the vehicles to get through.

The ring necked pheasants and the Chukar partridges have a new place to hunt insects and to explore this week. They have been moved to the garden along with their bantam-hen foster mothers. The bobwhite quail are scheduled to join these birds, if the little rascals will stay in one place long enough to be picked up and transported to their new home.

The boys who look after the test plots on the Wheaton farm have put in a formal request that new types of corns be grown right away. Although the varieties in the test plots are a big success, according to all the standards of farming, have grown well and in some cases are bearing four ears of corn, the boys have become dissatisfied with what the farm is growing ever since a farm visitor looked over the test plots last week.

This visitor, a woman, inspected the tall, luxuriant cornstalks, noted the ears on the stalks, and then exclaimed: "What, only a few ears on each cornstalk! Why, I thought you had an ear growing on every blade on the stalk."

Although neither the farm manager nor any of the crew ever saw or heard of a variety of corn that grows an ear to every leaf, the search is on for such varieties.

Judge Frees Six Seized in Raid on Poker Game

Six persons arrested by Sergt. Anthony Di Grazio of the Sheffield avenue police in a raid on a poker game in a pool hall at 2409 North Halsted street were discharged yesterday because of insufficient evidence by Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden in the Town Hall court. The defendants said they were merely playing "for fun," and the sergeant admitted he saw no money change hands. Previously it was reported erroneously that the raid was made at 835 Fullerton avenue, the address of one of the men arrested.

FREED AS LABATT KIDNAP SUSPECT AFTER 7 MONTHS

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Kingdon P. [Piccolo Pete] Murray of Covington, Ky., held for more than seven months in connection with the John S. Labatt kidnaping, was given into custody of immigration authorities for deportation today when the crown offered no evidence against him in County court.

Murray left Canadian soil tonight declining to say whether he would seek redress for the time he spent in jail. He crossed to Detroit where he will entrain for his Covington, Ky., home. His ticket and sufficient money for traveling expenses were provided by Canadian authorities.

Murray said he was "stone-broke," having sold his home, furniture, and automobile to raise funds for his unsuccessful fight against extradition from the United States.

Murray, arrested in Covington, Ky., last January, was brought into County court for an opportunity to change his election for immediate trial instead of by jury at the fall assizes.

He had been awaiting trial on a charge of kidnaping the London brewer in August, 1934, but Michael McCardell, confessed principal in the plot, declared in court yesterday that neither Piccolo Pete nor David Meisner, serving a 15 year prison term, had any connection with the crime.

It was on the evidence of McCardell that Jack Basil Bannon, former Windsor rum runner, was committed for trial at the fall assizes. Bannon was named by McCardell as one of the principals in the kidnaping, although he said he [McCardell], Albert Pegram, and Russell Knowles were the actual kidnapers.

There was no official comment on the position of Meisner, convicted by a jury last winter after 13 witnesses identified him as one of the abductors. A complete report on the case of Meisner would be forwarded by Newton to Arthur Roebuck, attorney general, it was said.

ALL-STARS READY; FACE BEARS TOMORROW

WHITE SOX LOSE TO YANKEES, 13-10; THEN WIN, 4-3

RIP RADCLIFF'S HOMER DECIDES SECOND GAME

Opener Is Just Fun for Batters.

BY STEWART OWEN.

The White Sox and the Yankees staged the thrilling third act of their great doubleheader spectacle at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon with even more ornate trimmings than on the first two days. They varied the routine this time, however, the Yankees winning the first game, 13 to 10, in a protracted struggle that went three hours and sixteen minutes before the Sox surrendered with two men on base in the ninth and the potential tying run at the plate.

RIP RADCLIFF.

The Sox came back to win the second battle, 4-3. This, in sharp contrast to the first, was a tightly played, well pitched contest. The victory evened the current series at 3-all and the season series between the two clubs at 8 apiece. Les Tietje for the Sox and Johnny Broaca for the Yankees were great pitchers for seven innings, but both went away in the eighth, Tietje because of wildness and Broaca for a pinch hitter after Rip Radcliff had soaked his 10th home run of the season with Tietje on base to break a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh and clinch the victory.

Strikeout Ends Game.

Vernon Kennedy, who relieved Tietje in the eighth with men on first and second and none out, cleaned up that session without a run, but he gave the fans a few anxious moments in the ninth when a pair of hits and an intentional pass filled the bases with one out. He pulled out nicely by forcing Selkirk to ground into a forceout on which a run scored, and then fanning Saltzgaver with the tying run on third base.

Lou Gehrig was walked five straight times in the second game but never managed to get around to the plate.

The first game had everything in it except good pitching, including a hilarious scene in the third inning in which play was held up for nearly a quarter of an hour while Umpire Charles Donnelly tried to make up his mind whether Jocko Conlan had hit a double or a triple, or whether he had made any hit at all.

Parade of Pitchers.

The Yankees were victorious very largely because the pitching of Sad Sam Jones, Carl Fischer, and Whitlow Wyatt was a shade worse than that of Pat Malone, Vito Tamulis, and Johnny Murphy, who threw the ball for the Yankees. Jones, Fischer, and Wyatt were pounded for a grand total of 18 hits, and passed out eight bases on balls, while the Sox could muster only 16 hits to mix with the six passes the visiting hurlers contributed to their attack.

Even with the discouraging work of their pitchers, the Sox kept plugging away until the final inning, when Al Simmons came out of his slump long enough to provide the grand finale with his 15th home run of the

CHICAGO PLAYERS ARE DEFEATED IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Stirred up by a northland gale that put a premium on wind-boring shots, a series of upsets hit the national women's golf tournament at Interlachen today, sweeping aside the tournament medalist and three former finalists.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, who came to Interlachen the favorite among 80 starters, remained so tonight. Back on the game that has netted her five championship and two runners-up positions since 1922, Glenna disposed of her rivals today with almost flawless golf. In the morning she shot even par for 14 holes to rout Edith Begg, Cleveland, 5 and 4. In the afternoon she slid three over par, but led all the way to eliminate an old rival, Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., 4 and 3.

Chicago Golfers Eliminated.

All members of the Chicago contingent were eliminated. Mrs. Lillian Zech was beaten by Betty Bauer of Providence, R. I., 5 and 4; Shirley Johnson lost to Ada Mackenzie, 2 and 1, and Ellamae Williams finished one down to Peggy Wattles in first round matches.

Mrs. T. G. Lowry won the morning match with Mrs. Hoblitzell of Parkersburg, W. Va., 2 and 1, but was beaten on the 20th hole of her afternoon match with Marion McDougal of Milwaukie, Ore.

Mrs. L. H. Selz beat Jean Kyer of Ann Arbor, Mich., 1 up in the first round but lost to Elizabeth Abbott, Los Angeles, 6 and 5, in the second round.

As the field of 64 qualifiers was

A 175 piece band, recruited from forty-two universities and colleges under the direction of Glenn Cliffe Bainum of Northwestern, will play and march between halves. . . . The entire job of organizing, drilling, and rehersing this mammoth group is being accomplished in three nights under floodlights at Dyche stadium, Evanston. . . . Seventy of the bandsmen are from Northwestern. . . . Other schools represented include Chicago, New York U., Miami U., Purdue, Alabama, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, George Washington, Notre Dame, De Paul, Carnegie Tech, Armour Tech, Morton Junior college, Aurora college, Allegheny and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. . . . George Kaplan and Earl Blumenthal, formerly of Illinois, who are said to be the greatest bass drummers the colleges have developed, have volunteered their services. . . . Three drum majors, T. H. Grady Jr. of Notre Dame, Dave Eisendrath of Chicago, and Raymond Barkus of St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines, will head the band. . . . Armin Hand's band and the Curtiss Kiltie band also will entertain. . . .

The college players will be presented individually under the glare of two huge spotlights located atop the colonnades on either side of Soldiers' field. . . . Hand's band will play the chorus of the player's college song while he trots from the runway to his position on the field. . . . Slip Madigan of St. Mary's, Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin, Charles Bachman of Michigan State, and Frank Thomas, coaches of the college team, then will be presented in that order. . . . Then the spotlights shift to the west side of the field to pick up Luke Johnsos, Red Grange, and George Halas individually, after which the entire Bear team will romp out together. . . .

BEARS RETURN TODAY; SCHEDULE DRILL TONIGHT

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 27.—Trunks were packed tonight and a fidgety bunch of Chicago Bears awaited the bus that will take them to Chicago, where they will hold their final practice tomorrow for Thursday's All-Star game at Soldiers' field.

Sixteen days of virtual isolation at St. John's Military academy was brought to a close today with a long dummy scrimmage on defensive maneuvers in the morning and a lecture in the evening. Tomorrow's drill on Soldiers' field will be just a routine pre-game session to acquaint kickers and safety men with the air currents in the lake front stadium and to accustom players to the new lights.

Leave Camp Today.

The Bears will leave here tomorrow noon not particularly pleased with the results of the 28 workouts. They had expected to be nearer midseason form, especially in timing and unity. They have not been overly apprehensive about reports of the All-Stars' exceptional strength, nor are they confident of victory. Experienced observers believe them to be in the perfect frame of mind for the game.

Injuries still worry Coach George Halas. Eleven men are burdened with reminders of the last two weeks' rigorous drill, but most of them are expected to be ready for play Thursday night.

After checking with the patients today, Halas was unable to name a complete starting lineup. Bill Hewitt, generally conceded to be the greatest end in football, will be at his regular place at the left side of the line. Art Buss, burly tackle, will be in Link Lyman's old place beside Hewitt. Right tackle will be entrusted to George Musso, who has starred there for two seasons.

Positions Are Problems.

The other line positions are problems, what with Bill Karr's injury and Halas being unable to decide whether to string along with his regular guards, Kopcha and Carlson, or rely on Richards and Zeller, who have stood out in scrimmages. The center assignment will be shared by Ed Kawal and Ookie Miller. Miller works with the Richards-Zeller combination and Kawal with Carlson and Kopcha.

The two back field certainties are Jack Manders, the inspired full back who will start in place of Bronko Nagurski, and Bernie Masterson, who will make his first start as regular quarter back. George Corbett and Reds Pollock substitute for Beattie Feathers. John Sisk relieves Gene Ronzani. The half backs will be selected from this quintet.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Bohn Hilliard, half back from the University of Texas who is now a member of the All-Star squad, has already given football fans of the Chicago district good reason to remember him. And in tomorrow night's game with the Bears, there's a probability that he will confirm that first impression made in last year's encounter between Texas and Notre Dame.

Early last fall thousands of Chicago district football fans journeyed to South Bend to watch Notre Dame open its season against Texas. Particular interest was attached to this game because it was Notre Dame's first appearance under the coaching of Elmer Layden, and the Texas team was in its first season under Jack Chevigny, another former Notre Dame star.

One Run May Be Enough.

It was Hilliard who delivered the deciding punch. He slipped through the Irish defense for a touchdown and then kicked goal for the point which gave Texas a 7 to 6 victory.

Those who saw Hilliard perform on that occasion will be eager to see him again tomorrow night. Though the opposition will be tougher than any he's ever faced, his followers are confident that he will be able to break away for at least one of his sensational runs—and that may be all that will be necessary to decide the game.

What a Start!

Hilliard has performed particularly well during the training season at Dyche stadium. Having worked under Chevigny last year, he was thoroughly familiar with the Notre Dame system to begin with. Then the heat which distressed some of the players didn't bother him particularly, because warm weather during early season workouts is nothing new to a Texan.

Furthermore, he's had experience under lights, for two of his team's games last year were played at night. He was well prepared physically, also, before the practice sessions began, for he had spent most of the early summer playing on a baseball team. So, from every angle, Hilliard would appear to be ready for anything when tomorrow night's game begins.

Hilliard started his football career auspiciously at Texas, taking the ball 5 yards behind his own goal line and racing 105 yards for a touchdown in a freshman game against Rice institute. He made the varsity in his sophomore year and was elected co-captain last season.

20,000 Seats Available

You still have time to get a ticket to football's greatest spectacle, the game between the College All-Americans and Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field tomorrow night. Twenty thousand of the 92,000 seats still are available. The prices are $1.65 and $1.10. All are reserved.

No more mail orders will be accepted. The only places you may purchase tickets are at The Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and the first floor of Tribune Tower.

Cool, Clear Weather Forecast.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Everybody and everything are all set for the great football spectacle at Soldiers' field tomorrow evening—the clash between the College All-Americans and the Chicago Bears. The weather man, the only fellow who possibly could keep the game from being a magnificent, colorful show and significant test of two divergent styles of football, is going along with a spirit of enthusiastic coöperation. Indications are that the 80,000 or more spectators will view the battle under clear skies while the athletes themselves will be blessed with cool, crisp temperatures.

Coaches and players are snorting for tomorrow night to come. They are ready and eager for the test. The days of whimsical high score prophecies and formal melancholia are over. The time is near enough to call a spade a spade. The coaches and the players admit it's going to be a tough game with neither side enjoying much of an edge.

Even the boys in the ticket office are in fine fettle. Enough tickets have been sold to assure a turnout as big as that which attended last year's game. Still they aren't ready to chase any one home without a ticket. About 20,000 tickets—at $1.65 and $1.10—still are available at the Tribune Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower.

The gates will not be closed until 92,000 have found seats. Gatekeepers have been instructed to be kind and firm if the expected fine weather brings out a gathering in excess of 92,000. But right now there are 20,000 reserved seats for sale and it is hoped that there will be enough tickets at the arena to take care of those negligent souls who always wait till the last minute when something big is going on.

Coaches Are Confident.

Head Coach Frank Thomas and his assistants, Charley Bachman, Doc Spears, and Slip Madigan, attended luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Sherman yesterday afternoon. They didn't reveal any tactical secrets, but not one of them seemed at all worried about the prospects of their All-Americans.

In an interview after the luncheon Mr. Thomas said that he is concerned about the prestige of the college type of game as contrasted with the professional game, but that he also had taken the customers into consideration.

"I did not see last year's game and have no desire to criticize it in any way," said the skipper of the All-American crew. "I feel certain, however, that those who were disappointed in the scoreless aspects of the game last year won't go home Thursday night without seeing at least one touchdown.

"I'm not saying which team will make the one or more touchdowns, but I know we're going to open up the play and I am confident that the contest will be a crowd pleaser, whichever side wins."

Hold Dress Rehearsal.

You're going to get a kick out of the uniforms if you like elegant raiment. The All-Americans will be caparisoned even more elegantly than they were last year. They will wear gold helmets and gold jerseys, silver

Bill Bevan (38), Minnesota guard, holds ball for Regis Monahan (41), Ohio State place kicking star. They can also reverse play, for Bevan is a great kicker.

Eleven All-Americans charge down the Soldiers' field gridiron in signal practice last night as the college stars hold dress rehersal for their battle with the Chicago Bears tomorrow evening. They are wearing their new uniforms of gold helmets, gold jersies, silver pants and gold and silver socks. Huge numbers make players easy to identify for the more than 80,000 who will attend football's greatest show. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

TRAFIC PLANS COMPLETED FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Here Are Rules for Auto Drivers Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Arrangements were completed yesterday in the offices of the superintendent of Soldiers' field to handle the crowd which will attend the All-Americans' football game against the Chicago Bears tomorrow night. The attendance is expected to equal, if not surpass, the 80,000 which saw the first contest last summer sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

One hundred city policemen will be assigned for trafic and patrol duty, while the remainder of the force of 271 will be assigned by the Chicago Park district. Each of the fifty gates and the twenty ticket booths will be manned by police.

Keep Field Clear.

In addition to those directing the flow of trafic, officers will be stationed to maintain the lines within the stadium. Field passes, for photographers, telephone men, and officials, have been reduced to an absolute minimum in a determined effort to keep the field cleared.

Here are the trafic facts:

FREE AUTOMOBILE PARKING—There is room for 800 automobiles south of Soldiers' field and west of the north bound trafic lane.

OTHER PARKING—For fifty cents you can park [capacity 4,000 cars] south of Soldiers' field and east of the north bound trafic lane. This is within the grounds of the Century of Progress. Entrances are located at 14th street, 16th street, and 23d street.

AUTOMOBILE TRAFIC—Will move as usual until 15 minutes before the end of the game when all trafic shall be closed in the following areas. 31st street on the south, all bridges and approaches from Grant park, except in-coming empty buses and taxi cabs.

TAXICABS—Will unload at 14th street going south and at any gate going north. May be secured after the game in the Court of Honor north of the stadium.

BUSES—Will bring their south side lines over the 23d street bridge on the day of the game. From the north buses will unload in the Court of Honor. Buses will be available after the game at the Court of Honor north of the stadium. Special service will be offered with transfers from regular lines.

SURFACE LINES—Special service available before and after game at Roosevelt road and 18th street terminals. Cermak road cars will be run to 18th street. Other special cars will be run on Clark street south from Devon avenue to the Roosevelt terminal.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL—Twenty special trains from Blue Island, Kensington, and South Chicago before game and the same number after game with stops at 12th street [Roosevelt road] and 18th street. Extra equipment and additonal ticket sellers. Patrons are requested, if possible, to adjust the load by leaving stadium by gate "O" at south end and taking trains at 18th street.

Automobile trafic will be facilitated if cars go south after the game to 23d street and then north for north bound car owners. This will prevent a jam at street exits in Grant park.

Gates Open at 6:30.

Gates will open at 6:30 tomorrow evening. Andy Frain will have a force of 550 ushers to handle the crowd.

All odd numbered gates are located on the west side of the Stadium; even numbered gates are on the east side. Sound trucks at Gate O and Gate 47 will broadcast this information.

Gates 11, 12, 29, and 30 [the stairways] will not be used.

The Stadium field is covered each night. In event of rain, announcement will be made by 6 o'clock tomorrow night of postponement. THE TRIBUNE holds an option on Soldiers' field for Friday and Saturday nights.

Those attending yesterday's trafic meeting at Soldiers' field were:

Lieut. David Flynn, chief of trafic, Chicago police department; Capt. Michael C. Hayes, chief of Chicago park district police; Capt. Edward Redd, Chicago park district; J. B. O'Connell, assistant superintendent of transportation of the Chicago surface lines; Howard Johnson, assistant superintendent of the Chicago Motor Coach company; H. S. Hardin, general superintendent of the Chicago Rapid Transit company; J. G. Coyle, of the Yellow Cab company; Paul J. Mottz, city passenger agent of the Illinois Central R. R., and Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer of the Chicago park district.

BERZ IS NAMED STATE DIRECTOR OF N. Y. A. PLANS

Appointment of Harry Berz, 3857 Polk street, organizer of recreational activities, as Illinois director of community recreational programs under the National Youth administration was announced yesterday by William J. Campbell, state administrator.

Campbell said Berz would begin immediately to plan a method for the use of leisure by men and women from 16 to 25. The National Youth administration is a part of the Works Progress administration.

A Chicagoan, Ber is a member of seven A. A. U. committees and a director of the annual national boxing tournament. He has participated in directing athletic promotional events for all Chicago newspapers.

Winner trained by M. Lowenstein. Went to post at 2:15½. At post three minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

PETER J. PEEL, well up from start but forced to race very wide in early stages, slowly disposed of JOHNNY BANE, then came away gradually under strong pressure. OH DOLLY, near middle of track throughout, closed boldly. JOHNNY BANE, away fast and having speed, saved ground after first quarter and held on well to last sixteenth, then faltered badly.

Winner trained by J. V. Stewart. Went to post at 2:46. At post one minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

SOCK DOLOGER, having ample room throughout but forced a trifle wide on the turn, raced between horses soon after reaching stretch, where he moved fast and, after wearing down the leaders, came away rapidly in closing strides. FAITHFUL MAUD, a strong factor from the start, secured room on inside in stretch and fought it out gamely in the drive. RICKEY ROO, away fast and having the most speed, was aided by good riding and only gave way in closing strides.

SHINING HOUR, fractious at post but away well, saved ground to final three sixteenths, and, after coming around LOOK OUT BELOW in final eighth, was kept under a drive to the end. OPENING NIGHT, fractious at post, was a contender from the start and held on gamely. LOOK OUT BELOW, rushed into command, saved ground after five-sixteenths and displayed good speed, but weakened badly after five-eighths.

H. Ferguson. Went to post at 3:45½. At post six minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

MISS WISE followed the early pace under light restraint, worked her way to front under hand riding, and faltered in late stages. MABEL KRASA never much ground, was a strong factor throughout, and held on gamely. MOUSE TRAP displayed speed from the start, saved ground on stretch turn, and fought it out with good courage.

TRANSMUTABLE took command with a rush, was steadied around the turn under strong restraint, and, though swerving out, continued with fine speed to final eighth, where he weakened, but, under vigorous urging, withstood SALAAM'S bid. The latter, forced to go around throughout and under severe pressure the final five-sixteenths, closed stoutly. VISIGOTH, far back for half a mile, came through on inside while gaining steadily thereafter.

INFINITATE, slightly improved, was under steadying restraint for three-quarters, stood a drive gamely, and outfinished NORMAN D. and VANITA right at the end. NORMAN D., under the pace under snug restraint and, holding on well, gave way in closing strides. VANITA, also under restraint for three-quarters, responded well after reaching final three-sixteenths, but gave way slightly in final strides.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 5:15½. At post two minutes. Start good. Won driving; place same.

SIX BELLS, rushed to the lead after half a mile, drew out fast on stretch turn and weakened thereafter, but held SENATOR MIKE safe. The latter, under restraint for a mile, held on well, but did not seriously endanger the winner. PORT O' PLAY improved his position gradually after five-eighths and finished well.

Winner trained by N. W. Burkhart. Went to post at 5:44½. At post 1½ minutes. Start good. Won handily; place driving.

TIGERS CAPTURE DOUBLE-HEADER FROM ATHLETICS

Win Opener, 6 to 5; Then Triumph, 5 to 0.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers continued their pennant drive in the American league today as they swept a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5 and 5 to 0.

A crowd of 32,000 saw Schoolboy Rowe, turning in his 16th victory, strike out twelve, within one of Merritt Cain's season record, yield five hits, and issue one base on balls in the second game.

George Turbeville, recruit right-hander, held the Tigers to one hit for six innings, but in the seventh the league champions got to him for four hits and four runs and then added another in the eighth.

Wildness of Carl Doyle decided the opener, despite the fact the Tigers made only seven hits to 12 for the A's. Doyle issued nine bases on balls, walking two men with the bases full to force in two runs in the third. In the ninth he passed three straight following Fox's double to force the winning run across the plate.

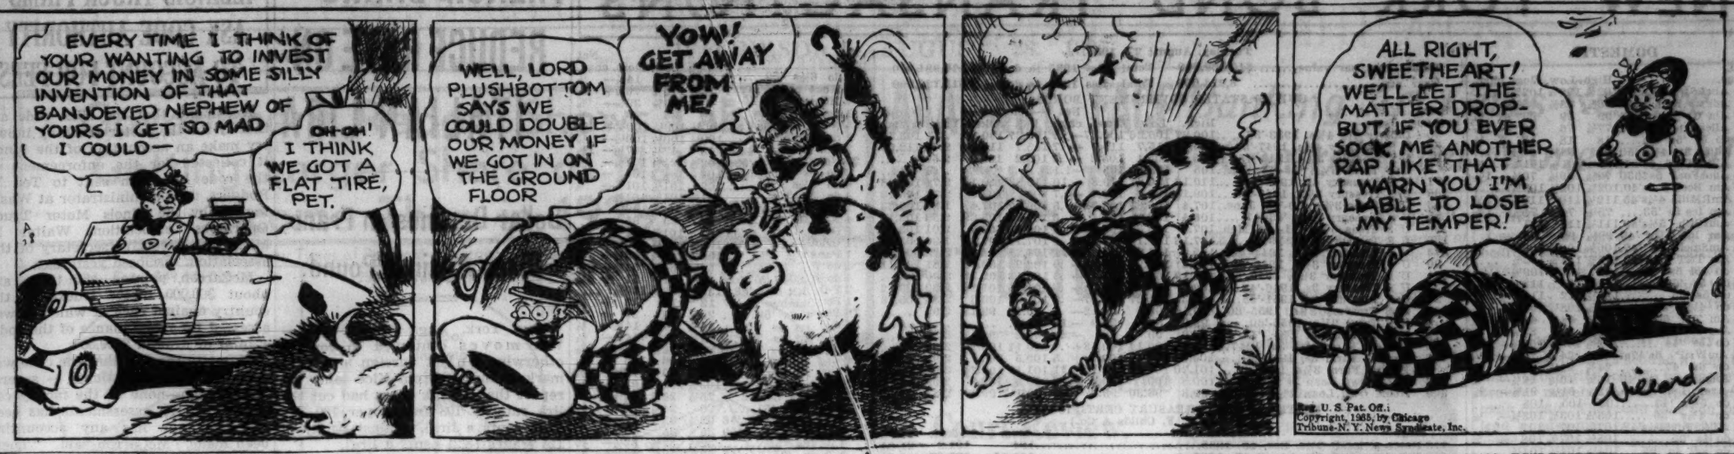
MOON MULLINS—THE COW PUNCHER



Sox Lose to Yanks, 13-10; Then Win, 4-3

FIRST GAME

The Sox outbreak which scored three runs in the second inning of the first game started with Dykes' double off the right field scoreboard. Conlan sent his boss to third with a sacrifice bunt and Sewell drove him home with a single to left. Jones walked and he and Sewell moved up on a wild pitch. Malone then passed Radcliff to fill the bases, but Simmons foiled this double play strategy by taking three straight balls and then three straight strikes without even offering to hit a ground ball. Piet slashed his second straight hit into center field, scoring Sewell and Jones.

Third Brings Uproar.

The Sox's third inning which produced the tumultuous debate that kept the spectators, the players of both teams and the umpires in an uproar for a quarter of an hour started with Dykes being plunked in the back with a pitched ball after Bonura had fouled to Rolfe. Conlan then slashed a hit down the right field foul line and with Umpire Donnelly at the plate waving the foul signal and Umpire Bill Summers at first base flashing the go sign, Jocko raced around to third base, while Dykes trotted home.

Donnelly's opinion seemed about to prevail when the entire Sox team rushed out of the dugout and harangued him for five minutes. After a conference of the two umpires Donnelly agreed that the ball was fair, a decision which brought the Yankees, led by Joe McCarthy, storming onto the field. They were unable to change Donnelly's mind again about where the ball landed, but they did convert him to the idea that Conlan was entitled to only two bases, for some unexplained reason.

They're Out Again.

This brought another outpouring from the Sox dugout and Donnelly changed over a third time, ruling finally that Conlan had tripled. This brought a tirade from McCarthy that continued through the next two innings until Donnelly walked over to the Yanks' dugout and squelched him.

When the field had been cleared of orators, Sewell singled for the second time to left, scoring Conlan and sending Malone to the showers. Jones greeted Tamulis with a double to left, putting Sewell on third, but Radcliff grounded to Ryan and Simmons flied to Chapman to end the inning.

Yanks Score in Fourth.

The Yankees broke into the run column in the fourth as a result of a two base error by Al Simmons on Ryan's high fly with one out. Tamulis and Hill walked, filling the bases. Rolfe fouled to Sewell, but Chapman beat out a roller to Dykes, scoring Ryan. Gehrig slammed a single into center, sending Tamulis and Hill home. Selkirk grounded out to Piet.

The visitors added another run in the fifth on Saltzgaver's single and Ryan's triple to right center, and then went into the lead with a bombardment that removed Jones from the scene in the sixth. After Piet had thrown out Rolfe, Chapman singled to center. Gehrig drove his third successive single into right and went to second on Conlan's futile throw to third in an effort to get Chapman. That was all for Jones, and Fischer came in to pitch to Selkirk. He got the Yankee right fielder on a grounder to Piet, Chapman scoring, but Dickey singled to center, scoring Gehrig. Saltzgaver walked and Ryan slapped a single over second to score Dickey.

Not So Fast, Luke!

Piet was safe at first to open the Sox sixth when the Yank second baseman juggled his easy grounder. Piet raced to third when Appling followed with a hit to right. Luke was out, however, Selkirk to Rolfe to Ryan, when he thought he could reach second on Selkirk's throw to third. Saltzgaver caught Bonura's popup, but he let Dykes' roller go through his legs and Piet scored.

The Yankees ran the score to 10 to 6 in the seventh on a single by Hill, a double by Chapman, a base on balls to Gehrig, and a triple by Dickey. Wyatt came in and forced Ryan to foul to Bonura for the third out.

Three more Yankee runs streamed across the plate in the eighth. Tamulis doubled over Radcliff's head, went to third on Hill's sacrifice, and scored on Rolfe's triple to right center. Chapman grounded to Appling and Rolfe was trapped between third and home, but when Dykes tossed badly to Bonura, who covered the plate during the rundown, Rolfe scored and Chapman ended up on third. Wyatt tossed out Gehrig, but Selkirk singled to center to score Chapman.

The Sox got one run in their half of the eighth on a walk to Appling, a single by Bonura, a walk to Dykes, and a forceout at second by Jackie Hayes, who batted for Conlan with the bases full.

Wyatt led off the ninth with a terrific triple off the wall in right center. Radcliff was safe at first when Tamulis dropped Saltzgaver's throw, Wyatt holding third. Simmons drove his 15th homer of the season into the left field stands, scoring Wyatt and Radcliff and removing Tamulis from the mound. Murphy came in to pitch and set down Piet on a popup to Ryan. Rolfe threw out Appling. Bonura singled and Hopkins walked. Washington batted for Haas and ended the struggle with a long fly to Hill.

20,000 Crowd at Sox Games Sets Week Day Record

The 20,000 who saw yesterday's double-header between the Yankees and the White Sox was the largest week day crowd of the season at Comiskey park and raised the total attendance for the first three days of the double-header series to 75,000.

When Mule Haas entered the game in the eighth inning in place of Jocko Conlan in right field it was the first time he had been in the line-up since he injured his wrist in batting practice on Aug. 1.

Manager Jimmy Dykes will start Ted Lyons and Johnny Whitehead in today's double-header. The Yankees are expected to come back with Allen and Ruffing.

Al Simmons was out of the lineup in the second game with a split finger on his right hand. The injury was caused by a high fly hit by Blondy Ryan in the fourth inning which Al dropped to start the Yankees on a three run rally.

SECOND GAME

The Yankees got away to a one run lead in the second inning of the second game when Glenn led off by beating out a hit to Tietje, went to third on Ryan's single to center, and came home while Appling was throwing out Hill.

The Sox had men on base in the first and second, but didn't get around to scoring until the fourth. Appling walked with one down and moved to second while Bonura was bouncing out to Rolfe. Dykes walked and then Vernon Washington doubled to right center, scoring Appling and Dykes.

Rolfe Ties Score.

Rolfe led off the fifth with a triple past Radcliff and came in with the tying run on Chapman's fly to Washington.

The tie breaking blast in the Sox's seventh began with a single to right by Tietje. Radcliff tried to lay down a bunt, but fouled the ball, so instead of sacrificing, he slammed the ball into the lower deck in right field for his tenth homer, scoring Tietje and putting the Sox ahead, 4 to 2.

Tietje walked Saltzgaver at the outset of the eighth and that started him into the discard. Dickey batted for Glenn and when Tietje passed him, too, on four pitched balls, Dykes decided Les had done enough work and called in Kennedy. Ruffing batted for Ryan and forced Dickey at second, Bonura to Appling. Hoag ran for Ruffing. Lazzeri batted for Broaca and hit into a double play, Dykes to Piet to Bonura.

Yanks Get One in Ninth.

Hill drilled a single into left opening the ninth and Rolfe forced him at second, Appling to Piet. Piet knocked down Chapman's hard grounder and when the ball bounded into right field Chapman raced to second and Hill to third. Gehrig was passed. Selkirk forced Gehrig, Dykes to Piet, Rolfe scoring. Kennedy then struck out Saltzgaver to end the game.

Kill 660,000 Ducks on 'Fed' Land in 1934

BY BOB BECKER.

Approximately 660,000 wild ducks were killed last season in the United States by hunters shooting over baited ground. This is the figure released by the department of agriculture in Washington after counting up all the detailed reports from the holders of special feeding permits last season. The 660,000 ducks were taken by 44,000 hunters. In other words, the duck hunters who shot over ground or water where feeding was practiced averaged 15 ducks per man during the season. Granting that the 660,000 figure is not correct and we credit each of the 44,000 hunters with 20 birds during the season, we still think that the totals are surprisingly low.

The biological survey issued 3,003 permits, of which 126 were surrendered and 3 canceled. About 170 of those receiving permits did not make a report. There were permits issued in 36 states. In addition to 661,204 ducks, 11,140 geese and 739 brant were killed on grounds or over water where feeding was permitted.

Although judging by the terrific barrage of indictments directed against Illinois as the "worst state in the Union" in this game of putting out feed for waterfowl, one might expect Illinois hunters to have killed more birds over baited grounds than those of any other six states. However, California ranks first in the kill with 209,097 ducks taken. More than 10,000 hunters accounted for this number. Illinois came second with a bag of 161,935 ducks by 12,958 hunters.

HOUSEHOLDER TO GET BATTLE IN MIDGET RACES

The task of whipping Ronnie Householder and his red No. 77 is the problem race drivers face tonight at the Chicago Midget speedway, Lincoln and Devon at McCormick boulevard. Ten races, starting at 8:30 o'clock, will be held.

Cubs Rained Out; Play Two Games Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—Rain kept the third place Cubs away from their scheduled work today, but the unlooked for vacation probably was more beneficial than harmful. Anyway, that's how Charley Grimm's lads viewed it. They figured the second straight day of leisure would eliminate any letdown that might have followed their strenuous labors at New York where they toppled over the staggering Giants in three out of four games. Besides, it provided an extra day of rest for the veteran Charley Root, who was supposed to take care of the pitching this afternoon.

Neither did the postponement cause any complications in the schedule. Even if today's affair against the Braves had been staged there would have been a double-header tomorrow, the Thursday game having been previously moved up. That would have left Thursday open, but the Cubs were going to stay here anyway because Grimm didn't want his fellows to go to Pittsburgh and stay in the same hotel with the Cardinals whom he feared might scare his boys with their pennant boasts. As it stands now the Cubs will play a single game here Thursday.

Discards Big Four Plan.

Grimm's plans for inaugurating the services of a new big four made up of Root, Larry French, Lon Warneke, and Bill Lee have gone into the discard even before the revised scheme could be launched. Tex Carleton has been restored to a starting role, Grimm said today. The ex-Cardinal is going to be in charge during Thursday's game at least as long as he can keep matters in control. Grimm says he made this change so as to save French for one of the two week-end games at Pittsburgh. Grimm also may have remembered that the Braves constitute Carleton's pet opponent.

Old man Root, who has a record of 11 victories and 7 defeats, will be paired up tomorrow in the double-header with Lon Warneke, whose record isn't so hot but who still is regarded as something far better than an every day country pitcher.

Warneke Wins 14.

Warneke did a swell piece of work beating the Giants 4 to 3 in the opener last Thursday and then coming back in the final on Sunday to assist in saving the decision for Bill Lee. Warneke's victory over the Giants gave him his 14th triumph of the year and lifted him one over the .500 mark. Warneke should be due for a flashy finish to what for him is an ordinary season, and if that happens the Cubs are going to be mighty tough for the two other contenders.

It's Grimm's Birthday.

Manager Grimm is going to have a birthday anniversary tomorrow and the occasion will be marked by presentation ceremonies. His boys are going to give him a bronze desk clock with sundry attachments such as a thermometer, pen, hot and cold water and a ready reference for percentages.

The boys have had the gift engraved to show it is Grimm's 37th birthday but the record book shows Grimm should be 36 and if he isn't sure which is correct. Anyway, he is going to take the present even if the reckoning is wrong.

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Bond prices turned downward today in a wave of reaction that was most pronounced in further sharp losses for government bonds. The drop was particularly sharp for the built-up advances of recent weeks continued to crumble under the flight caused by enactment of the utility bill.

The bond market as a whole, reflecting weakness in stocks, was pessimistic as the result of a combination of factors, among which increasing liquidation of government issues was significant. The foreign situation and the gathering effect of new legislation were other factors.

U. S. Bonds Break Early.

The break in governments was sharp during the early part of the session, the long term 2⅞s hitting a new low at 99 8-32, a new low for the year, before any buying appeared to produce a faint recovery. They closed at 99 12-32. HOLC and FFMC bonds also dropped back.

At the close treasury loans were from 5-32ds to 10-32ds net lower. Guaranteed obligations of the government ranged from 8-32ds higher to 20-32ds lower. Banks were reported liquidating moderately and almost wholly disinterested in buying despite the recent decline.

Murray Body Bonds Drop.

Murray Body 6½s furnished the biggest fireworks in the corporate division with a drop of 7⅛ points. The issue gained around 9 points in the previous session. Baltimore and Ohio 4½s were off 1⅜; American and Foreign Power 5s, off 1⅝; American Rolling Mill 4¼s, off 1¼; Nickel Plate 4½s, off 1½, and Portland General Electric 4½s, off 2¼ points. Chicago-Terre Haute 5s were 1¼ higher.

Transfers of $16,820,000 par value were the largest, with one exception, since last June 20, and compared with $12,657,000 on Monday. The turnover in governments aggregated $7,150,000, against $6,670,000 the day before.

Columbus Mutual Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: I am the holder of a policy in Columbus Mutual Life Insurance company. Please give me information on it.—J. L. A.

Answer: Columbus Mutual Life Insurance company, a stock company of Columbus, O., was incorporated in 1927. Life insurance in force reached its peak of $139,545,000 at the close of 1931, but has since dropped off to $131,026,000 as of Dec. 31, 1934.

Despite the dropping off of insurance in force, amount of assets has held steady; in fact, has showed a slight increase. Admitted assets were $23,000 at the close of 1934, against $22,723,000 the year before and $22,-[illegible] on Dec. 31, 1932.

On Dec. 31, 1934, resources consisted of the following items: Real estate, $3,103,000; mortgages, $10,-[illegible],000; bonds, $3,844,000; cash, $569,-000, and policy loans, $3,892,000. Net reserves to secure life insurance policies were $16,467,000 and net surplus to policy holders was $2,008,000. An investment fluctuation fund of $150,-000 was set up to take care of any possible losses on the investment account.

Income in 1934 was $5,615,000 and disbursements were $4,654,000. The company earned a return of 3½ per cent on its assets in 1934, 4.3 per cent in 1933, and 4.8 per cent in 1932. The downward trend in earnings is typical of results of insurance companies generally.

Assets are fairly well diversified. Expenses and lapses are low and the mortality rate is favorable.

Firestone Cotton Mills 5s.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me some information about Firestone 5s, due 1948?—W. C. B.

Answer: Although earnings of Firestone Cotton Mills are not available, those of Firestone Tire and Rubber company, guarantor of the 5s due 1948, indicate an adequate margin of coverage over a period of years.

Firestone Tire and Rubber earned a profit of $2,155,000 in the six months to April 30, 1935, against $1,522,000 in the six months to April 30, 1934. Net income after all charges in the year ended Oct. 31, 1934, was $4,155,000, against $2,397,000, $5,152,000, and $6,029,000 for preceding years.

Firestone Tire and Rubber's current position on Oct. 31, 1934, was strong. Working capital was well over two times total funded debt of $17,350,000.

Firestone Cotton Mills 5s, due 1948, are sound. The bonds are callable at 101½ on any interest date on 30 days' notice until March 1, 1938, and thereafter at 101.

STOCKS SUFFER WORST BREAK IN NEARLY A YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—Instead of the rollicking "celebration" which it was widely expected to put on with the adjournment of congress, the stock market ran into a squall of selling orders today and cracked up rather ignobly. Prices broke from 1 to 5 points in the worst break since last Oct. 15. The rush to unload left the ticker as much as two or three minutes behind at times. Final figures were not much above the lows of the day, although the liquidation tended to dry up somewhat in the last hour of trading. Utilities were especially hard hit.

Much of the liquidation appeared to consist of shares purchased recently. The market had been moving ahead with only minor interruptions since early in June. The drop in government securities prices to new lows for the movement accelerated the decline.

Volume Over 2 Million Shares.

As prices moved downward a big flock of stop loss orders was touched off, speeding up the move. Turnover totaled 2,125,920 shares.

The break followed a promising opening in which a number of issues had been bid up to new highs in what was interpreted as a general relief at the adjournment of congress. Traders, however, apparently followed the adage of "sell on the good news."

United States Steel common closed at 43⅜, off 2¼ points, the preferred falling 4 points to 105½. Westinghouse dropped 2⅜ points and Woolworth declined a point. American Telephone and General Electric were 1½ points lower, while American Can dropped 2¾ points.

Among rails Santa Fe was down 2⅛ points, Baltimore and Ohio 1⅛, and New York Central 2¼. Mail order stocks were characterized by drops of 2⅞ points in Sears-Roebuck and 1 point in Montgomery Ward. General Motors at its final level was down 1⅛ points, Consolidated Gas was off 3, and Bethlehem Steel 1⅛. National Distillers and Standard Oil of New Jersey lost only fractionally.

Power Issues Hard Hit.

Losses of 3, 4, and 5 points were common in the power and light group. Among the outstanding victims of this sector were the common and preferred issues of American and Foreign Power, American Power and Light, Commonwealth and Southern, Pacific Gas and Electric, Brooklyn Union, and Consolidated Gas. Implications of the holding company elimination bill provided a little extra worry for the utilities.

So-called "war baby" issues, including the steels, chemicals, and airplanes, were compelled to take their medicine with the rest of the list. Besides U. S. Steel, Inland, Otis, and Bethlehem, all recent beneficiaries from the European war talk sold off sharply.

Farm stocks were freely sold, and even silver mine shares came in for a drubbing.

CHICAGO PRICES TUMBLE

A wave of selling broke prices all along the line yesteray on the Chicago Stock exchange. Losses ranged as high as 3 points. Only eight of the 99 issues traded made advances and 28 closed unchanged. Of the 63 issues to lose ground 19 receded a point or more.

Noblitt Sparks registered the only new 1935 high of the session and confined its subsequent loss to a quarter point. All advances for the day were fractional except for a 1½ point rise in Quaker Oats, which closed at 134½. Losses of a point or more were registered by a variety of issues. Utilities held up better than the rest of the list. Neither Commonwealth Edison nor Public Service felt any selling pressure.

REYNOLDS SPRING RAISES DIVIDEND RATE TO $1 YEAR

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The Reynolds Spring company declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents, placing the stock on a $1 annual basis, compared with 50 cents previously. In June an extra of 10 cents was declared, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents. Charles G. Munn, president, said the molding division has orders on hand which assure this plant of capacity operations beginning Sept. 1.

Waldorf system declared a quarterly dividend of 12½ cents, payable Oct. 1, placing the stock on a 50 cents annual basis. The last dividend paid was 20 cents in December, 1934.

Clorox Chemical declared an extra dividend of 12½ cents and the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents, both payable Oct. 1.

Investment of Philadelphia declared an extra payment of 25 cents and the quarterly of 50 cents, both payable Sept. 14.

J. M. (100%) NICHOLS, CHICAGO BANKER, TO END FIGHT ON FDIC

J. M. (100 Per Cent) Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, is getting ready to sign an armistice with the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

Not that he believes in the principle of deposit insurance any more than he ever did—he doesn't. But Nichols believes there no longer is real danger in being a member of the FDIC, now that the new banking act has been passed limiting assessments on members to ½ of 1 per cent of deposits.

Nichols became known nationally for his steadfast refusal to permit his bank to join the FDIC and for his sharp letters to federal officials. From the first he trained his heaviest guns on the power of the FDIC to raise assessments to any figure it might choose.

"If it hasn't any jokers," he said, "we will go along. What else can we do? They have done what we asked in taking out the unlimited liability we kicked about. The way it stood before they could assess us $5,000, or $50,000, or $500,000—anything they pleased—and kill the bank.

"But they aren't going to have a rope around my neck. We'll see if there are any jokers. If not, we'll start in from the first of the month—but we won't pay a nickel on the old assessments they have been trying to collect."

For the amount of money now involved—$5,230 annually on the basis of the $6,277,000 deposits as of last June 29—Nichols is of the opinion that membership is the easiest road.

DAWES OBSERVES 70TH BIRTHDAY; MUM ON FUTURE

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the City National bank and former Vice President of the United States, yesterday celebrated his seventieth birthday, receiving the congratulations of friends all over the country, but declining to make any comment.

Last winter he surprised the business world by predicting for this summer the beginning of "the first year of business recovery." Asked by newspaper men for a statement yesterday Gen. Dawes replied: "I am flattered by your request, but not seduced." He indicated he might have something to say about the progress of business recovery next month.

CANADIAN WHEAT LOSS IS PLACED AT 100 MILLIONS

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Farmers of western Canada will lose approximately $100,000,000 because of wheat rust this year, taking 80 cents a bushel as the average price for wheat, Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of experimental farms, believes. He said western grain fields had been struck by the worst epidemic of black stem rust ever experienced in Canada.

"According to estimates made about 10 days ago there will be a total reduction in the west of about 102,000,000 bushels," he said. Added to the loss in volume would be a reduction in the grades of wheat which would almost equal the monetary loss involved in the decreased yield.

Utilities Plan Legal Fight on "Death" Law

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A prompt test of the constitutionality of the public utilities act was projected today even though holding company sections, branded as a "death sentence" of the measure do not become effective until 1938.

Utilities lawyers, studying the new law for vulnerable spots, asserted they had devised a plan whereby their contention that the law is invalid, in the section ordering abolition of most holding companies, could be taken to the courts almost at once.

The scheme contemplates an application to the Securities and Exchange commission for permission to engage in activities which would conflict with the dissolution order two years hence.

A holding company, for instance, could seek approval of a bond issue to be backed by unchallengeable assets, such as a first lien on physical property. Such security is recognized by the act itself as valid basis for borrowing money from the public.

Put Issue Up to SEC.

However, since the bonds would not mature for some years, and the company would be subject meanwhile to a dissolution order from the commission, the probabilities were said to be that the commission would refuse to approve the issue.

Such refusal could be taken at once to the courts, challenging the constitutionality of all phases of the law directly involved.

Asked their opinion on whether the law could be attacked through such procedure, administration aids who were prominent in the formulation of the bill expressed belief that it could.

"As soon as the commission issues an order, based even indirectly upon the act, a company which believes itself aggrieved can take itself to the courts for a test of constitutionality," one of them said.

Will Test Legality of TVA.

An action in the Supreme court challenging the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority was assured today. Stockholders of the Alabama Power company completed a brief challenging the right of the TVA to purchase transmission lines and provide surplus power to municipalities. The brief set for the issue as:

"The basic question whether congress can provide for the construction of plants and buildings for war, departmental, or other legitimate national purpose, and thereupon, when it is found that they are overbuilt for national purposes or the purpose is spent or obsolete, or the facility is desired to be held for future use, proceed to authorize direct use of the property or facility by the government itself for the commercial manufacture and sale of any and all commodities which may be possible to produce on or by means of the property, in the general market, in competition with citizens."

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Production of silver throughout the world in July amounted to 16,592,000 fine ounces, compared with 15,090,000 in June and 16,972,000 in May, the bureau of metal statistics reported today.

United States production was stepped up 965,000 ounces in the month, compared with the preceding month, total output being 3,352,000 fine ounces, against 2,387,000 in June. Canadian output came to 1,156,000 ounces, against 1,148,000 in June. Mexican production, conjectural, in July amounted to 5,800,000 ounces, against, 5,432,000 in the preceding month.

Bar silver prices were steady in world markets today, while futures were lower and the London gold price again declined to a new low for 1935. Foreign bar silver for industrial consumption remained at 65⅜ cents an ounce in New York.

PIT COMMITTEE SUBMITS REPORT ON ROSENBAUMS

The special committee named by the Chicago Board of Trade to investigate the failure last April of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation submitted its report to the directors of the grain exchange yesterday. No action was taken as the federal court injunction restraining disciplinary action against the former officials of the company has not been formally dissolved. Federal Judge William H. Holly, who is on vacation, is expected to act on the exchange's motion to vacate the order on Sept. 16.

The exchange did not make public the findings of its special committee. As reported in THE TRIBUNE two weeks ago, however, the committee found officials of the company have used money of the firm's customers to speculate in the grain market and allowed their relatives to trade without posting required margins in violation of the exchange rules.

Directors yesterday elected Walter R. Vye, an employé of the Cargill Grain company, to membership on the board.

SUGAR BOOSTED; PRICE HIGHEST IN 71 MONTHS

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Several sugar refiners today hoisted the wholesale price of granulated sugar one-fifth of a cent today to 5.30 cents a pound, the highest level since September, 1929. The new price will become effective tomorrow. Meanwhile, trade circles reported a heavy demand today at the old level of 5.10 cents.

At the new 1935 peak of 5.30 cents a pound, wholesale sugar will be exactly $1 a hundredweight above the 4.30 cents a pound price which ruled at the beginning of the year.

The new price includes the present processing tax of slightly more than ½ cent a pound which has been in effect since June, 1934, when the Jones-Costigan sugar control act was passed by congress.

AAA WILL FACE ITS FINAL TEST NEXT OCTOBER

U. S. Seeks Supreme Court Review.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The agricultural adjustment act will face its final test of constitutionality in the Supreme court in October. The test was assured today when the department of justice filed a petition for a writ of certiorari, seeking a review of the adverse decision rendered last July by the federal Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston.

At the same time the Supreme court will test the AAA amendments recently signed by President Roosevelt which were designed to plug up the loopholes the Circuit court found in the original act. Attorneys for the government hold the amendments are pertinent in a review of the Boston decision.

Decision Blow to New Deal.

The Boston decision outlawing the AAA was considered scarcely less sweeping than the Supreme court decision which destroyed the NRA. By a two to one decision the Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a victory won by the New Deal in a District court.

The decision, handed down July 13, held the AAA to be an unconstitutional use of the taxing power. The court asserted that authority to regulate interstate commerce did not extend to products of agriculture and industry before they entered interstate commerce and that the act unconstitutionally delegated legislative powers to the executive branch of government.

The case was brought to court when the government filed a claim for processing and floor taxes levied under sections 9 and 16 of the AAA against receivers of the Hoosac Mills corporation. The taxes aggregated $81,694.

Amendments Put Across.

The Boston decision was a severe blow to the New Deal. AAA officials went into a huddle upon receipt of the bad news and began an intense campaign to put over its amendments, which were then entering upon rough seas in congress. Their efforts brought the amendments through the senate by the narrow margin of two votes.

Immediately after the decision Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced that he had expected an adverse decision. Such a statement has come from a New Deal official after every court reversal. He also declared

Banking Act Gives Reserve Control Over Money, Credit

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The most important feature of Title II. of the banking act is the legal recognition, for the first time, of the "monetary theory" of banking. Those who hold to that theory argue that the principal concern of the federal reserve system should be the supply of money in the nation, including bank deposits subject to check, rather than the liquidity of bank assets.

SENATOR CARTER GLASS.

Senator Carter Glass, by the sheer force of his own personality and knowledge of banking, succeeded in writing out of the original house bill most of the radical provisions proposed by Marriner S. Eccles, New Deal governor of the federal reserve board, eliminating the features most objectionable to banks, but the act as passed contains provisions giving the new "monetary theory" of banking an entering wedge.

Eccles Group Sought Broad Powers.

"It shall be the duty of the federal reserve board to exercise such powers as it possesses in such manner as to promote conditions conducive to business stability, and to mitigate by its influence unstabilizing fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices, and employment, so far as may be possible within the scope of monetary action and credit administration."

This was a large order. It was assumed that the peaks and valleys of booms and depressions could be leveled out by the federal reserve board by manipulating bank credit—more specifically by regulating the amount of bank deposits by pushing or withholding bank loans, by adjusting interest rates and reserve ratios.

Provided Control of Reserves.

In order to enable the federal reserve board to carry out such a program the original bill gave the board vastly increased powers. The board was authorized to specify what percentage of their deposits member banks must maintain as cash reserves with the federal reserve system. It was empowered to decree rediscount rates—that is, the interest rate charged by reserve banks on paper rediscounted for member banks.

Previous statutory restrictions governing the type of bank assets upon which the member banks might borrow at the reserve banks were eliminated and full discretionary powers were given to the reserve board. Also the reserve board was given complete control over the amounts of government bonds bought and sold by the twelve reserve banks.

Bankers Scoff at Theory.

Leading bankers scoffed at the idea that prosperity could be made or broken merely by manipulation of bank credit. They said that you could lead a customer to a bank but you couldn't make him borrow unless he saw a chance to employ funds profitably in his business no matter how plentiful or how cheap you made bank loans. Shrewd observers, furthermore, declared that the whole scheme was probably unconstitutional and was purely a means of giving the politicians complete power over the banks so that congress could drain bank assets to cover the mounting extravagances of government.

After Senator Glass had rewritten the bill many of the most radical provisions of Title II. had disappeared. The paragraph directing the federal reserve board to cure depressions and restore prosperity was deleted, and the additional powers granted to the board were limited.

Control Purchase of Bonds.

Still present in the bill as it was enacted, however, was a provision extending the control of the board over the "open market" operations of the twelve reserve banks. The act gives a committee of twelve members—the seven members of the politically appointed reserve board in Washington, plus five representatives of the individual reserve banks—the power to tell the twelve reserve banks when to buy additional government bonds in the open market, and how many to buy.

Although the paragraph ordering the reserve board to use its powers to "promote stability" and "mitigate unstabilizing fluctuations in the general level of production, trade, prices, and employment" has been eliminated, it has been replaced by a paragraph decreeing the time, character, and volume of all purchases and sales of paper eligible for open market operations are to be governed "with a view to accommodating commerce and business, and with regard to their bearing on the general credit situation of the country."

Monetary Theory Minimized.

Thus has the "monetary theory" emphasized in the original Eccles bill been reduced to a mere whisper in the act as passed after being revamped by Senator Glass, but still has a foothold.

In the past the chief aim of the federal reserve system had always been conceived to be the liquidity of bank assets. An exception to this rule occurred during the last decade when the federal reserve board conceived its duty to be to steer business as a whole in the right direction and when by lowering the re-

RFC WILL DEAL IN MORTGAGES, LEND FOR TAXES

New Move Intended to Bolster FHA.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—In a new move intended to encourage construction of new homes and assist the housing administration, the Reconstruction Finance corporation announced today it will buy and sell insured mortgages. Chairman Jesse H. Jones said a $10,000,000 revolving fund had been made available to the RFC mortgage company for this purpose.

Some officials attributed the new plan to inability of the federal housing administration to get national mortgage loan associations started by private capital.

Authorize Tax Loans.

The RFC mortgage company also was authorized today to get into another form of real estate financing. The corporation authorized the mortgage company to lend money to companies formed for the purpose of helping property owners pay taxes.

Several states have authorized formation of such companies to facilitate tax collections through the sale of tax warants. Jones said today that these warants are first mortgages on the property and for that reason had been found eligible for loans.

Two weeks ago Jones informed the administration the RFC would supply half the capital for mortgage loan associations if private interests would put up the remainder.

In a letter to Stewart McDonald, assistant housing administrator Jones explained that the 32 officers of the corporation throughout the country would purchase mortgages insured by the FHA at par and accrued interest.

Allow ½ Per Cent Discount.

A discount of one-half of 1 per cent will be charged, and purchases will be made only from banks and qualified lending institutions which make the original loans and which will agree to look after collections and other necessary servicing. The mortgages will be resold through qualified brokers and distributors who will be allowed a commission of one-half of 1 per cent.

Jones also said today that debt burdened school and reclamation districts have become eligible for loans. Advances to school and reclamation districts will be on much the same principle as loans to aid drainage and levee districts in refinancing, he said. Both will be expected to compromise their debts with bondholders and then the corporation will refinance them on a lower level.

PENNSY REPORTS SMALL GAINS IN OPERATING NET

Other Lines Show Declines —Trafic Heavier.

An exception to the trend of railroad earning report which have been revealing declines for July and the first seven months of 1935, appeared yesterday in a statement of the Pennsylvania railroad, which showed gains in both periods over last year.

Net operating income in July amounted to $4,904,938, against $4,617,898 in July, 1934, and $6,105,599 in June this year. For the first seven months of the year net operating income was $37,560,956, against $37,401,038 in the corresponding period last year.

N. Y. Central Has Decline.

The New York Central reported operating net of $1,798,405 for July, compared with $2,578,101 in the preceding month and $1,825,457 in July of last year. In the seven months' period net operating loss amounted of $4,160,013, compared with a deficit of $1,613,334 a year ago.

It was explained that a new income report method has been inaugurated, which segregates depreciation and retirement costs. Had depreciation and retirement been omitted as previously, the road would have shown a substantial net income for the seven months.

Milwaukee Reports Deficit.

The Milwaukee road reported net operating deficit for July of $1,082,949, compared with net operating income of $314,738 in July, 1934. For the seven months ended July 31, net operating income was $20,655, against $2,903,167 a year ago.

The Baltimore and Ohio reported July net operating income amounted to $1,267,784, against $2,166,003 a year ago. For the seven months operating net was $12,524,382, compared with $13,741,861 in 1934

DERTH OF LIVE STOCK CRAMPS PACKING FIRMS

Employment, Wages Drop but Prices Rise.

The acute condition in the cattle and hog markets is shown in the report on meat packing issued yesterday by the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. The review shows a sharp drop in packing house operations and a similar gain in prices as compared with a year ago.

"Owing to the sharp decline in live stock supply in 1935 as a consequence of the slaughter of drouth cattle in 1934 and of the reduction in potential breeding stock of pigs in 1933, production of packing house commodities was 34½ per cent less than a year ago and 26½ per cent below the 1925-'34 average for the month," the bank reports. Production did show a contraseasonal rise of 6½ per cent over June and sales tonnage increased slightly over the preceding month, but the latter was also 11 per cent below last July and 17 per cent under the ten year average.

Price Average Sags in July.

A slight decline took place in the general price level of packing house commodities during July despite an advance in pork products, but quotations were still about 40 per cent higher than a year ago. The high prices maintained the value of sales billed to domestic and foreign customers, which were only 1 per cent less than in June, 20½ per cent higher than last July and within 10½ per cent of the 1925-'34 seasonal average.

Imports of animal products into the United States equalled nearly half of the volume of these products exported. Total commercial inventories of packing house products decreased more than a customary amount on Aug. 1 from a month earlier to a level 431,827,000 pounds below the 1930-'34 average for that date.

Employment and Wages Lower.

Decreased activity among the packing plants due to the shortage of live stock is also reflected in the drop of 1½ per cent in employment, hours worked and wage payments from June, and approximately 25 per cent each below a year ago.

Shipments for export decreased further in July to an exceptionally low level, the report shows.

Creamery butter production in the Seventh federal reserve district declined 11 per cent from June to July, but was 3 per cent heavier than a year ago and 6 per cent higher than the 1925-'34 average for the month, the bank announced.

DECLINE IN HOGS HALTED; PRICES RISE 10-25 CENTS

One of the sharpest breaks in the hog market in many months was ended yesterday as the effect of abnormally light supplies started to make itself felt. Prices rose 10 to 25 cents with some of the recently neglected lights and underweights showing sharper upturns. Receipts for the day totaled 10,000 head, the second smallest for a Tuesday since last May.

Notwithstanding the recent slight increase in light hogs from cholera sections of the country current receipts are the lightest in history. This month's total is expected to be about 215,000, a new low since 1878. Packers scoured the yards for hogs at the advance in prices yesterday.

As much as $13.85 was paid for selected 191 to 230 pound new crop hogs, including the processing tax, which was 10 cents above the previous day's peak. The average for the day was $12.65, a rise of 15 cents.

Demand for cattle was limited to the supply of choice corn feds, which were strong to slightly higher. Some weakness was found in the plainest natives and unfinished stock. One lot of 10 head averaging 1,449 pounds at $12.85, equaling the highest sale here since June 19. Most beef steers sold from $8.75 to $12.

Lambs were steady to 25 cents lower, most buyers demanding concessions when the wholesale trade for dressed lamb ran into more opposition because of the recent sharp rise in retail prices.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The following figures on hog prices include $2.25 per cwt collected for the federal government as processing tax. There is no processing tax on cattle or sheep. The price quotations given below are for 100 lbs of live animal:

WOMEN URGED TO TAKE LEAD IN FHA ACTIVITIES

Goldblatt Bros. Lease Store in Gary.

Women were urged by Florence Jones Vining, Washington special assistant to the administrator of the Federal Housing administration, to take the lead in the nation-wide campaign to increase employment through home modernization and repair work, in a talk yesterday at Mandel's before 300 FHA chairwoman in sixteen Illinois counties.

"Since it has been determined that women do about 85 per cent of the home purchasing in the United States," Mrs. Vining said, "women are in a good position to help this campaign."

Aid to Slum Clearance.

Mrs. Vining explained that slum clearance does not come under the activities of the Federal Housing act, but said people living in slum areas could be elevated to better neighborhoods if more jobs for modernization were provided.

Mrs. Mamie Dee Root said that since Jan. 18, modernization work totaling $295,000 has been completed in the Beverly Hills area, while 54 homes are under construction. Mrs. Ruth Gibbons said that of 27 stores in Marengo, Ill., 16 are being modernized. Mrs. Robert Bourland of Rockford told the group that the women in her community originally pledged $100,000 for modernization but exceeded this goal by $70,000. Among the other towns represented were Aurora, Elgin, Sycamore, De Kalb, and Berwyn.

Goldblatt Leases Gary Property.

Goldblatt Bros., Inc., department store chain, yesterday announced it has leased property in the heart of the Gary business district for fifty years in which it will install its eighth store. The lessors are Louis and Etta Goodman.

The Gary property consists of two buildings. One is a three story structure at 635 Broadway avenue having a frontage of 150 feet. The other is a four story building at 636 Massachusetts avenue, having 120 feet frontage. An alley which separates the two buildings is to be bridged. No date has been set for the opening of the store. Pritzker & Pritzker represented the Goldblatt firm, and Henry Sackett acted for the lessors.

NEW BANK ACT GIVES RESERVE MONEY CONTROL

discount rate too far and failing to increase it soon enough the board contributed to the abortive boom which culminated in the stock market collapse of 1929.

Other Provisions of Act.

Other provisions of Title II. are:

The head of each reserve bank is to be called "president" instead of "governor." The office of chairman and federal reserve agent continues as at present. The president and first vice president are appointed by the bank's board of directors, with the approval of the reserve board, for five year terms.

The federal reserve board is renamed the board of governors of the federal reserve system, is to to have seven members serving 14 year terms appointed by the President, and the secretary of the treasury and controler of the currency are dropped as ex officio members.

The public is to be given insight into the whys and wherefores of the open market committee actions. Records are to be kept showing how members of the committee voted and why, and are to be published at the end of each year.

May Alter Reserve Requirements.

The reserve board is given the power to alter the reserve requirements—that is, the percentage of cash reserves the commercial banks are required to maintain with the federal reserve banks as security for their time and demand deposits, but the board may not require a percentage more than double the present amount—3 per cent against time deposits and 7 to 10 per cent against demand deposits, depending upon the locality.

National banks are permitted to make real estate loans secured by first liens on improved real estate, including improved farm land and improved business and residential properties. The amount of any such loan is not to exceed 50 per cent of the appraised value of the property and the term is not to be for more than five years, unless there is provision for amortization, in which case the loan may be made up to 60 per cent of valuation and for any term up to ten years. Total real estate loans must not exceed the combined capital and surplus of the bank or 60 per cent of its time and savings deposits, whichever is the greater.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable oil was steady but after advancing 1 to 7 points on the steadiness of cotton and the 10c government loan the market eased under increased liquidation on the weakness in stocks and the reaction in grains and heaviness of lard. Final prices were 9 to 11 points net lower. Sales were sixty-four contracts. Bleachable spot nominal; September closed 10.15c per lb; October, 10.12c; December, 9.93c; January, 9.90c; March, 9.99c.

NOVEMBER BUTTER HIGHER AS SUPPLIES DROP LOWER

Stocks of surplus butter at the four leading cities have been reduced around 500,000 pounds during the last two days as compared with the corresponding period in 1934, while the report of into storage movement at the thirty-five cities showed 127,000 pounds less than a year ago. The figures were construed as somewhat bullish and led to buying of November butter on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The close was ⅛ cent higher at 25⅞ cents per pound. Trading in December butter started at 26 cents per pound, or 1⅜ cents under the figure of a year ago.

October eggs were firmer early but reacted and closed unchanged at 25½ cents per dozen. The out of storage movement at the four leading cities was 500 cases in excess of last year. Sales of butter were 89 cars, and eggs, 58 cars. Prices follow:
